(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN. Aug. 6 .- (Special.) -- Corporations organized in other states and doing business in Nebraska must incorporate and organize in accordance with the laws of Nebraska. Such is the verbal opinion rendered today by Deputy Attorney General Norris Brown, The effect of his pronunciamento, if upheld by the courts and enforced by the officers of the law, will require all foreign corporations to reorganize under the Nebraska laws and pay into the treasury fees sufficient to liquidate prac-

The matter was brought before the attorney general when J. JC Roberts, acting for the secretary of state, refused to reglater the articles of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company, a corporation organized under the laws of Maine, Still it is said that the largest business intercets of the company will be in Omaha.

The articles of incorporation were returned to Attorney W. W. Moraman and Attorney E. M. Moraman by Mr. Roberts a letter explaining why the articles were not recorded.

In the missive it is stated that the corporation was not organized under the laws the directors of the conpern had passed a resolution endorsing the laws of Nebraska in options was desperate enough to murder. fact the company and its directors had refused to do so. So the articles could not become a part of the public records of the

It was expected that the attorneys for the company would start mandamus proceedings and thus bring the matters before the courts.

The contest with the Omaha company the view of the secretary of state each on that part of its capital stock within the jurisdiction of the state courts. This would make a tremendous amount of revenue and would practically wipe out the floating indebtedness of the state.

This means a triffe more than $2,000,000 for the benefit of the people of Nebraska. Some of the legal points involved would vex the brains of Philadelphia lawyers. The controversy involves the constitution and the federal statutes concerning the orders. On this point there are more than 700 decisions.

A letter was forwarded to the attorneys interested setting out briefly the reason for the refusal of the state to record the articles. In this is cited the lack of compliance with the laws of Nebraska and from the start the state will be on the defensive

The large corporations doing business in the state will be subjected to heavy filing fees in case the state wins. The Standard Oil company would have to pay $30,000, while the Pullman and other large corporations would have feen almost as large.

Bryan is Angered. . J. Bryan is muci Denver manifesto of Senator Allen, Governor Poynter and a few other populists. In the Commoner tomorrow he devotes several columns to declaring that it was an open surrender to the mid-road populists who had sold out the populist party in 1900 by either voting in secret with the repub-Beans or fighting the fusionists."

Mr. Bryan severely criticises the manifesto, saying that its most noteworthy part is its failure to deal with the live issues of the day. He says:

Some populists seem to think that the success of their party depends upon the breaking up of the democratic party; some of them have not forgiven the democratic party for having indorsed some reforms first advocated by populists. Instead of rejoicing that a great party organization has espoused the income tax, the election of senators by direct vote, and direct legislation, some of the populists were jealous enough to complain that we had stolen their platform. If these reforms were urged by the populists merely as a means of winning a party victory there might be some excuse for a desire to monopolize the advocacy of them, but if advocated because they were good for the people, then the friends of these reforms ought to have welcomed indorsements from every source.

The situation can be met by an appeal to the members of the populist party. Let them exercise their right to be heard before the populist party is converted into an assistant to the republicans.
