The second race, won by Dan T., developed into the fastest trotting event of the year. Dan T. was a 7 to 5 favorite and went easily in the first heat, which was won by hythmethe in 2:05%, record breaking time for the horse and the year. Rythmetic led in the second mile until collared by Dan T. in the stretch. Then the blind horse gave it up. Rythmetic by breaking put himself and Dan T. out of the going in the third heat, and Charley Hetr, under the whip, posed out Fereno. Geers made a sweeping drive with Dan T. through the stretch in the fourth heat and beat out Rythmetic by two lengths.

Johnny Wiseman, the even money choice for the 2:10 pace, found Foxy Curd the contender. Both horses took it easy in the first heat. In the next mile both were pushed hard and the Wiseman horse cut his record all to pieces to win. He had to step the last two heats even faster.

Walnut Hall was favorite in the 2:00 trot, He did not get down to smooth going until the third heat and then the others were lootired to withstand his rushes at the finish. Summary;

WESTERN STAYS IN MILWAUKEE

President Sexton Wires Instructions to Business Manager Porter Highy.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—Porter Higby, business manager of the team which represented the Western league in this city, received an important telegram from President Sexton yesterday. The contents necessitates Mr. Higby's presence in Milwaukee for several months at least. Here is the message:

"Send accounts of the season immediately, and prepare for next season."

To say that Mr. Higby was surprised when he read the message is putting it about right. He contemplated, according to previous word from D. C. Packard, remaining here until he finished up the regular business and then return to Denver. Sexton's message puts a new light on the situation. It is taken as evidence that the Western league will again be in Milwaukee next year.

TOOK STOCK FOR INTRODUCING DEVICE

Accused Man Says He Had No Dealings of Unlawful Nature with Any Person or Persons in Postoffice Department.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25 .- The indicted Postal Inspector James Erwin was heard by United States Commissioner Herrick today. He desired to show why he should not be held for trial in Washington, and made a complete statement of his connection with the alleged postoffice frauds. He denied the charges specifically and then told of his connection with the affair, the history of which covers a period of four years, but which has but recently come to public notice through the Washington investigation. Erwin had note books and memoranda to verify what he said. He did not deny a knowledge of the sale of the devices and compliance with the schemes of the local office whereby they developed the device and sold it to the government. Erwin said that he never had anything to do with the compliance and the installation of the devices. He said that as assistant General Deputy of free delivery, he introduced their

The number in use under his direction, he said, was 1,000 or 1,100. He asserted positively, however, that he never knowingly defrauded the government and that the sum total of his earnings from the postal device and improvement company was $96. Erwin's testimony in part was as fol-

On November 23, 1899, I secured a twenty On November 23, 1889, I secured a twenty-day leave of absence and went with D. S. Richardson, general superintendent of the San Francisco office to Washington to secure contracts for the Montague Letter Box and Device company, as the company was known at that time. It has since become the Postal Device and Improvement company. The invention, I understand, was Mr. Richardson's. My advice was solicited because of my length of service and I suggested several improvements.

Still Holds Stock.

On the certificates of stock given me by Mr. Richardson appears the name of the Montague company. I now hold 500 out of 46,000 shares in the Postal Development company. For these I paid nothing. I took no part in the formation of either company, and paid no money for my stock. The consideration I gave I was told and supposed, was the service I rendered in perfecting the device. The object of our trip to Washington in November, 1859, was to interest the department in the device. I was paid nothing for my services.

In Washington I personally introduced Mr. Richardson to many of the employes and asked them to offer any suggestion they could for improvement. I was well acquainted there through my duties, which had covered a period of ten years past. I introduced Mr. Richardson to forty or fifty men in the department and spent two or three days in introducing him. At that time there was a national convention of first class postmasters, who inspected the device.

I never had possession of any stock other than that issued to me, nor did I place any stock whatever among the employes of the postoffice department. Neither did I advise Mr. Richardson to so place any stock. I did not know that any stock was to be so placed. And I had no official consent to give, as I was pever a director of either the Montague of the present company. So far as I know, it was never planned to place any stock among the officials of the department. I never took part in the making of contracts. The cost of manufacture was not known at that time. I was staying at the same hotel with Mr. Richardson. We were together for ten days, from November 23 to December 3, 1899.

Examination of Beavers. NEW YORK, Sept. 25.-The examination of George W. Beavers, on the Brooklyn indictment in the postal investigation, was again adjourned today by United States Commissioner Hitchcock, until October 5, when the contempt proceedings against Postoffice Inspector Little for refusing to obey a subpoena will be argued. Mr. Beavers was also formally arraigned today on the first Washington indictment which charges him with conspiracy with the Columbia Supply company, which furnished the large fron boxes used for re ceiving the packages and papers. The attorneys for the defense admitted Mr. Beaver's identity, but gave notice to the prose cution that they intended to object to the sufficiency of the indictment and that they would on or before Saturday next file briefs with the commissioner pointing out their objections.

Secretary Emmet of the United Irish societies of Chicago said tonight:

Colonel Blake's reveiations regarding the Clan na Gael which he promises to make public Sunday evening will probably cause more consternation in America than the army scandals did in England. He is reputed to have documentary evidence that will show treachery to the Boer cause and the cause of Ireland.
