CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Immediate Business Very Satisfactory for the Time of Year.

PRICES FIRM ON NEARLY ALL LINES

Fall Trade Opening in Good Shape and Jobbers and Manufacturers All Confident They Will Do a Big Business.

Considering the time of year, Omaha jobbers and manufacturers did a very satisfactory business last week. This is, of course, rather between-season period in most lines, as summer trade is practically a thing of the past so far as wholesalers are concerned, while fall business is scarcely in full swing yet. In a short time, however, it is expected that fail buyers will be arriving in large numbers and in fact a great many are expected this week. The rate of a fare and a fifth is now in force and that never fails to bring the merchants to market. Jobbers are still confident of a brisk fail trade in spite of the backward condition of the corn crop, and retailers who have been in the city this week also seem to be confident of doing a good business in fall and winter lines. Taking the situation as a whole, those best posted on general conditions think there is no cause for alarm regarding future business, but, on the contrary, look for continued prosperity and good, healthy markets.

There have been very few market fluctuations of importance during the week under review. Groceries have moved back and forth to some extent, but other lines are selling in just about the same notches they were a week ago. Collections are reported very satisfactory for this time of year. Oatmenl Selling Higher.

Oatmeal Selling Higher.

There was an advance in the price of catmeal last week amounting to 25 cents per barrel and loc per five-pound cases. This advance was caused by the uncertainty of the cut crop, and from present indications it is thought that the opening prices on new goods, which will be quoted by the milis September 1, will be no lower than present prices for spot stock.

Syrups are in a very strong position and, while no actual advances have taken place, the refineries are predicting higher prices in the near future. This is no doubt owing to the recent cool weather, which is unfavorable for the corn crop. With better weather the situation, of course, may improve.

the same as it was a week ago, nothing being offered by the canners from any source. It is claimed that the acreage of sweet corn has been cut down this year 25 per cent in Iowa and about 40 per cent or cent in lows and about 40 per cent i, New York. Peas are in active demand and ruling rices are 71/2010 cents per dozen above the spening prices.

The dried fruit market is also reported The dried fruit market is also reported active, particularly on new apricots and peaches, both of which advanced %@\colon_colo

There is nothing new to report regarding the coffee and tea situation, as prices are practically the same as they have been for some time past.

Regarding the condition of trade local whosale grocers report the demand for all seasonable lines as being very heavy, with prospects favorable for a continued heavy consumption for some time to come. House Trade More Active.

There were more dry goods buyers on the market last week than have been in Omaha since the rush of spring trade came to a close. Still more are expected this week, however, as a large number have expressed their intention of taking advantage of the rates made by the railroads of a fire and a fifth. Wholesalers say they are much encouraged over the way fall business is opening and everything at present points to a very successful season. Retailers are confident that they will do Retaliers are confident that they will do fully their usual amount of business, even though the corn crop should be a little short and as a result their orders are liberal. Jobbers are filling their advance orders as rapidly as possible and before long the bulk of them will have been shipped.

long the bulk of them will have been shipped.

There is nothing particularly new to be said of the cotton market. Desirable goods are getting more scare every day owing to the large number of mills that have been shut down for several weeks with the number increasing every day. There is certainly no prospect of any relief until the new erop of cotton is on the market and even then it will take many months for manufacturers to catch up with their cracks. The outlook, then, for a continued firm market for cotton goods is considered very favorable.

Hardware Quiet and Unchanged.

Hardware Quiet and Unchanged.

Hardware Quiet and Unchanged.

The demand for hardware at this time of year is usually not very heavy and this year is no exception to the general rule. There is very little demand for such lines as lawn mowers and refrigerators, while it is most too early to sell fall goods such as stove pipes, stove boards and coal scuttles. It will not be very long, however, before the demand for fall goods will show a big improvement. In the meantime staple lines are selling fully as well as could be expected. The demand for nails, builders' hardware and that class of goods has been considerably damaged by the labor troubles which have existed as generally throughout the country and as a result the demand for those lines has been somewhat of a disappointment throughout the season. Barb wire is moving as well as could be expected for the middle of August, while the demand for plain wire is unusually heavy. The increased demand for telephones is responsible in a large measure for the present scarcity of the plain wire. Prices on screws have been readjusted to some extent of late, but the changes made have not been at all radical. The hardware market as a whole is in a very healthy condition, with prices firm on practically all lines.

In the line of farm implements trade at present is a little quiet. The buggy trade is about over with, but the demand was of very satisfactory proportions. The time is at hand when farm wagons should begin to sell freely, but jobbers are not figuring on any very large demand this season. Plows for fall use are selling well and indications are favorable for a continued liberal demand.

Better Demand for Leather Goods.

Better Demand for Leather Goods. The demand for Leather Goods.

The demand for fall footwear showed a more last improvement last week, as a great many more buyers were in the city than have arrived for some time past. They all had a favorable word to say regarding the outcome of their summer's business and as a general thing, they reported their stocks well cleaned up. The orders that have been placed so far for fall are fully as large as usual and as a result jobbers expect to enjoy a nice business. At the present time they are shipping out their advance orders for both leather and rubber goods, but owing to the large number of orders that were placed it will take some time to ship them all in spite of the fact that all the houses are working their men overtime.

