TO PROTECT HOME MARKET

Railroads Will Equalize Through Import Rates, Cutting Out Discriminations.

PROTECTIVE TARIFF NOW ENDANGERED

Under Present System Imports May Come From London to Missouri Much Cheaper Than from Seaboard.

A joint conference of the trunk line import committee and representatives of the Gulf lines, Western Freight association and transmissouri lines will be held in New York October 8, at which time the plan of placing the inland proportions of the through import rates on a fixed basis to all points will be perfected.

The railroads from the Missouri river east have entered into an agreement to protect American industries from the inroads which have been made on them by a competition made possible by cheap ocean and inland freight rates.

The total number of miles of road operated to the end of the fiscal year was 4,801.10, and the average number was 4,292.39, against 4,762.23 operated the year previous. The average weight of the rail on the main track was 71.96 pounds to the yard, against 70.54 pounds last year.

The annual meeting of the stockholders will be held in Chicago on the third Wednesday of October, at which time it is expected that the old board will be re-elected. The board as now comprised is Governor Richard Yates of Illinois, Stuyvesant Fish, C. H. Ashton, J. J. Astor, R. W. Goebel, C. A. Peabody, J. C. Walling, W. M. Dringell, Walter Luttigen, J. W. Auchincloss, C. M. Beach, J. T. Harahan and Cornelius Vanderbilt.

The differential exacted against the Gulf ports is only sufficient to cover the extra insurance and compensate for the extra water haul. It also is expected that the existing differences on the export rates on grain will be settled at this conference. The lines east of Chicago declare that their loss of business due to the increase of export business by way of the Gulf comes from an unjust differential of 3 1/2 cents in favor of the Gulf ports. They have asked that this be lowered to 2 1/2 cents per hundred pounds, which is sufficient to cover

The ninety-sixth and the ninety-seventh semi-annual dividends were paid to the amount of $5,705,400.00, and $4,981,253.13 was set apart from the income to provide for the difference between $3,100,000 of sinking fund 5 per cent bonds and $2,000,000 for 2 1/2 per cent gold bonds, due 1931.

The total number of miles of road operated to the end of the fiscal year was 4,801.10, and the average number was 4,292.39, against 4,762.23 operated the year previous. The average weight of the rail on the main track was 71.96 pounds to the yard, against 70.54 pounds last year.

The marshal and deputy will recover.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Union Stock Yards Company Opens Its New Western Division.

MUCH NEEDED ROOM ADDED TO YARDS

Sixty-Two More Chutes with Additional Trackage to Be Devoted to the Handling of Western Cattle.

At the Union stock yards yesterday the new chutes in the western cattle division were opened. Cattle from the west were loaded and unloaded. These new chutes, which commence at Thirty-third street and extend east to the old limits of the yards, are reported to be the best that can be built. There are sixty-two chutes in all and three tracks from the Belt Line make connections with the stock yards tracks.

All of the chutes are paved and a concrete wall protects each chute. This improvement has cost the Union Stock Yards company about $100,000. By the extension of the western lines of transportation the company will be in a position to handle the western cattle with much less congestion in the lower yards than formerly.

In addition to the new chutes there is an extra cattle division, and this will be utilized as soon as the big run of western stock commences. Two new lines into the chutes just opened are projected and the grading for the tracks has been completed. With five lines running into the new division it is expected that all cattle coming from that direction can be handled rapidly.

From the present date until April 1 these new tracks and chutes will be used almost constantly. Reports from the ranges are that the shipments of feeder stock will exceed that of other years.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

"Queen of the Highway" at the Krug.

Neither geographical conditions nor ethnological considerations are allowed to cut any figure in this latest of the Wallick productions. It evidently is not intended to instruct, merely to amuse, and the student of the drama will find it as amusing as the lover of heroes finds it entertaining. With a charming disregard for known facts, and a fidelity to the yellowback novel notion of the west, the author, whose name is given on the bill as Charles A. Taylor, has produced a concoction which contains about every criminal ingredient known to the border history, and has offset these unlovely spots with touches of heroism and devotion as magnificent as any found in the whole realm of romance. And maybe you think it doesn't "go"? Well, if you had been at the Krug last night and heard the shouts of approval and the hisses of condemnation that greeted each exhibition of the one or the other element that makes up the piece you'd change your mind. The large audience of geography which brought the plans into juxtaposition with the redwood forests; nor did it care to note the violence done to fact by setting up a Sioux Indian village in the mountains. And it enthusiastically stamped and clapped and whistled its approval of the injustice done the American cowboy, notoriously the bravest and most chivalrous of men, when the action of the play requires a bunch of dare-devil riders of the plains to refuse to undertake a perilous trip and allow a slip of a girl to ride away alone on an errand that seemed to mean certain death. In fact, all through the piece the work falls on the women, and the men folks just happen in at the right moment to make a crowd.

Miss Charlotte Severson gives the thankless part of Belle Diamond, the bandit queen, real life, and displays genuine ability in some of her scenes, especially in the third act. Alberta Lee has apparently gotten her notion of a Sioux half-breed from a dime novel, but does the part well according to her conception, and made Rainbow quite popular last night. Margaret Nelson is good as Jess Miller, the heroine of the piece. The others in the long cast, including the horses and dog, work with a will, and the action of the play is never allowed to halt. The staging has been done with the care that marks all the Wallick productions, and is really good, the settings being as natural as the story is exaggerated.
