

TWO RECORDS A E BROKEN

Creaseus Lowers the Trotting Mark for a Half-Mile Track.

CROWD AT THE STATE FAIR IS THE OTHER

Grandstand and Quarter Stretch Over. Row Into Race Track—Horse and Driver Given Great Ovation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—At the state fair ground today, down a solid line of people, Creaseus lowered the world's trotting record for a mile on a half-mile track one-half second. His time was 2:08.4, reducing his own record from 2:09.4. For the mile, by quarters, his time was 1:02.1, 1:04.1, 1:05.4, 1:06.4. He was paced by an automobile and two running-mates, one of the latter taking in on the home stretch. At the conclusion of the race, Creaseus and his driver and owner, George Ketchum, were smothered in a crowd of thousands, who cheered and yelled and covered them with flowers. The horse stood through it all without showing excitement or concern. The race was made under circumstances that were anything but favorable. Thousands of people thronged the track for the entire circuit and all efforts to remove the crowd completely were fruitless. The horse trotted down a lane of people that reached ten feet outside the track.

Before the race Creaseus was sent around the track several times, of which no record was kept. The automobile was then brought out for a warming up and this was used to great advantage to clear the middle of the track. Then came Old Mike, the racer. When the people had been worked up to the highest pitch possible, scrambling and fighting for vantage ground to see the horse, the race was made. In a little over two minutes it was over, but every man got his money's worth. The start was made with Creaseus and Old Mike slightly in the lead and the automobile bringing up the rear. To the quarter pole they went in a bunch, the machine gradually closing the distance between them. Near the home stretch J. R. Couch, driven by Charles Scully, got in the race, and the four finished the first half with no visible difference between them. The people went wild. They cheered and yelled and cried and screamed. They scrambled over the fence and pushed and hauled and fought for a glimpse of the mortal streak. And that was all they got.

On the second half Creaseus trotted beautifully. His long neck was stretched out; his ears pointing straight ahead, his nostrils distended. He was a sight to warm the heart of the horseman. The four turned the home stretch in a bunch and not a throat was still as they neared the wire. Scully's horse came a nose ahead and then Creaseus, Old Mike and the machine together.

Bedlam broke loose to stop for an instant to listen to the judge's report. When it came the track was instantly a sea of people. Horses and riders that had come out after Creaseus had passed were crowded up. Men, women and children crowded over each other to get one more look at the horse and his owner.

Breaks Record of Attendance.

Creaseus had the honor not only of breaking his own and the world's record, but he was the attraction that broke the record of attendance at the state fair. Late this evening it was estimated that 85,000 people had passed through the gates. At the race track the grandstand was filled clear to the top and the quarter stretch was jammed and packed clear to the track; people were backed up against the fence inside the track and extended out fully ten feet on one side. The top of the grandstand and all buildings that could be seen from the track were lined with people. A spring of freight cars on a track near the grounds was covered with people, many hanging on the rods on the sides. And all this time the grounds were comfortably filled. The grandstand began to fill about noon and by 1:30 most every available space was in use. Notwithstanding this, tickets were still sold and people kept coming in. This forced the management to allow them to crowd into the quarter stretch and into the track. It was the largest crowd in the history of the fair, not excepting the day J. I. C. was here in 1887.

The people had a long wait for the great race, for it was 4:10 before the word to go was given. During this time they were well entertained with other races. In the 2-year-old and under race King Airy, driven by Fred Robare and Wilbur, driven by Bennett, collided and both were injured, though neither horse nor man was hurt with the exception of a bad shaking. Wilbur had won two heats and King Airy one and they were doing the first half on the fourth. When nearing the stretch, King Airy broke and Wilbur dashed into him. The two sukkers went into the air and men and horses rolled over together. They remained on the ground long enough for Drift Allerton and Charley Cotton to pass and then the crowd rushed to the fallen ones. They were hastily rushed off the track in time for the other two horses to finish. A wheel was torn from Wilbur's sulky and that was the only damage done. Both Bennett and Robare said the affair was an unavoidable accident.

The weather today was ideal, just a little breeze to stir things. The track was never in better condition.

Wolf Bounties Unclaimed.

The auditor's office this morning received another batch of letters containing warrants for wolf bounty claims that were never called for by the parties to whom they were addressed. In all hundreds of dollars have been returned because the parties owning the claims could not be located. Many of the warrants were for a considerable amount and in most cases the postmaster had marked the letters "moved away." It is expected that at some later date the men will write in to the auditor for the warrants.

Hospital Case in Supreme Court.

The Presbyterian hospital case wherein F. S. Pusey, trustee, seeks to throw out the present occupants, has reached the supreme court. The brief was filed this morning on behalf of the plaintiff in error asking for a reversal of the decision of the district court which was a reversal of the justice court.

During December, 1896, F. S. Pusey as trustee leased to the Presbyterian hospital the property involved, a three-story brick building. In consideration of the tenant making certain improvements the cash rental was fixed at $3, a nominal sum. In January the superintendent of the hospital sent to K. P. Dodge, the agent of the owner

Later President McClelland of the hospital called upon Mr. Dodge and said he was negotiating for a sale of the hospital or a change of management and that at that time make a new lease. Then came the notice from Mr. Dodge to vacate the building.

Several more conferences were held between the agent and the president of the hospital, the latter offering $50 a month rent and the former demanding $15. Consequently no agreement was made. The hospital, so the brief said, was not a charity organization but was run solely for the benefit and advantage of Mr. McClelland and certain surgeons associated with him.

WARRANT FOR DEPUTY SHERIFF

Friends of Charles Miller Inset His Shooting Was Unjustified.

