

FATHER AND CHILD REUNITED

Gets Out of Tabitha Home by the Aid of State Board of Charities.

RAILROAD MAGNATES VISIT THE CITY

Program of the State Fair Days Indicates the Week Will Be an Interesting One—Prospects for Fine Exhibit.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—After a separation of eleven years Henry Brownlee of Canon City, Colo., and his daughter, Elsie Brownlee, aged 17 years, have been reunited here after the intervention of Secretary Davis of the State Board of Charities and Correction. The girl was taken from the Tabitha home of this city, where she had been for two years, two months of which time against her will, by Secretary Davis, who was two months ago completing his task without appealing to the courts. The girl left her Colorado home Monday night.

Elsie Brownlee was placed in the home, which is a charitable institution, by her mother, who had separated from her husband some years previous. Two months ago the attention of Governor Mickey was called to the girl by a letter sent him from her father, asking that she be returned to him. The letter was turned over to Mr. Davis for investigation. Later Mr. Brownlee wrote the secretary, stating that he had his wife's consent for the removal of the girl from the home and enclosed with the letter was one from the mayor of Canon City, stating that Brownlee was in every way capable and able of taking care of the girl and that he bore an excellent reputation. It was evident from the father's letters that he believed the Tabitha home was a house of correction and that it required an order from the governor to secure the release of any one from it.

Demand was made upon Superintendent Heiner for possession of the girl and those making the demand were given to understand in diplomatic language that it was none of their business whether the girl was released or not. Two months later Mr. Davis secured the girl's release.

At first the girl would not talk with those who were working for her restoration to her father, but as her confidence in them grew her story gradually came out. Her father, who was formerly living at Beatrice and later removed to Canon City, where they separated. The girl remained with her mother until two years ago, when she was placed in the Tabitha home, the mother giving authority to the superintendent to keep her until she became of age.

In the home the girl was employed as a bread maker and it was due to her proficiency in that art, she told, that Superintendent Heiner did not want to give her up.

RAILROAD MAGNATES IN CITY

The presence in Lincoln of George B. Harris, president of the Burlington system, M. M. Kirkman, vice president of the Northwestern, and Charles G. Dawes, controller of the currency, as guests of the Country club today, gave rise to many rumors and has created much speculation. Mr. Dawes and Mr. Harris were formerly of Lincoln, but Mr. Kirkman is here for the first time. Mr. Dawes is traveling as the guest of Mr. Harris and the two came in on a special train. At the Lincoln hotel the party was met by S. H. Burnham and Frank W. Brown of the Country club.

The men denied that their visit here at the same time was significant. Mr. Harris said: "I just came in for a few days' visit at my mother's home. She is now at Bismarck's Bay and writes me that she is well. I don't know anything in railroad affairs that would interest anyone and my visit here has nothing to do with railroad matters."

Mr. Kirkman has been traveling in the northwest with his family and he denied that he was here on railroad business. "I am in Lincoln simply for a pleasure trip," he said, "for the first time in twelve years. I did not know that Mr. Harris was here and therefore our visit here at the same time can have no significance."

Inasmuch as a story was published here some time ago that the railroads had an eye on the Lincoln hotel to make that a union station, it was the general belief that these men were here to look over the ground and do a little investigating.

Program for the Fair

Nebraska state fair dates for 1903, September 4 to 11, are close at hand. Secretaries of the fair are...

COULD COOK

But couldn't eat.

A man who has seen many years' sailing as cook on the "Inland Sea," as the Great Lakes are called, has learned a thing or two about food as the following story shows: "I am a cook on the Great Lakes and have for five years suffered more than pen or tongue could tell from stomach troubles and have taken medicines enough to float the boat I sail in, and yet without any relief from pain and distress. There were long stretches of time when I could not even keep milk or wine or the lightest kind of food on my stomach and I had fallen away from 145 to 105 pounds in less than two years. I saw so much in this newspapers about your food, Grape-Nuts, that one day I decided to try it, although without the least hope of success. "So I bought a package in Cleveland and made the trial and my stomach was so cranky I was afraid to try more than one teaspoonful with a little milk. To my surprise I kept it on my stomach with any bad feelings and at the end of an hour I knew it had digested and gone to the right spot, so I tried two teaspoonfuls more with the same result. And now for the past seven months I have lived almost entirely on Grape-Nuts where before I simply lived on medicines which cost me principally of opiate that relieved me for a time, but shattered my nerves and weakened my stomach. "Soon after I began Grape-Nuts I gave up all medicines, for I saw that Grape-Nuts was making me. Now my nerves are back in their proper shape and my stomach is so strong I can eat almost any kind of food without any suffering whatever."

