Convention of Club Women.

The second annual convention of the club women of the Ninth Iowa congressional district will be held in this city Tuesday and Wednesday, December 1 and 2. Mrs. Thomas Metcalf, chairman of the local committee on arrangements, will call a meeting of the members of the various clubs some day this week, at which time committees will be appointed.

The district meeting was to have been held at Atlantic during the early part of November, the Cass county town having been selected at the first district meeting held last year in Red Oak. Owing to the inability of the club women of Atlantic to entertain the convention Mrs. Nash of Audubon, chairman of the district, asked that Council Bluffs do the entertaining. It is estimated that the convention will bring about 100 of the leading club women of the district to Council Bluffs. Mrs. Fletcher of Marshalltown, president of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs, will be in attendance.

Reactor for Grace Church.

Announcement was made at yesterday morning's service at Grace Episcopal church that Rev. Theodore T. Brookes of Chicago had accepted the call to the rectorship of the church and that he expected to arrive in the city Friday and be prepared to fill the pulpit next Sunday. Grace church has been without a rector since the resignation of Rev. R. K. Kneass, two years ago. Services have, however, been continued every Sunday, conducted by E. J. Abbott, lay reader. Rev. Brookes has been engaged in pastoral work in Chicago for a number of years and comes to Grace church highly recommended by Bishop Morrison.

Want Better Mail Service.

Members of the newly organized West End Improvement club do not intend to let the grass grow under their feet and if the Fifth and Sixth wards do not get their share of public benefits it will not be through any fault of the club. The club is now agitating the need of improved postal service for the western part of the city. More frequent delivery is requested and the need of a sub-station is being urged upon Postmaster Hagopian and Congressman Smith, who have been asked to take the matter up with the postal authorities in Washington. The club suggests that two additional mounted carriers be assigned for the western part of the city.

BRIGHT FOR REPUBLICANS

Encouraging Reports from County Come in to Chairman Wright.

EXPECTS LARGER VOTE THAN LAST YEAR

State Committee Promises Speech Either from Senator Doolittle or Secretary Shaw During Campaign.

"Reports from the precinct committees throughout the county which are reaching me daily indicate a much larger republican majority in Pottawattamie county this year than at the last election," was the statement of County Chairman George S. Wright yesterday. The reports of the committees, Mr. Wright stated further, were being substantiated by the poll now being taken throughout the county. While the result of the November election was never in doubt, everything now points to an increased republican majority and the election of the republican county ticket from top to bottom.

The speech of Governor Cummins at the big republican rally at Ames, which Friday reached here, has created considerable enthusiasm in the east end of the county and politics in that section is beginning to hum. L. G. Consigney, the republican candidate for treasurer, whose home is in Avoca, was a conspicuous figure at the rally there and was given a rousing reception. The democrats are centering their efforts to try to elect Brooks Reed treasurer and are willing to sacrifice everything else, except maybe their candidate for sheriff. Mr. Consigney's election, however, was assured from the day he was nominated and reports from all over the county show that it is but a matter of how big a majority Mr. Consigney has long been one of the leading business men of the east end of the county and is not only well known as such in Council Bluffs, but throughout the entire state.

County Chairman Wright will arrange shortly for a rally at Treynor, at which Congressman Smith has consented to speak. Several other meetings will be held later throughout the county at which State Senator Saunders will be the principal speaker. Mr. Wright is in receipt of another letter from Secretary Dawson of the state speakers' bureau giving assurance that arrangements can be made for either Senator Doolittle or Secretary Shaw to speak in Council Bluffs. Mr. Dawson writes, however, that the date, owing to previous arrangements for both these speakers, must necessarily be toward the end of the campaign. This is perfectly satisfactory to Chairman Wright, who was anxious that if a big meeting be held in this city and a prominent speaker secured that it be towards the close of the campaign.

