Brisk Demand for Dry Goods.

Local dry goods jobbers report their house trade for last week as being abait the best experienced since the first of the month. The orders received, both direct and through traveling men, have also shown quite an improvement within the last few days and it is thought that the cause is found in the improved crop con-ditions. Jobbers are now confident of a ercod late business and in that event their cause is round in the improved crop con-ditions. Jobbers are now confident of a good late business and in that event their sales will run far ahead of hist year or of any previous year. The cotton market continues strong and no change in the prices ruling on cotton goods is reported. Indications now are that present prices will hold good through-out the winter and spring and Omaha job-bers have gone ahead with that idea and made preparations for carrying a larger and better line of goods than ever before. The manufacturers' prices for Amoskeag A. F. C. and Tolle du Nord ginghams have booked. Jobbers are hoping that deliveries of all classes of goods this coming season will be better than they have been in the past, but an enormous demand is already in sight.

Loather Goods Selling Freely.

Leather Goods Selling Preely. There were more boot and shoe men on the local market last week than jobbers weil passed. It seems that a large number of merchants were holding back a large part pleased. It seems that a large number of merchants were holding back a large part of their orders until they could tell more about the outcome of the corn crop but now they no longer fear a crop failure and as a result are rushing to market and plac-ing their orders. The warm dry weather has temporarily checked the demand for both cloining and foot wear, but jobbers are content to wait in view of the fact that they have been doing a big business all this year. Xe Change in Hardware.

No Change in Hardware,

The hardware market is in just about The hardware market is in just about the same position it was a week ago, no important changes having taken piace. The demand, however, for all seasonable goods has been very satisfactory, as the cold weather of a week or ten cays ago re-minded people that it was time to prepare for whiter. There is no special feature to the trade, as the demind is simply general for all classes of seasonable and staple articles.

Oleomargarine Not Popular.

Since the passage of the Grout bill con pelling manufacturers of eleomargarine to pay a tax of 10 cents per pound on their produce when colored, and ane-tourth cent produce when colored, and one-fourth cent when uncolored, its popularity has be-created at a rapid rate. The tax of it cents per pound makes the colored oleo-margarine c.st as much as a good giade of butter and comparatively few people seem to care to use the uncolored product. Statistics show that during the month of dugut, this, before the parage of the grout bill, 66,51 fifty-pound tube were sold, while during the same month of the following year atter the law became ef-following tubes of the same size. Last much there were only 12,858 tube made which is a decrease from two years ago of dist month file, tube were uncolored and destrates is the manufacture and sale of solid will tube were colored. ### Fruits and Vegetables.

The demand for fruits last wock was very brisk and owing to the la eness of the sea-son the price of peaches has advanced slightly. The supply of apples, however, is now more liberal as both Michigan and New York as well as home grown stock is on sale. There is also a large variety of grapes on the market and the ruling prices of the various lines will be found in another column.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.-DRY GOODS-The end of the week in dry goods shows little more activity from general buyers, the majority of whom continue to display conservatism, which has marked operations for some time. Tightness of the money market is an operative factor, and as the current necessities are likely to increase as the season advances, operations, it is believed, will continue on a limited scale.

Heavy hogs sold largely from $5.65 to $5.70 medium weights went from $5.70 to $5.70 and lights sold from $5.76 to $5.814. Trading was not very active, owing partly to the fact that buyers and sellers could not agree on prices. But largely to the late arrival of trains. The trains kept coming in all the forenoon and, the same as usual, packers bought the late arrivals lower than those that came in early. The close of the market was very slow nad weak, most of the advance being lost.
