products of the field and herd. Our commercial, industrial and financial supremacy is, therefore, not dependent upon any one fact, or interest, or condition, but upon all combined.

We produce practically 20,000,000 tons of iron ore—as much as any other two countries and one-third of the world's output. We produce 40 per cent of the world's output of iron and steel. During the first half of 1903 we produced nearly 19,000,000 tons of pig iron.

We produce more coal than Great Britain; more than twies as much as Germany and nearly double that of all countries except Great Britain and Germany.

We grow three-fourths of the world's cotton fibre and our ability to produce this staple is far above the present product.

A people's prosperity is not measured by its capacity to consume, and this capacity to consume is in turn dependent upon the earning capacity of the individual and the carning capacity of the individual is again dependent upon native and acquired ability. So, if America be great, it is because God in His wisdom stored the mountains with the richest minerals, overlaid the valleys with a most fertile soil and then gave it to the people competent, in some slight degree at least, to improve their opportunities.

The secretary arose at 4:30 this morning and at 5 o'clock boarded a special car which was placed at his disposal for the purpose of making a ride to Tinton, in the Hill district, sixteen miles from Deadwood. In accomplishing this sixteen miles it was necessary for the secretary to travel fifty miles by railroad and eighteen miles by wagon on the round trip. Accordingly the arrangements were intended to have teams meet the train at a place called Iron Creek Landing on the Spearfish branch of the Burlington: twenty-five miles from Deadwood, to take the party to Tinton at the top of the mountain. The end of the railroad journey was reached soon after 6 o'clock, but no teams were in sight. As the secretary had planned to return to Deadwood at 1 o'clock he immediately started to walk up the guich, stating that he would meet the teams and thus lose

In dealing with the question of the employers' rights to discharge men for any cause than that of connection with a labor union Umpire Wright agrees with the contention of the operators' representatives and declares that the right of an employer to discharge without giving the cause of the discharge is sustained by the award of the commission He says that the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company and Coxe Brothers and company should take back old men instead of putting on new men in all cases where the old men are competent and have not been convicted or not awaiting trial for crimes report takes up twenty-five pages of type-

It is therefore decided that contractors driving rock tunnels, sinking shafts and other similar work, not being parties to the submission nor having agreed to abide by the awards of the anthracite coal strike commission are not parties under the award and have no standing before the board of conciliation, and that their employes are not among those employes affected by the award of the anthracite coal strike commission.

The board has now disposed of about thirty disputes. Two more questions on which it deadlocked will be submitted to Umpire Wright. Much Excitement at Beyroot. The official reports further show that Beyroot is one of the places which are now centers of great animation. Smyrna, which hitherto has been comparatively quiet, is on the eve of outbreak. Great excitement prevails there. The authorities are in constant fear of an outbreak, but fortunately they have been able thus far to prevent an encounter between the Christians and Mussulmans.

The Salonica advices are also again very disquieting. It is expected that a general revolt throughout the provinces of Salonica will occur next week. It is the understanding among the foreign officials at Salonica committed during the strike. The umpire's that a general insurrection will shortly be announced by the Macedonian committee. In view of this expectation rigid police measures have been taken by the vall, who is showing much energy. Reports from Monastir say the insurrection in that district has been practically crushed by the extreme measures taken by the Turkish

Reports from various points throughout Bulgaria show that there is a strong feeling against Prince Ferdinand, owing to the fact that he left the country during the crisis, It is not expected, however, that the agitators will succeed in carrying out their plots against his life.

Thirty Christians Killed.

BERLIN, Sept. 8 .- A dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from Constantinople says thirty Christians, among them, being several Europeans, were killed during the rioting at Beyroot. The Foreign office here has received no news tending to confirm the report published by the Lakol Anzelger.

Later in the day the foreign offices received a dispatch from Constantinople anouncing that ten persons were killed during the recent disorders at Beyroot, at about the time the United States warships arrived there, but the foreign office here finds no connection between the two events. Among the killed was an American.

SOFIA, Sept. &.- The Macedonian organigation estimates that 15,000 women, children and old men are hiding in the mountains and forests of Macedonia. The Turks are burning the forests in the vicinity of Kalister and killing all those who attempt to scape to the plain.

Cause of the Dispute.

Mr. Yeiser said that as there could be no dispute regarding nominating Judges Dickinson and Read, and A. N. Ferguson and E. C. Page, that he moved their nomination be made unanimous, the other three nominations to be made later. But there was a dispute, and one that lasted during the entire meeting, between Judge Langdon and P. L. Forgan on the one side and the populist machine-E. E. Thomas, George A. Magney, John O. Yeiser, Laurie J. Quinby, assisted at times by S. Arion Lewis, F. Des Lanier-Horton and Silas Robbins-on the other side.

A determined fight by Judge Langdon and Mr. Forgan compelled the machine to temperarily drop Judge Read, and Judge Dickinson, E. C. Page and A. N. Ferguson were nominated unanimously. But the machine in turn turned down Judge Langdon's nomination of Lee S. Estelle, Arthur C. Wake ley and A. C. Troup, and George A. Magney, also nominated by him, declined to be a candidate. John O. Yelser made an impassioned plea for Judge Read and an equally impassioned denunciation of Judge Estelle, to which Judge Langdon repiled that he knew Judge Estelle had turned down Mr. Yeiser in his organized labor litigation, but nevertheless Judge Estelle was correct in his opinion and was far the superior of Judge Read in ability. E. F. Morearty came in late and wanted to know whether he was at a populist convention or at a mass meeting. Being assured he was at a mass meeting of citizens he attempted to make a speech and particularly to defend Judge Estelle from the attack on him by John O. Yeiser. But the warring populistic factions joined forces and as Mr. Morearty would not lefinite, and if all the powers can see pledge himself to support the nominees of

On a division Judge Read was nominated by fifteen votes to two votes-Judge Langdon and P. L. Forgau-for Arthur C. Wakeley. Mr. Magney said he understood G. W. Doane would accept a nomination by the meeting and Judge Doane was immediately nominated unanimously Mr. Thomas insisted that the populists should have at least one candidate on the ticket and urged Mr. Magney to reconsider his determination not to be a candidate. But Mr. Magney again declined with thanks and Mr. Thomas, in a speech telling how strong he would be with organized labor, moved that John O. Yeiser be nominated.

On two conditions, Mr. Yeiser said, ne would be glad to accept the nomination. If the meeting refused to nominate Lee S. Estelle, whom Judge Langdon was still of the seventh candidate to the judiciary committee to be appointed, he would accept the nomination. By all except Judge were accepted, and John O. Yeiser's name was added to the list.

S. Arion Lewis wanted the only faction still unrepresented given a place on the partisan ticket was to be nominated at least one candidate should be taken from the republican ticket, and that Mr. Troup was worthy in every way of the support of populists.

To Complete the Ticket. Mr. Thomas declared that if left to the immittee Judge Fawcett, Judge Hopewell, Judge Lake, Judge Howe and Judge Wakeley and others belonging to the same class, would be seen and whichever one of them would accept would be nominated. Then John O.
