(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Oct. 8 .- (Special.) -- Ex-Marshall W. A. Richards of Creston was released on bond late this afternoon, and will not be in the penitentiary pending his appeal to the supreme court. The interest in the bond question was almost as great as in the trial, for the former friends of Richards who had been on his bond before his conviction had refused to again become responsible for his actions and it was generally believed he would not be able to secure his bonds. This afternoon the aged father of Richards, a wealthy farmer of Warren county, finally consented to go on his bond. He qualified for $10,000 and gave bond for half the sum, which released Richards. As soon as he was re leased he was immediately rearrested or account of a fine of $300 for running a liquor nuisance at Hamilton in connection with his brother, which fine was imposed last winter.