BEATRICE, Neb., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—The relatives of Charles Miller, who was shot by Deputy Sheriff Galloway near Adams recently, are insistent in their declaration that Miller was shot down in cold blood and without warning. A complaint against the deputy sheriff was filed in Justice Inman's court yesterday, charging Galloway with shooting with the intent to kill. The county attorney asked the justice to issue a warrant for his arrest and also intimated that he might dismiss the case, should it be filed. Notwithstanding this, Justice Inman said he would issue the warrant, probably today.

The friends of the injured man, who was wanted for several offenses alleged to have been committed, have taken the matter up with the apparent determination to have the shooting investigated. They claim to have evidence to show that Galloway shot Miller from behind without warning and then left him without making an arrest. In fact it is said that he is not yet under arrest, though lying dangerously wounded at the home of relatives near Adams.

Miller's wife has engaged the services of a law firm here and the attorneys say the whole matter will be given a thorough airing.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Paving Specifications Matter Comes in for Another Debate.

BACK PRESENTS AN ESSAY ON TOPIC

Chairman of Paving Committee Furnishes Views at Variance with Those of City Engineer, but Fails to Carry Point.

The somewhat musty matter of specifications for asphalt, brick, bitulith and macadam paving was before the council again last night, but no progress was made toward ending the long drawn out controversy. When Chairman Back of the paving and sewerage committee brought in an extended report attacking in detail the specifications drawn by City Engineer Rosewater and covering the whole paving question as in an essay, President Zimmerman consigned the chair to Vice President Nicholson and took the floor. The best he could do was to have the report re-committed instead of sending the specifications back to the Board of Public Works, as Chairman Back proposed.

In brief, the report attacked the asphalt specifications on the grounds that they are not broad enough and are different from those used at Washington, D. C.; the brick specifications because the test is too severe, and the macadam specifications because they are drawn so as to require too expensive a pavement. Further, the committee advised that the words "city engineer" be stricken from the specifications and the words "the Board of Public Works" substituted wherever possible, leaving all matters of judgment in the execution of the work to the board.

Punishes Back's Position.

Zimmerman politely "roasted" Councilman Back and told him that he had plainly violated the instructions of the council when the members directed him to report favorably on the engineer's specifications and to reject those furnished by the contractor. He satirized the deep-sounding phrases of engineering laws which the committee advanced and said it was passing strange that the judgment and knowledge of the city engineer should be called into question in Omaha when it is sought for by larger cities, by scientific publications and has been in demand for certain public works in Europe. Zimmerman said he did not believe the council had anything to do but to reject or accept specifications, and had no business sending them back to the Board of Public Works.

It was only after the council had twice voted on the question that Zimmerman succeeded in carrying his point and having the specifications recommitted.

To Make Asphalt Repairs.

The list of men, headed by John Grant as superintendent at $10 a month, for making asphalt repairs by day labor, was confirmed as returned by the Board of Public Works. The use of three men at $5 cents an hour, three men at $4 cents and thirteen teamsters at 45 cents. A resolution was adopted making a second request for submission of street lighting proposals, under the electric light and gas companies, the time set being next Tuesday night.

Mayor Moore vetoed the proposition to establish a rockpile for city prisoners at a cost of $250. He called the plan a "hot air dream," and it will not be accomplished for twice the amount, but is impracticable because of the cost of stone and the inability to get it. He said he thought it to be a move to favor Contractor W. Court, who has the quarries nearest to Omaha.

City Treasurer Hennings' recommendations that a legality clause be placed in each advertisement for the sale of bonds was adopted, as included in a resolution. It was deemed that the city will obtain an opinion as to the legality of all bonds from a New York attorney.

A second request was made upon the Board of Public Works for an estimate for a municipal asphalt repair plant. The demand was voiced in the form of a resolution.

Bonds to Build Engine House.

An ordinance providing for the issuance of $50,000 fire engine house bonds for the erection of the two new houses under way, was introduced, read the first and second times and referred to a committee; also an ordinance requiring the controller to submit certified lists of city real estate to the tax commissioners each year. These ordinances were placed on first and second reading: To extend market place on Capitol avenue from Fourteenth to Fifteenth; to open alley in Arbor Place from Twelfth to Walnut street; alley between Twelfth and Thirteenth from Martha to Castellar; Ontario street from Twentieth to A streets; Nineteenth street from Dear Park to Spring street; Central boulevard from Pacific to Burt street; Francis street from Fifth to Sixth, and Howard from Twentieth to Twenty-second.

AWARD GOES TO OHIO FIRM

Municipal Renewal Bonds Are Sold to W. R. Todd & Company of Cincinnati.

W. R. Todd & Co., of Cincinnati, offered a premium of $5,000 for $45,000 municipal renewal bonds at a public sale held in the city treasurer's office yesterday afternoon. And were awarded the securities. There were five other bidders, including two from local parties for the portions of the issue. Seasegood & Mayer, of Cincinnati, who held a contract for the bonds, which was later violated by a veto from Mayor Moore, endeavored to secure the issue at par, as under the former arrangements, but that representative, A. J. Spencer, made it plain after the sale that no litigation may be expected.

The other proposals were as follows: George & Co. offered $45,000, at par; Mrs. G. W. Wertz of Omaha, $2,500, at $1.05 and the First National bank of Columbus, O.; W. J. Hayes & Sons, of Cleveland and P. S. Briggs & Co., of Columbus, par if the sale was made thirty years straight. Instead of twenty years optional after ten years. The interest rate is 4 1/2 per cent, payable semi-annually.

Seasegood & Mayer's skirmish resulted merely in a letter saying that they had sold the bonds and would hold the city liable for all damages sustained. The right of the mayor to veto the concurrent resolution awarding the contract to this house was denied.