So far the campaign has been to a great extent conducted by the candidates themselves. Ed Canning, the republican candidate for sheriff, has everywhere throughout the county met with a flattering reception and indications are that he will poll a considerable number of democratic votes on election day. The democratic county ticket this fall is made up of men who with but few exceptions are old office seekers and there are a great number of democrats who feel that now blood should have been shed in the county instead of nominating the old perennial war horses who have year after year gone down in defeat.

Denies Doing Shooting.

John Galbraith, the colored waiter who assaulted Eugene Brown, another colored waiter at the Grand hotel Saturday was lodged in the county jail last evening. He will have a hearing before Justice Carson this morning, an information charging him with assault with intent to kill having been filed against him by Brown. Galbraith was arrested in Omaha late Saturday night as he was about to take a train for Kansas City, Kan. He readily consented to return to Council Bluffs without requisition papers. Galbraith denies using his revolver and claims that after he struck Brown with the water bottle either Brown or another waiter, a patron of Brown's, who had been attracted to the pantry by the noise of the quarrel, shot at him. Galbraith alleges that Brown first started the trouble between them and that two nights before the fracas Brown struck him over the head with a heavy glass jug.

WILL LIVE IN A WOODSHED

Waverly Millionaire Gives Fine Residence for Hospital and Moves Into Shed.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Oct. 11.—How many men who have acquired a fortune by practicing the most rigid economy in their younger days could abandon their palatial residence in old age to live in a woodshed? That is what Abraham Slinger, known throughout Iowa as the "Waverly philanthropist," intends to do. The woodshed which Mr. Slinger will move into will be made into two rooms, a bedroom and dining room. He wants to live alone and cook his own meals. He declares that he was never reached the true state of happiness in this world—contentment in simplicity.

During the past few years Mr. Slinger has given more money to charitable institutions than any other man in Iowa. He is said to be worth more than $1,000,000 and it is his purpose to give this fortune in various sums to the needy institutions of the state before he dies. Like Mr. Carnegie, he considers it a disgrace to die rich.

Two years ago Mr. Slinger offered to give up his mansion at Waverly to the Sisters of Charity to be used as a hospital. The sisters were not in a position to accept the offer at that time, but recently they notified Mr. Slinger that if the offer still held good they would accept it. The philanthropist received his offer and then began the remodeling of his woodshed into a domicile. The palatial residence is also undergoing transformation and when the improvements are completed Waverly will have the first hospital in its history.

CHARGED WITH WIFE MURDER

Analysis of Stomach of Dead Woman Shows It Contained Arsenic.

ELDORA, Ia., Oct. 11.—Ebeneszer S. Blydenburg, who was arrested here last night, charged with the murder of his wife, was released today under $10,000 bonds. Mrs. Blydenburg died on May 22 last and the remains were taken to Wauson, O., for interment. Her death was sudden and occurred a few months after her marriage to Blydenburg. At the instigation of the dead woman's sister the remains were exhumed and the stomach was sent to Ann Arbor, Mich., where Prof. V. C. Vaughan made an analysis of the contents. He reported that he found enough arsenic to have caused death.

The dead woman was fifteen years older than Blydenburg, owned a valuable Iowa farm, of which Blydenburg now has possession. She was Blydenburg's third wife. They were married at Wauson, O., where Blydenburg was prominent in Sunday school work.

Blydenburg's second wife is said to have died in Brooklyn, N. Y., in May, 1901, and it is stated that she was insured for $7,000. Before her marriage she was Miss Goddard and lived at 293 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn.

During his residence in Eldora Blydenburg has manifested great zeal in religious work and his arrest has caused much comment here.

Northwest Iowa Teachers.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Oct. 11.—The Northwest Teachers' association will hold a three days' session at Mason City, beginning October 15. The most prominent educators in the state will attend. It is expected that the convention will be the most largely attended in years. Prof. Edwin Earle Sparks of Chicago university will take an active part in the proceedings.

Attempt to Wreck Train.

