Judge Woolworth-We certainly do. In reply to questions Appraiser Alvord said that in some cases it had been customary for both sides to the controversy to each appoint a man to make the inventory. Attorney Wright said he was willing to take this course, but Judge Woolworth objected. Mr. Wright asked him if he would permit inspection of the company's books on behalf of the city and the lawyer on the other side said he would make no agreement at the time and in that indefinite way. Chairman Mead, after a consultation of the board, stated its position as follows: "The Board feels that its rights in the mat ter are simply those delegated to it by the parties of the appraisal and that naturally fall to it from the character of its duties and that it has no right to appoint a represeniative to make an inventory of the property to be appraised unless it should be on mutual consent of both parties to the ap-

City Attorney Wright asked if the board did not think it had a right to make the appraisal itself, and Chairman Mead said: 'If the inventory is not made after a reasonable time we can, of course, make such an inventory as is necessary."

Mr. Wright suggested that it would facilitate matters to have two men employed for the purpose, but Judge Woolworth said this would lead only to further complications. Attorney Wright said:

"The inventory ought to be made speedily, and if this is not done the board should compel a showing of the books and make it themselves. Evidently President Woodbury said: "There has been no attempt to keep the inventory back. We have tried to get it done in the best possible manner and is the quickest possible way. Expert knowledge is necessary to reach a clear under standing of the things that go to make up appraiser until after September 4, and yet we cheerfully named our man three months has been submitted twenty-three days after it was requested. CHILD IN CARE OF POLICE Little Girl Deserted by Foster

Parents Unable to Find Real Mother.

Descried by her foster father, alone in he world as far as can be learned at police headquarters, little Berth Blue, a timid but brave little girl, who says she is 9 years old, awaits some disposition at the hands of the police. A year ago Bertha lived with her mother, who then was working in Council Bluffs. She was turned over to the Blue family at their request, as they were passing through Council Bluffs in a prairie schooner, bound for the western plains The Blues went only as far as Lincoln and took up a residence there. After living a year there they found that life together was no longer to their liking and Mr. Blue brought little Bertha to Omaha Sunday to try and find her mother. Not succeeding he sent Bertha over to Council Bluffs alone to hunt her. The little one failed, but found her way back to the Union station, and after sitting there for the entire day without food, patiently awaiting the return of the man who has evidently deserted her, was taken in charge by the police. What will become of little Bertha the matron, who has her in charge, is not prepared to President Woodbury-Do you object to Mr. mother, and if she is not found the little one will be turned over to some charitable

THE DELINEATOR

To-day! FOR BRIGHTEST FICTION

FOR FASHION'S LATEST FADS

What is being made abroad is told in our letters from London and Paris, and what is to be worn here this Winter is fully pictured and described in detail. Many pages are devoted to illustrations of fashionable hats, creations of the best houses, and the newest dress fabrics, trimmings and accessories. The Dressmaking and Needlework departments are invaluable to the woman who would be well gowned.

FOR HOUSEHOLD HELPS

"Household Helps" is a trite expression. Far from trite are the helps continually offered in The Delineator by able writers who suggest new thoughts in cooking, happy arrangements in furnishing and short cuts in all branches of housekeeping.

For Children's Stories and Pastimes

The Delineator's juvenile stories can be really enjoyed by children who read or are read to. The many suggestions offered keep little hands amusingly occupied, and teach while they amuse.

The world's best illustrators make the Delineator's pages attractive.

The cleverest story writers assist in making The Delineator's pages entertaining. In November Lillie Hamilton French tells of "An Interrupted Honeymoon"; Minna C. Smith of "The Little Mail Carrier"

William MacLeod Raine of "An Unpremeditated Engagement"; and then the serial story, "The Evolution of a Club Woman," about which everybody is talking, is continued.

FOR WOMAN'S SOCIAL DOINGS

Woman's clubs, her entertainments, her obligations to society, and her various occupations, are delightfully treated from various view points.

FOR ATTRACTIVE ILLUSTRATIONS

The second of J. C. Hemment's remarkable photographic articles, an uncommon story of Mr. Hemment's uncommon doings, is in the November number, and the work of Guerin, Rosenmeyer, Keller, Ashe, Lowell, Aylward, Leyendecker and Eaton appears monthly.

Order is Sent Out Because of Congested Condition in Terminals at These Two Places.

The Burlington has issued an embargo against grain shipments to or through Kanclared. Several of the officials of the freight department of the Burlington were asked concerning this matter and one of them replied:

"This is being done on account of the congested condition of the terminal yards at the points named Last year the Burlington handled 60 per cent of the grain shipped to Kansas City."

The Missouri Pacific has issued a like order, and with these two exceptions there is no embargo in Kansas City.

Two cars of raw silk passed through the city Saturday from the far east bound for New York. The material was stored in baggage cars, and it is said that the Union Pacific received $1,000 per car for handling it. The silk was scheduled to reach Nes York on a certain date and because of this fact had to be rushed through at express speed. This is unusual and has caused considerable discussion among railroad men. it being a policy of all the big roads not to

She said it was a special call from God, although her purents opposed it.

After six mouths in Chicago she came to Omaha to the Park Place house and here she took her simple vows and became a lay sister aspirant, the vows being poverty, chastity and obedience. She was made forty sisters and four workmen. After being in this institution for two years and a half she was sent to the City House in Omahs, St. Burchman's, where she had to do the work of two persons. In 1901 she Lille M. When she signed the vow it was in a refectory at the request of the mother superior and after she had written her signature the mother said to her, "You are now a child of the order and will be taken care of for life." She said that one day Mother Burke told her that the superior in Paris had ordered here to go to Canada and she was met in London by Mother Superior Sheridan, who placed her under her vow of obedience, something that had never happened before. She went to Canada in company with some members of the Choir Religiouse and she was requested not to mention the fact to anyone, for the members of this order were disgraced if they are found in the company of a common lay sister. She was head cook here until the claim of insanity was formed and then, according to her testimony, she was locked in a room.

Things went from bad to worse and the gas was turned off. Miss Archer testified that she was taken to the azylum and after being confined there for some time the things still continued to go wrong at the convent, thus establishing the fact that she was not the guilty party.

The complaints against the order were filed by F. P. Betts and Hume Cronyn and after a trial, exciting considerable interest, the girl has been proven in her right mind also been lodged against her conduct while that was the reason she was sent to Can-
