Fiasco of the Eagles.

The fact that the motor company failed to run its cars into the Driving park was responsible to a great extent for the small attendance at the second annual picnic of the Council Bluffs Eagles yesterday afternoon. The crowd, however, was a jolly and orderly one and thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon's amusements, which consisted of two ball games, several horse races, running, jumping and bicycle events. Roy Mitchell, the winner of the one-mile bicycle race, met with a serious accident just as he was coming in under the tape. O'Neill, who was driving a horse of McRoberts to a sulky, drove onto the track and right in the way of Mitchell who struck the horse full in the breast. Mitchell was thrown from his wheel with such violence as to render him unconscious. He was later taken to his home suffering from a strained neck and back. C. Adrian won the first half-mile trotting race with C. Huber second. The pacing race was captured by Mike Weatherbee with J. Wood second. The second half-mile trotting race was won by J. J. Crow with J. McRoberts second. The quarter-mile and mile bicycle races were both captured by Roy Mitchell, the high school champion. C. E. Owens carried off the first prize in the fat men's race with R. E. Rood second. In the three-legged race Myers and Brown carried off first honors with Hughes and Williams second. Pearl Francis won the woman's foot race with Madeline Stump second and Helena Hansen third. The shot put was won by R. E. Rood with Henry Myers second. The

OPENING OF SCHOOL FOR DEAF

Prospects for Successful Year Are Bright in Spite of Last Year's Fire.

Superintendent Henry W. Robert is sending out notices announcing the opening of the Iowa School for the Deaf for the new school year on October 1. It is expected, however, that all pupils will be present on the day previous, as on that day convalesces from the school will meet all trains.

Despite the disastrous fire of 1902 the school this year will open with just as bright prospects as in former years. The new buildings have all been completed and are ready for occupancy and under the new arrangement it is believed the work of the institution can be carried on to better advantage.

In connection with the announcement of the opening of the school Superintendent Robert has issued a circular letter explaining the work of the institution as follows: "Our generous state maintains and supports a school for the education, moral, mental, physical and practical development of the deaf children of Iowa, including those who are too deaf to obtain an education in the public schools. It is not an asylum or place of refuge, but simply what its name implies, a school, a school for the deaf, with its management, corps of teachers, school buildings, apparatus and means of study similar to other schools in the country. It has its terms and regulations and is maintained without expense to the parent, excepting clothing and transportation must be provided for the pupil.

Public Library Report.

The twenty-first annual report of the board of trustees of the public library has been issued and is now ready for distribution. The report contains a picture and biography of the late John W. Baird, who was a life member of the public school library, from which the present free public library was formed. He was a brother of W. R. Baird, a present member of the library board.

Prohibition Party Conventions.

The republican campaign will open in this part of the state on September 2 with a meeting held under the auspices of the Republican club of this city and to be addressed by Governor Cummins. This will be the first speech of Governor Cummins in the campaign. He has been engaged for some time in making addresses of various kinds, but all of a non-partisan character. He will deliver the opening address of the campaign here on the 21st, and preparations are being made to have a most excellent meeting for him. There may be others to speak at the same time. He will not, however, speak continuously from that date on, but will begin regular work October 1, to speak six or eight times a week.

CARING FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Proposal to Erect Separate Hospital for State Wards Thus Affiliated.

LABOR DAY TO BE GENERALLY OBSERVED

State Lets Contract for Twenty-Eight Thousand Dollars' Worth of Meat to Be Used During Next Quarter.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—An effort will be made in the near future to secure some special institution for the care and treatment of consumptive wards of the state. An investigation has been carried on to determine how many there are in the state institutions that might be placed in such a special hospital and it is found the number is quite large. The superintendents of the various institutions have become interested in the matter and it is probable there will be some recommendation to the legislature along this line.