DANVILLE, Va., Oct. 11.—An attempt was made this afternoon to wreck a passenger train on the Norfolk division of the Southern, about three miles east of this city. The track had been piled with cross-ties and a dispatch. The train was running slowly, and but for this fact, a disastrous wreck probably would have occurred. There is a suspicion that there is a spread of train wrecking in this section and it has been an open secret that the railroad company believe the wreck of the last mail train three weeks ago was caused by an obstruction placed on the track at the bridge.

Old Friendship is Valuable.

The story of how a friendship of the long ago came to the aid of a worthy southern woman in her hour of deep distress and made it possible for her to rescue her wayward son from the penitentiary has been but partially told in brief dispatches from Fort Madison. About two months ago Warden Jones of the state penitentiary at Fort Madison received a call from a pale-faced, sorrowing woman, who said she lived in New Orleans and she asked for an interview with one J. W. Sanders, a young convict of 18, confined in the prison. The interview was granted and for the first time in six years mother and son stood face to face and recognized each other. It was a sad day for the woman. She told her story pathetically. She was of a fine southern family, in which there had been a number of professional men of high standing, in New Orleans. The family was in comfortable circumstances and lived at ease with the world. Their son was a promising youth in the high school, when at the age of 12 he suddenly disappeared. He left no clue to his plans or purposes. The parents sought for him long and vainly and finally commenced to advertise in the newspapers. They inserted advertisements all over the country and spent much money in this way. Then they formed connection with detective agencies. They sent out thousands of circulars containing a description of the boy and his portrait and offering a reward for information concerning him. Many times they thought they had clue to the boy, but each time they were disappointed. They spent nearly all their small fortune in this search, but had resolved to prosecute it for all time. One day a detective in the Pinkerton office in Chicago scanned the portraits of the missing boy and recognized the face of the last boy. Investigation was made, which showed this to be true, and the mother was informed of the fact.

Efforts to Secure Release.

The New Orleans mother, while overjoyed at finding her son even though he was a convict, set about to secure his release. Here is where she was fortunate, in that she had enjoyed the acquaintance of Governor Stephen B. Packard when he was in New Orleans as the governor of Louisiana in the reconstruction period. She recalled that Governor Packard is now a resident of Iowa and has been for many years and she immediately sought him out and found him ready to assist her in every way.

Young Sanders was sent, with two other men, in possession of certain stolen silks taken from the Gillett store in Atlanta, Ga. They were arrested and indicted for conspiracy to commit larceny. Sanders immediately pleaded guilty to escape the disclosure of his identity and the others stood trial, but were afterwards convicted. The evidence tended to show that Sanders was guilty of little more than being in bad company. He had received a three-year sentence. This was in December last. Warden Jones reported that he was a model prisoner and worthy of clemency.

The judge signed a petition for his release. The county attorney at first refused to sanction it, but later endorsed the petition. Mr. Gillett was satisfied with Sanders released. Governor Cummins signed the suspension of sentence and the boy was released on December 15.

Mrs. Sanders, though that is not her name, which is concealed because of her prominence in her home, stated while in Des Moines that she had completely changed her view of the character of Iowa people. She had had a southern woman's notions of the people of the north, but she had discovered that Iowa people, and especially Iowa officials, are sympathetic and that they have hearts that may be touched by a mother's love. She was high in her praise of all who were concerned in the affair and went home with her young man very happy. Indeed, she stated, however, that but for the friendship of Governor Packard she felt that she would hardly have been able to accomplish his mission to Iowa.

Judge Deemer's Sister Dead.

Justice Deemer of the state supreme court has been absent from his place on the bench the past week and yesterday attended the funeral of his sister, Miss Mary A. Deemer, at Red Oak, Ia. She was 42 years old and a native of Indiana. She had taught school for seven years in Lincoln and for a time in Beatrice, but had been living several years with her aged parents in Red Oak.
