BUFFALO, Aug. 8.—H. J. Klein, presiding judge of the Grand Circuit meeting just closed here, has given out a strong statement about the scandal in the 2:05 pace yesterday. In that race F. O. Ceidebord, owner and driver of Little Squaw, was taken out of the suiky and Ben Kenney drove and won the heat and the race. Nick Hubinger, the New Haven plunger, suspected he was on the outside of a job when Charley Hayt beat Little Squaw in slow time. He protested.

Mr. Klein says if he had had authority he would have expelled Ceidebord, owner and driver of Little Squaw; W. L. Snow, trainer, and Frank Williams of Corning, the owner of Charley Hayt. The other two judges overruled him. Dr. L. R. Preston, another of the authorities, said the case would be protested to the governing board of the National Trotting association next winter. Hubinger had bet much money on Little Squaw and it is said had promised Ceideborg $400 if the mare won. He suspected fraud.

Some of the owners say they will place a valuation on their flocks and turn them over to the government and then bring suit for damages.