Dr. P. Crumpacker, superintendent of the hospital at Independence, in his biennial report just filed with the state board, makes special mention of the fact that the great bane of hospitals for the insane is tuberculosis. He declares that there must be much more dissemination of the knowledge of the cause of this disease. Continuing, he says: "The laity and the lawmakers must be educated, as it were, to an understanding of the underlying principles now recognized as governing the development of the malady. It must be acknowledged as a sad blot to our boasted progress that isolation wards or buildings for the tubercular have not as yet been established in most of our state hospitals. That the public is awakened to the urgent necessity of sanitary regulations against this disease is proven by the anti-spitting ordinances which are already established and moderately well-enforced in our large cities and are gradually extending to the more progressive of the smaller towns and villages. The most effective germicide known for the destruction of the Koch bacillus is sunlight. For this reason individuals having a tendency to tuberculosis should spend all the time their environment affords out of doors in the sunshine. It is now so generally conceded the disease is contagious that only a short time should intervene until means are provided for the isolation of those infected. It is interesting as a matter of speculation to consider what possibilities the future may unfold as to the destruction of the phthisical germ, even within the pulmonary structure, by means of the X-rays, the Fluisden light and other powerful combinations of the (to us) hidden forces of nature. For the present at least, our most promising work in battling with this foe rests in prevention rather than cure. We must depend on advanced hygiene and sanitary regulations. It has been proposed to erect a suitable cottage for the care of this class of our patients in our state hospitals. In this way the most approved architectural design for the treatment of the disease could be instituted. The nurses could be most thoroughly trained to care for this class with the least possible expense. It is possible contracting the disease. It appears to me that a separate building for this class will, in the not far-distant future, be recognized as an important requirement in the construction of any well-equipped hospital for the insane. It is even possible that such a building in an inexpensive manner, with the end in view of completely destroying it after the lapse of a few years, when the structure may have become impregnated with the pathogenic germs beyond hope of destruction."

The recommendations of Dr. Crumpacker are in accord with other recommendations from superintendents of the hospitals and the matter of establishing separate institutions for the consumptive patients will in this manner be got before the people and the legislature. Dr. Crumpacker joins with the other superintendents in recommending that the inmates be provided with a separate institution.

Magazine Editor Visits.

Joe Mitchell Chapelle, the former Iowa boy who has been making a great success of the National Magazine, visited in Des Moines one day last week. Mr. Chapelle is well known in the state and has many friends in Des Moines. He had been visiting in Charleston the past week with relatives. In Des Moines he took dinner with Chief Justice Charles A. Bishop, with whom he was acquainted in the past. In the evening, while Judge Bishop was in the east, Mr. Chapelle offered to give the judge's daughter a scholarship in an eastern school, which he had at his disposal, and she accepted, and is now attending the school, though she had not previously contemplated any such thing.

Celebrate Labor Day.

Labor day will be celebrated in Des Moines, but not with any speeches. There will be a gathering of the forces of organized labor and a picnic, with a program of sports. The usual parade will be given. A number of Des Moines men will participate in other parts of the state. Governor A. R. Cummins goes to Colfax where he is to speak to a Labor day crowd. There are a number of coal mines in the vicinity of Colfax and a large population of laboring men.

Deputy Labor Commissioner A. E. Holder will go to Centerville, where he speaks with W. R. Wilson, the secretary of the Mine Workers' union, of Indianapolis. Prof. Claude Davis of the faculty of Drake university, a speaker of good local repute, is to go to Council Bluffs and be one of the speakers at the Monday Labor day and the Tuesday celebration. John M. Work, the socialist candidate for governor, is scheduled to speak at Keok, a small mining town in the southern part of the state. A. L. Ulrich, president of the State Federation of Labor, goes to Ottumwa, and A. J. Fugh, a lawyer and socialist of this city, goes to Jefferson. Others in the state will be Thomas I. Kidd and "Mother" Jones at Clinton; J. B. Sullivan, democratic candidate for governor, at Cleveland; James H. Brower, at Dubuque; Frederick G. Strickland at Davenport; Wesley T. Stafford of Sioux City; at Marshalltown; John P. White of the mine workers, at Keokuk; and J. H. Quick of Sioux City, at Mason City.

State Buys Meat.

