Decision of State Engineer Not Satisfactory to Scotts Bluff People.

DISTRICT COURT PARTIALLY REVERSES IT

This Does Not Suit and Now the Supreme Court Will Gry Its Hand at Settling the Differences.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Aug. 20,-(Special.)-The supreme court is to have a wrestle with the irrigation case from Scotts Bluff county, the district court having reversed the decision of the State Board of Irrigation in one instance and sustaining it in another. The case filed today is entitled William Frank, appellant, against The Farmers' Canal Company, Roberts Walker and Farmers' Irrigation District of Scotts Bluff County and The Farmers' Irrigation District of Scotts Bluff County against The and William Frank.

Under the law of 1887 the Farmers' Canal company was granted the right to dig a ditch eighty-one miles long, claiming 1,143 about 60,000 acres of land. The company built a headgate and twenty-one miles of cation for water right along the same ground given the canal company. His contention before the board and before the abandoned its works.

The Farmers' Irrigation district was then organized and voted $400,000 worth of bonds to dig a ditch along the same right of way. This district claimed like Frank that the canal company had abandoned its property. The company did no work, however.

The case was tried before the State Board of Irrigation and Secretary Dobson decided in favor of the Farmers' Canal not provide how long the property could remain idle before it was declared abandoned. The case was then taken to the district court of Scotts Bluff county and the decision there was to shut out the Irrigation district and grant the right to William Frank to dig the ditch except in the twenty-one miles covered by the Farmera' Canal company.

Gas Supplants Electricity.

"Let there be light, yea, gas light," says the Lincoln Gas and Electric Light company. "Let it be as our worthy chieftain will be. And this is the beginning of the punishment to be inflicted upon the citizens of Lincoln for waging an unsuccessful fight to throw off the roke adjusted by the Electric Light company. The mandate was issued by the city council some time ago and workmen are busy now tearing across bills are punctuating their remarks with sulphurie expressions.

The council let the contract for the gas lights to the Cleveland Vapor Light com- and builder there. pany, which company in turn made a conwith the Lincoln Gas and Electric Light company to furnish the gas. The lights are to be placed at street intersections along the gas main and they are paid for at the rate of $41 each a year. There are to be 3% or more of them to run from dark until dawn. The electric lights are to come down. The company agrees to use the poles of the city, or as sell to the city the lamps at $10 each.

been costing the city $13,250.40. Why the city council made the change apparently no one knows. The gas lights will cost more and it is generally believed that they will not give the satisfaction that the electrict lights did. There will be more of them than there were of the electric lights, and that's all. Only one good explanation has been man who is not a member of the city council. He said for some time the Lincoln company had been trying to find some way to get more money out of the city for electric lights, but because it had been securing about $14,000 for so long it seemed impossible to raise the amount. Therefore, he concluded, this company got the Clevcand company to make the bid for gas lights, the Lincoln company to furnish the gas. This was all done. On every hand the people are condemning the action of the council and express themselves as being very wrathy. Lincoln has had a hard time with its lights and lighting corporations. On two occasions the town has voted bonds to erect a lighting plant, and in each instance the ordinance under which the bonds were issued was declared void. The last vote was taken in the spring and everything possible was done to prevent mistake being made. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the bond issue But when these were offered for sale the flaw was found and the bonds were not

"Mr. Hahn, in making the statements redited to him, probably had in mind the purchase of the postoffice fixtures. A little explanation of the transaction will show clearly that the charges are absolutely without foundation. Away back in the '80s when G. J. Evans was appointed postmaster, he purchased, with his own funds, the fixtures which had been used by his predecessor, C. H. Paul. He paid Mr. Paul for the fixtures about $2,000, and at the expiration of his term he sold them to Mr. J. B. Heartwell, who was appointed as his cessor under the Harrison administra tion, receiving for them about $1,500. Mr. Rainard Wahlquist, appointed by Cleveland, succeeded Heartwell and bought the fixtures from him for upwards of $1,000. When Wahlquist finished his term as post master he sold the fixtures to the Grand Army of the Republic, and that organiza tion rented to the government while Hahr was postmaster a room equipped with those fixtures, and at a rate two or three times ing drawn into the machinery of a feed higher than had been paid before. Water Trips from Chicago

Some of the most attractive summer resorts in the country are along the shores of Lake Michigan. There is Frankfort, with its new and beautiful hotel; Charlevoix, Petoskey, Bay View, Harbor Point and Mackinac. At these places the climate is all that can be desired. At most of them there are golf links, tennis courts, boating, bathing and fishing. The ideal way to reach them is by water from Chicago. Fast and spendidly furnished steamers leave that city almost every day in the week. The trip across Lake Michigan is delightful.

If you are looking for a thoroughly good place to spend the summer and not yet decided where to go, take our advice and try Northern Michigan. Full information at this office.

This is true, for the reason that men lived to a great age during the centuries of a vegetable dietary. The causes of the rapid falling off of the allotted time of man's existence is no doubt traceable to meat eating. From the Creation to the Deluge animals were used for sacrifice, but not for food. Man is made for a long life and certainly can attain it if he uses the wisdom given him by his Creator.
