Prices on Men's Hats

Are about the same everywhere—qualities are different—and you are acquainted with this store well enough to know that the name wouldn't go into a hat that wasn't thoroughly worthy of its price—and more, too—it has got to be a better hat at its price than the same money will pay for anywhere else. Men like our hats—we know they do—because, with a majority of our customers, it's a case of "off agin, on agin, Finegan"—they come in for another "Nebraska Special" at $1.50, or our popular "5th Ave" shape at $2.00, or $2.50, as the case may be, in the new fall blocks, and leave a last year's style behind; often with regret, because it still looks so well.

SHOWING ALL CORRECT BLOCKS IN SOFT HATS AND DERBYS—$1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00.

Her Loss

Many a woman with real possibilities of "Style" sacrifices those possibilities on the altar of a bargain counter when she buys cheap shoes.

For just a few cents more she might have had the "Style of a Dorothy Dodd" shoe. But to save these few cents she pinches her feet, crowds them, risks corns, endures discomfort, and loses the whole element of style at a most important point in her costume. Sincerely yours,

Announcements of the Theaters.

Only three more performances of "Ben Hur" will be given at the Boyd, this evening, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow evening. This great spectacle has been drawing great crowds to the theater all week, and is pronounced the most magnificent scenic production ever shown. It is presented in Omaha with the same scenic equipment and mechanical appliances and accessories that made it the wonder of New York and gave it its great London triumph. A few good seats may yet be obtained at the box office.

On Sunday Richard Carle comes for a short engagement in his latest and most successful musical comedy, "The Tenderfoot." During its long run in Chicago last summer this play was pronounced the best of Mr. Carle's work, and it has been much praised wherever shown since. Its present tour began some weeks ago. The engagement is for but three performances, beginning with a matinee on Sunday.