The state of Iowa is the heaviest buyer of meat in the western country, and the big packing houses get most of the contracts. The meat for all the state institutions is purchased by the Board of Control on offers submitted quarterly by the packing companies. For the last quarter the current year the state will purchase for these institutions meat to the amount of about $2,500, as follows: Fresh meats, chiefly beef, from Swift's, $1,100; from Cudahy's, $1,070. Salt meat and pork products, from Armour's, $300, and from the Agar company of Des Moines, $500. The institutions are all furnished with meat, so that there shall be meat furnished to the wards of the state at least once every day.

dressed by Governor Cummins. This will be the first speech of Governor Cummins in the campaign. He has been engaged for some time in making addresses of various kinds, but all of a non-partisan character. He will deliver the opening address of the campaign here on the 21st, and preparations are being made to have a most excellent meeting for him. There may be others to speak at the same time. SUIT FOR IOWA MILLIONS

Much Interest in Davenport Over Litigation Involving Parker Estate.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The curious and the lovers of the sensational are preparing to pack the Davenport court room Wednesday when the case of Bristin against Parker is called for trial before Judge Wolfe. The case involves a million dollar trust fund in which a half interest is claimed by an alleged son of W. Fred Parker, the late architect and author and avant-garde Bohemian retreat near Omaha earned him the title of "The Hermit of Florence."

When J. Monroe Parker, a wealthy Davenportier, died about a dozen years ago, he left $2,000,000 in trust for his three children, providing in his will that when any of the three died, "without lawful issue," his or her share should go to the survivors. J. Monroe Parker, Jr., died a few years later, in the insane asylum at Mount Pleasant, Ia. W. Fred Parker died in January, 1902, at his Bohemian home, "The Hermitage," near Omaha.

W. Fred Parker never married. At the hermitage, though, lived Pauline Fraissenet. His will, after providing for the payment of the debts and expenses of the estate, left all the remaining money of his estate to her, and all the remainder of his estate, including a half interest in his father's million dollar trust, to Frank Fraissenet, who was also named in the will as Francis Parker, and recognized as the son of the testator.

Francis Tadmir, now 16 years of age, was not the only son, and Alex Toldi Fraissenet, now 4 years old, was not forgotten, but the testator expressed his confidence that Francis would see that neither mother and little brother did not suffer from want.

But the will of J. Monroe Parker provided that in case any of his children died "without lawful issue," their share in the million dollar trust fund should go to his surviving children. So Joseph Talbot Parker Bristin brings the pending suit, claiming that the Fraissenet children are not lawful sons of W. Fred Parker, and that the entire trust fund therefore belongs to her.

The defense will claim that a common law marriage legitimated the Fraissenet children, and that Frank, under his father's will, enters into the enjoyment of one-half of his grandfather's big trust fund.

Some of the witnesses in the case have already arrived here. It will be a hard-fought case, in proportion to the hundreds of thousands involved, and the trial here is of course only the preliminary skirmish. The losing side will probably carry it to the higher courts, but it will none the less earnestly want the decision of the lower court in its favor.

W. Fred Parker is claimed to have been worth $50,000 at the time of his death, outside of his interest in the trust estate, and this he willed and deeded to Pauline and Frank Fraissenet, and no attempt is made to disturb them in the possession of it. They will therefore not be left in absolute want, even if the issue of the present suit goes against them.

The most noted array of legal talent ever lined up on the opposite sides of a case tried in Scott county is connected with this case, although probably not all the attorneys will be here at the trial. Lane & Waterman are trial attorneys for the prosecution, and associated with them are General John H. Webster, recently secretary for vice president of the United States by the republicans of Nebraska; Judge Done of Omaha and C. F. Goss, both prominent Omaha barristers.

For the defense W. M. Chamberlain is the attorney here on the ground and Hamilton & Maxwell and General John C. Cowin are the attorneys at Omaha. Judge Maxwell, as well as Judge Waterman, is a former member of the supreme bench.

She attempted to prevent the avalanche and was caught under the boards and sustained a dislocated knee. She lay in the road until a small boy who accompanied her could run back to the mill, a distance of several miles, for assistance.

HUNTER SECURES HIS GAME

South Dakota Judge Construes Law of State in Favor of Sportsmen.

SIoux Falls, S. D., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Judge Jones of the state circuit court, in this city, has rendered an interesting decision as the result of the seizure by Game Warden Hutchinson of a shipment of fifteen prairie chickens, which were sent from Huron to Sioux Falls. The birds were confiscated under that section of the game law, as amended by the legislature last winter, requiring the owner to accompany shipments of prairie chickens, which are to be open to view and tagged and labeled with the name of the owner. The chickens, seized by the game warden were in an inclosing box.

Judge Jones held that under the law, as amended, fifteen or less birds can be shipped from one point in the state to another, whether the owner is with the shipment or not. He also held that such shipments can be made by box, sack or in any manner to suit the convenience of the shipper, and need not be open for inspection.