"It may interest you to know that your food is very fine in cases of seasickness, for in this line it has made me a specialist of very young water I have given Grape-Nuts to people on my boat who were sick, when the sight of even coffee would be unbearable, but a few teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts prepared with only water was taken and more asked for and given with perfect results. "You never saw two healthier or happier youngsters than my two grandchildren, who eat nothing else for breakfast or supper but Grape-Nuts. There are two other men on my boat besides myself, who eat nothing else but Grape-Nuts for breakfast. Had it not been for this perfect food I would now be dependent on my relatives for support. The fellows on the boat make fun of me when they see me coming along with my little yellow package, but I guess under the circumstances I am afforded to each with them."

lary Furnas has opened his Lincoln office at the Lindell hotel, where it will remain until the morning of the 4th, after which it will be on the fair grounds. Early in the week the members of the board will be gathered in Lincoln at the superintendent's department will be early on the ground and the preliminary work will begin practically with the present week. Superintendent of Concessions Simpkins, who also has charge of Merchants' Hall, has his office always opened on the fair grounds. The Master of Transportation O. M. Druse will have his office on the grounds opened within the next two or three days, and the board of managers will have a representative at the secretary's office from this date after the part of the fair, Friday and Saturday of this week will be devoted to assembling the great volume of exhibits in all departments, and the gates will be open for visitors on Monday morning the 7th, when for five days the fair will be in session. The superintendent's department will be on the fair grounds, Public office and business houses in Lincoln will close the greater part of the day, giving everyone an opportunity to visit the fair. The labor organization will attend the fair on Friday and Saturday of the week. Tuesday will be Crocus day. On that day, in addition to the other good speed attractions, this notable horse will trot against his record, which until a few days ago was the world's record for the trot. The fact that this horse's record has been lowered will be an incentive to his owner to make a particular effort to beat his record, and a remarkably fast trot can be expected. Wednesday will be Fraternity day. The labor organization will attend the fair on Thursday and Friday of the week. Competitive drills between different organizations will be a feature of the day's entertainment, and there will be bands in abundance, and parades and demonstrations of the most attractive order. Thursday will be a grand day at the fair, with some special attractions in races, and on Friday the grand stock parade will occur.

There is no question but the fair of 1903 will be a record breaker in volume of exhibits, in attendance, and in attractive features to interest the people. Over double the amount of money is given for racing this year over that appropriated a year ago; and there will be the largest lot of good horses in the speed lanes ever gathered before in the state. The races every day will be good, starting Monday with four strong races and ending Friday with an equal number. Stock entries are beyond all precedent already, and notwithstanding the fact that the new findings have been added to the already commodious arrangements for stock men, the overflow is on; and two large tents have already been engaged to accommodate late comers. The agricultural exhibit will be the largest in years, and when the fair opens in Lincoln, the Horticultural hall will never have been one of the most attractive buildings on the grounds. In every department entries are already from 30 to 50 per cent greater than heretofore, and there will be but little space taken. The one fare for the round trip from all points in Nebraska will commence on the 5th, the selling dates extending to the 11th inclusive, with tickets good to return on the 11th. The different departments have arranged special schedules for excursion trains, commencing Tuesday morning of last week; and the fair management is making every effort to impress upon the railroads the importance of meeting the extra demands that will be made on them for transportation.

Plans for Power Plant

A dispatch received here today states that the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company is getting out plans, estimates and specifications on contracts for the complete electrical equipment of the new electric power plant at Niobrara, Neb., a franchise for the construction of which has been granted. The plans include a wing dam in the Niobrara river near its mouth to carry a large part of the current through a channel around Niobrara island. The specifications include the construction of a power plant at Niobrara, Neb., which will generate electricity and transmit current to consumers within available territory, both for power and lighting. The specifications also include the plans the maximum amount of energy with the minimum waste of water and least possible leakage of electricity in transmission by using the latest improved pattern of machinery. Figures of the estimate are not given out and will not be until contracts are approved and executed. It is stated, however, to be $200,000. The enterprise to which this dispatch seems to relate is known in the office of the state engineer as the Niobrara River Power company, which filed an application for water rights some two months ago. It is filed in the name of Clarence E. Plummer of Minneapolis, and it was claimed at the time that it was filed that it had ample capital behind it and meant business. The plan contemplates the use of a system of patent current motors which are to be placed in the stream to be carried through an old channel of the Niobrara near its mouth. Each of these motors is expected to afford a sufficient amount of power, and many of them can be utilized as the amount of power demanded will require. This is but one of the power producing enterprises claiming rights at that point, which may conflict. One of them, the Niobrara River Power company, has been granted water rights prior to the application of this one, and there is still another application pending.

