Ex-Governor Boles Writes a Letter. Some additional interest has been added well known views in regard to the tariff and to trusts. He takes strong grounds against any protective tariff and declares that protection for industries is a thing of the past and a tariff to raise money to pay off a national debt is no longer needed. He calls attention to the fact as he views it, that in this campaign the thing of greatest importance is the tariff and that if Iowa, an agricultural state, shows an inclination to recede from the protective position it will be a sign to the country that the farmers are opposed to the high tariff position. The governor was invited to take part in the campaign, but wrote this letter in its stead. It will be widely circulated by the democratic com-
