The democratic county convention held in Germania hall yesterday afternoon put in the field the slate outlined above. For the positions of county judge, sheriff and assessor there were spirited fights, but in the other nominations little interest was shown.

Lysoe I. Abbott, as had been arranged, was chairman of the convention, John T. Morley acting as secretary and James P. Ford as assistant secretary.

Den of Disorder

Mr. Abbott had his hands full handling the convention. He reduced a mass of wood to fragments endeavoring to make it serve as a gavel. Most of the disorder was stirred up by South Omahans who had set their hearts on nominating Tom Flynn for sheriff and Tom O'Connor for assessor.

There was no trouble about seating the delegates. As soon as the temporary organization was made permanent Frank A. Broadwell was renominated with a whoop for clerk of the district court. Like the other successful candidates, he was called forward and made the usual rock-ribbed speech of thanks.

John C. Drexel was named for county clerk, the position he now holds, as easy as Broadwell, but with a few more cheers. Otto Bauman of the Fifth ward, a young man who has never held public office, was handed the treasurership nomination with other vocal acclamations. He had some difficulty in getting the speech of thanks, as he had been nominated for assessor, which he had committed to memory, but he did not falter on the stage.

Nominations Thick and Fast

Nominations had been issuing at the rate of about one in five minutes, but at this juncture the horn of plenty got choked and the aspirants and their friends had to dig for the good things. For sheriff, John Power was placed in line for renomination while the First ward, Thomas J. Flynn was championed by the Third, while the Seventh ward called attention to the merits of Edward Walsh. The first ballot showed Flynn's 54 and Walsh's 13 from the Seventh.

Bonanza Semi-Anthracite Coal

No smoke, no clinkering on grates, is particularly well adapted to this climate. During mild weather, when very little fire is required, by closing all drafts Bonanza will make a slow smoldering fire, thus keeping the house at a uniform temperature, while Pennsylvania anthracite will die out entirely. Price, $3.00 per ton.

CENTRAL COAL AND COKE CO.

Merchants Meet in Omaha

The Retail Grocers' and General Merchants' association of the state met yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, when the official opening will take place. The republican primaries were the cause of the adjournment.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

During the last week of the most prominent literary societies of the school held their meetings at the high school. The A. C. S. A. senior girls' organization, the most prominent of all literary societies, was called to order by the president, Madge Mayall, and the minutes read by the secretary, Florence DeGraft, treasurer, Helen Woodward, sergeant-at-arms, Inez Carpenter, and Elsie Kewitt, vice president.

Gish for Coroner

For coroner Dr. Jacob Gish defeated James A. Taggart by 129 votes to 117, while J. E. House won out for county surveyor over M. J. Lacey by 105 to 59. John Speedy, principal of the Benson schools, had no opposition and was nominated for superintendent of schools without formality, although a "friend" tried to tell the convention that Mr. Speedy did not desire for the honor.

Hitchcock is Sanguine

About this time it was discovered that Congressman Hitchcock was in the room with his secretary, J. O. Bennet and that both of them were burdened with boxes

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Exchange of Compliments Between Mayor and President of Council.

VETO MESSAGE OF PAINTING BILL DOES IT

Mayor Uses Language to Which Mr. Zimmerman Makes Objection and Defends Himself from Accusations.

Unpleasant sounding intonations and remarks concerning "graffiti" were exchanged between Mayor Moore and President Zimmerman at the council meeting last night. The mayor's contribution came in a veto message, wherein he set his seal of disapproval on the proposed confession of judgment for $137.50 in favor of Sam Newman, the painter who did a recent job on the rooms of the council president.

Who the Candidates Are

Frank J. Broadwell, nominee for clerk of the district court, is filling that position at the present time. He resides in South Omaha and was city treasurer there before election to the clerkship. Previous to holding political office he was in the retail coal trade.

John Power is completing his second term as sheriff. He is an old resident of Omaha, Irish by birth and a cooper by trade. He lives in the First ward.

John C. Drexel, nominee for county clerk, has a long political record. He came to Nebraska from West Virginia when 1 year old. In 1881 he was elected coroner to fill an unexpired term and was kept in that position five years. He founded the Drexel shoe company in 1890 and was elected sheriff in 1891, serving a single term. When the late county clerk, Henry C. Miller, died, Drexel was named by the county board to fill the term.

Otto Bauman, the choice for treasurer, is a young man about 30 years old. He was born in Omaha of German descent and with his wife and mother in the Fifth ward. His father established what grew to be the Stora brewery.

Louis J. Piatti, named for county judge, is an Italian, but has resided in this country practically all his life. He has been in Omaha more than fifteen years and has practiced law with various partners. He was a committee clerk in the legislature of 1897. He was one of the promoters and leading spirits in the Douglas County democratic wing of the party.

N. E. Dillance, nominated for county commissioner, is an old resident of Omaha. He is in the heavy business, running a stable at Seventh and Broadway streets.

A. L. Knabe, nominee for police judge, is a young lawyer of the Third ward.

Thomas Boyd has filled a clerical position in the county clerk's office for a long time. He is interested in realty and is a member of the Real Estate exchange. This fact was urged as one of the reasons why he should be nominated for the office of county assessor.

Dr. Jacob Gish, nominee for coroner, is an Omaha boy and one of the city's young medical practitioners. His father was a pioneer physician.

J. E. House, nominee for county surveyor, is an old-time civil engineer. He served as chief of the county surveyor a decade ago. He lives in the Fourth ward.

Upon motion of Councilman Evans all city hall employees will get a half holiday this afternoon to view the floral parade.

PROVING MARRIAGE CONTRACT

Defense Has Its Inning in the Frymire Murder Case at Stockville.

STOCKVILLE, Neb., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. W. D. Frymire, the foster mother of the defendant in the Frymire murder case, Pearl Hawkins, his cousin, were on the stand yesterday to prove the existence and observance of the marriage contract between Frymire and the dead girl.

The defendant was put on the stand. He related all of the circumstances of the affair between him and Thelma Gidsonburg. He told a straight forward story that varied from the state's witnesses only in regard to conversations he had held and threats it was alleged he made. The cross-examination was short and did not alter the testimony.

The defense hope to clear their client from the charge made by proving that the shooting was accidental and will introduce expert testimony to show that an operation was not necessary, and was really the cause of Mrs. Polk's death.

OMAHA HOME OF FIREMEN

Gate City Wins Contest for Location of International Association.

SELECTED OVER SEVERAL OTHER CITIES

Order Will Enter Upon Vigorous Campaign to Increase Membership—Engineers Meet Here Next Year.

Omaha has been made the official headquarters of the International Association of Stationary Firemen as reported by The Bee some weeks ago it would be. The general offices have been transferred from Toledo, O. A number of western cities were candidates for this important post, but none was able to offer as attractive conditions as Omaha, which has become nationally prominent as the center of organized labor.

Largely through the efforts of C. L. Schamp, international secretary and treasurer of this order, who formerly was a resident of Omaha, did this city secure this concession. Mr. Schamp is in the city now, selecting a headquarters building and a private home for his family.

The advent of the general headquarters in Omaha will mean much to the printers of the city, as like all other such institutions the international requires an enormous amount of printing every year. Another very important feature of the affair is the large staff of clerks and employees which the order will bring here, all of whom must become residents.

To Enlarge Order. In addition to the removal of the headquarters further west to better facilitate the movement for the increase in membership, which will now be carried on with unceasing industry. This will necessitate a larger number of employees than before. Several buildings for a headquarters are under consideration and one will be decided on in a few days.