Jogging the Departments

Lincoln people will shortly be advised as to why they work on the new federal building has not begun. To find out Congressman Burket left this afternoon for Washington. Thus far the plans for the building have not even been completed, though the actual construction is under way. Burket's return to Washington has failed to find the cause of the delay. While in Washington the first district congressman will try to learn the reason for the delay of the Postoffice department in establishing the new rural mail delivery routes which have been located. About six weeks ago the inspector of the department finished a tour of the district and located several additional routes to have practically griddoned the district. Recently the fourth assistant postmaster general, who has charge of the rural mail service, ruled that there must be 100 houses on a route before a carrier would be installed. This cut out many of the Nebraska routes, leaving the prospect for extensions of this service under a cloud. In order to comply with the terms of the order it would be necessary to rearrange the routes laid out some time ago with the result that another long delay would ensue. Mr. Burket will make an effort to have the carrier started on the routes at once. It is generally believed among congressmen that the fourth assistant postmaster general takes his stand on the matter to protect the fourth class postoffices which have been greatly affected by the extension of the rural mail service. More than twenty fourth class postoffices have been discontinued in consequence of the extension of the rural mail service.

Ryan is in Escarot

That Robert Ryan meant it when he applied for an injunction during the late legislature to prevent the members of that august assembly from drawing pay for more than forty days at a day, is now more conclusively shown. Ryan was in the lower court and has today filed in the supreme court his answer to the brief of Auditor Weston. Mr. Ryan recites the work of the legislature that first decided to amend the constitution, voted upon to amend the state constitution and then ordered a recount which resulted in the adoption of the amendment. The amendment voted upon November 2, 1898, was to increase the pay of the legislators from $1 to $2 a day and their term of office from forty to sixty days. The brief recites that the highest number of votes cast at that election was 138,511. The required majority for the passage of the amendment was 69,256. There was cast for it as shown by the abstract of votes filed in the office of the secretary of state, 67,512. Therefore the amendment failed of passage by 1,744 votes. These abstracts were canvassed by the legislature of 1897 and having declared the amendment lost the canvassing board adjourned sine die. On the fortieth day of the session the brief said there was passed a bill ordering a recount of the votes cast. By the provisions of this act the county clerks of the various counties were ordered to send to the secretary of state all the ballots and poll books returned by such judges and clerks at elections. Inside of six days after the bill became a law a ballot composed of the secretary and auditor of the state and two senators and three representatives, canvassed the vote and declared the amendment carried. This work is designated in the brief as "the greatest work ever accomplished in six days—the creation of the universe alone excepted."

Object to Paying Scott Claim

In a brief filed today in the supreme court the grand lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen states to the court why it should not pay the insurance on the life of Barrett Scott, the defaulting Holt county treasurer, who was killed by citizens of that county. The statement of facts shows that Scott was a member of the lodge in which he held a hereditary certificate payable to his wife for $2,000. At the time Scott joined, it was compulsory on the part of the lodge officers to notify each policy holder when an assessment was due. January 1, 1904, this law was changed that each member pay $1 a month unless notified not to do so by the legal paper of the order or some other way designated by the grand lodge. In June, 1903, Scott deposited with the grand lodge the sum of $100 to be applied on his assessments as they came due. In August of the same year Scott is reported to have absconded from the county in which he lived and until October 16, 1903, his whereabouts was unknown. It was because of the criminal proceedings instituted against him, and that it might not be necessary for the lodge to expel him. Scott resided at O'Neill until December 18, 1904, when he was waylaid and killed without having tried to be reinstated in the lodge.

Supreme Court Calendar

The official trial list for the first session of the supreme court in the fall term, September 15, will be issued on September 15, and will include all of the cases which have not already gone to trial, and all of the cases continued from former terms, in regular numerical order, up to and including general No. 1366, which was the last case upon the docket to be tried (January term, 1904). As nearly as possible it is possible now to estimate, cases will be called during the fall term, as follows: For session of October 6, cases numbered 1369 to 1376 will be called for trial. For session of October 13, cases numbered 1377 to 1384 will be called for trial. For session of October 20, cases numbered 1385 to 1392 will be called for trial.