Fruits and Produce.

There was a very liberal demand all last week for fruits, in spite of the fact that California lines are selling unusually high for this time of year. The reason for the high prices is found in the fact that the fruit crop all through the east was a great disappointment and as a result California is called upon to supply the cast, as well as the west. It does not look as though prices could be much lower before shipments begin to arrive from Colorado and Idaho which will relieve the demands now being made upon California.

A few blackberries arrived on the market most every day last week, but it is thought the supply is now practically exhausted.

There is nothing particularly new in the vegetable line, although it becomes more apparent each week that potatoes are going to be scarce and that the farmer with a good crop will be strictly in luck. The ruling price now is 70 to 80 cents per bushel.

The sugar market is in a very strong position, but no changes in ruling prices have gone into effect since last report. The demand is very heavy and as a result higher prices are being freely predicted. The recent advances in the price of California canned goods have made an active market on those lines and as shipments of green goods are very heavy, an advance in peaches and pears would cause no surprise.

There were no important features in the trading in oats, and prices held barely steady. There was further selling by some of the local buils, but the demand was about equal to the offerings. The strength in wheat was the main supporting feature. The close was easier, with September down $60 at 34% c. after ranging between $4% c and $5% c. Local receipts were $3% cars.

Provisions were again weak, with liquidation the feature. In both lard and ribs the selling of September and the buying of October continued. CATTLE—There were practically no fresh arrivals of cattle this morning and no business was transacted. For the week no business was transacted. For the week receipts show an increase over last week amounting to nearly 2,000 head, but as compared with the same week of last year, there is a decrease of nearly the same amount. For the year to date, however, there is an increase of over 140,000 head. The market for corn fed steers has been in good shape this week and in fact prices for good stuff are back to the high point of the year, or about where they were two weeks ago, The advance for the week amounts to 16425c on all desirable grades. The kinds that come in competition with the western grassers may not be quite that much higher, but still even those have im-Silve E. Par, 50%c; Mexican dollars, 1836.

The cow market has been very uneven all the week and for that reason there is much difference of opinion regarding the position of prices as compared with those paid a week ago. It will be remembered, a however, that there was a big slump in prices the first of the week, so that although the feeling has been a little better since Wednesday, the market is still considerably lower on the average. Owing to the unevenness in the prices paid some sales look much better than others, but taking the market as a whole prices are not far from a quarter lower than they were a week ago. All kinds have suffered in this decline. Canners are selling largely from $1.50 to $2.55, fair to good cows from $2.5 to $2.75 and the better grades of grassers sell mostly from $2.75 to $3.25, with an occasional choice bunch bringing more than that Corn feds sell up to $4.25.

Bulls, veal calves and stags have not changed much all the week. The bulk of the bulls sell from $2.00 to $2.00 and calves from $4.00 to $5.00.

There have been more strck cattle on sale this week than any time in many months and the demand was also a little better. About the middle of the week the market was safely 10@15c higher, but as is apt to be the case, the market eased off a little toward the close, so that prices are about where they were a week ago. Common stuff has been rather hard to dispose of all the week. The bulk of the fair to good cattle sell from $3.00 to $3.50, with the better grades aelling largely from $2.50 to $3.75 and as high as $4.00 was paid this week.

The market on western grass steers suf-better grades selling largely from $3.50 to $3.75 and as high as $4.00 was paid this week.

The market on western grass steers suffered a decline the first of the week in the face of heavy receipts, but after Monday and Tuesday the feeling was better and toward the close of the week there were practically none on sale with which to make a test of the market. The general opinion was, however, that had anything been offered it would have sold safely 1000 l5c higher. Range cows and stockers and feeders fluctuated back and forth about the same as noted above for natives.

HOGS—There was a moderate run of hogs on sale this morning and the general market could be quoted strong to a nickel higher. The lightweights sold to the best advantage and at the opening of the market were mostly a nickel higher. The heavies, however, did not move quite so freely, and sold strong to a nickel higher. The heavies, however, did not move quite so freely, and sold strong to a nickel higher. The heavies, though some heavy, coarse hogs had to sell down to $5.15. The medium weights sold mostly from $5.20 to $5.22% though some heavy, coarse hogs had to sell down to $5.15. The medium weights sold mostly from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold from $5.25 to $5.30 and the choice lightweights sold sell was not as active, and if anything a little weaker, especially on the heavy hogs.

if anything a little weaker, especially on the heavy hogs.

For the week receipts show an increase over last week amounting to about 5,000 head. As compared with the same week of last year however, there is a decrease of about 5,000 head. Prices have moved up and down quite rapidly during the week, but the tendency has been upward, and a net gain over the close of last week of about 10@15c is noted. Representative sales:

sales:

The feeder market has shown very little change all the week. The demand has been active for all good stuff and prices have held fully, steady. Heavy, coarse wethers or common stuff of any kind has been a little neglected and may be a shade easier, but the change is scarcely enough to be worthy of mention.
