Mr. Dresser said: "Now you will ask me what I did say?"

Mr. Utermeyer, attorney for the bondholders, told the witness to go on and tell what he had seen, and the witness went on.

stock from $30,000 to $45,000,000 and the proposal from John W. Young for the sale of the Bethlehem property, but the witness could give no details as to the meetings.

Says Schwab Wrecked Company.

"I went over this shipping matter with Charles Harris six weeks ago. I told him then that the wrecking of the shipbuilding company was due to Mr. Schwab withholding the profits of Bethlehem instead of letting them go into the shipbuilding company where they belonged."

"Did you say anything to Mr. Schwab about his liability in this matter?" asked Mr. Utermeyer.

"No, I did not," said the witness, "that is a legal question and I knew nothing about it."

Mr. Dresser said that when he undertook the shipbuilding project for the Trust Company of the Republic he believed that $5,000,000 had been subscribed in France.

"In the course of his testimony Mr. Dresser mentioned the names of Herbert L. Satterlee, C. W. Wetmore, George R. Shelton and several other members of the reorganization committee."

"After the afternoon Mr. Dresser testified that he protested against the terms of the taking over of the shipbuilding interests of the Trust Company of the Republic by the Shelton syndicate, because he believed the terms to be unfair."

"The witness testified that when he told Max Tam that he, Dresser, was compelled to make an assignment, Tam told him that he must resign at once from the shipbuilding board. Mr. Dresser said that 'Mr. Tam was running the whole company.'"

One Ignorant Director. Mr. Dresser was succeeded on the stand by George P. Dalley, assistant treasurer of the Corporation Trust company of New Jersey and one of the resident directors in New Jersey of the shipbuilding company.

Mr. Dalley testified that he had asked him to act as a director, but understood that the arrangement was made by Alexander & Green, with the New York branch of his company. He said a single share of stock had been bought for him in order that he might qualify, but did not know who had paid for it or how it had been paid for.

After much fencing he said he did not have a personal bank account at the time he acquired the qualifying share. He remembered attending at least two meetings, but kept referring Mr. Utermeyer to the minutes for information as to what had been done at the meetings. He had not visited any of the plants and had not ordered an appraisal of property and, while he admitted that he and his fellow directors in New Jersey knew nothing of the shipbuilding business, except such information as related to the documents laid before him. He would not admit he was merely a dummy director. He finally said, however, that he and the others acted on the direction of the attorneys for the company. He knew of the Union Iron works, through the press, but did not know where the Bath Iron works are.

Mr. Utermeyer introduced the meeting records showing the increase of the capital

GOVERNMENT SPRINGS BIG SURPRISE

Stenographer Who Was Concealed in Room When One Defendant Made Statement to Superior Reads Record of Interview.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 14.—Standing room was in demand in the United States district court room on the second day of the trial of Miller and Johns for conspiracy to extort a bribe in connection with the recently exposed postal frauds. Nine witnesses were examined today and the government has taken the case to the jury.

Court was in session today from 9 a. m. until after 5 p. m. The principal witnesses were Ryan and the officials from Washington. The defense was not taken by surprise until in the afternoon, when the stenographic reports of the private secretary of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Briaw and of General Robb of interviews with Miller were introduced as evidence.

Joseph T. Watson, secretary and stenographer to the fourth assistant postmaster general, testified to being concealed in the office while General Robb and Chief Inspector Cochran had their first interview with Miller about the report of postoffice inspectors regarding the decisions in the Ryan case and the discovery of his relations with Johns. He then read from his original stenographic notes all that was said during the two hours and more that these officials were thus questioning Miller regarding the case.

GOSSIP ON COMMISSION ROW Egg Market Depends Entirely on Weather—Butter Weaker—Bass on the Market.

The egg market all depends on the weather, so say the hens. Ordinary stock now brings an 18-cent wholesale figure and fancy eggs are 20 cents. If the sky continues blue and the weather of no bricker degree the hens, and especially the pullets, are going to continue on this lay until much later in the season and the price of eggs will, under those conditions, go down. No hen is going to work in damp, cold weather, however, so it is strictly a weather market.

Butter market is going in for a tonic. It is weaker. The report comes from New York that there has been a drop of 1/2 cent lately, the difficulty being the very heavy deliveries over 14,000 packages in one day. As New York sets the fashion for the local market, there is just now little demand for the low grade butter. Creameries are marked for 2 cents, dairies, in individual tubs, 15 to 17 cents and the plain butter just cents.

The black bass have been welcome enough during the last week or so and the lovers of game fish have been happy. The bass of two pounds or a little less is the popular fish, as he is just the proper size for serving in the restaurants. Now they have bass from down south that weight as much as ten pounds, especially those that drop off the hook when they are too large for anything but family feasting of the sort Mr. Roosevelt admires. So they are not in much demand. Take it all in all, the right sized bass are scarce, the trouble being the game laws which limit the catch. A nice line of bullheads are now supplying the market at 11 cents from the wholesale dealers. Catfish hold themselves at 14 cents, as being superior fish.

DIRECTORS OF SHORT LINE Changes Are Made in Board for Convenience in Securing a Quorum.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 14.—Three new directors were elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, held in this city today. The new members of the board are: W. V. S. Thorne, James H. Hyde and Paul Warburg, all of New York. They succeeded T. J. Coolidge, Jr., of Boston and F. B. Bates and W. E. Glynn of New York, resigned.

Secretary Miller says the changes are made simply for convenience in securing a quorum at board meetings. The meeting adjourned until November 2, when all the stockholders and directors of the Oregon Short Line are invited to come to Utah and be present at the opening of the Southern Pacific's out-off across the Great Salt Lake. The board of directors, as now constituted follows: Oliver Ames, Boston; H. G. Burt, Omaha; Samuel Carr, Boston; W. D. Cornish, New York; Edwin Gould, New York; George J. Gould, Lakewood, N. J.; E. H. Harriman, Arden, N. Y.; J. H. Hyde, New York; Otto H. Kahn, Morristown, N. J.; Gardner M. Lane, Boston; W. S. McCormick, Salt Lake City; Oliver W. Mink, Boston; W. S. Pierce, New York; W. V. S. VENEZUELAN ARE ANGRY

Charge Umpires as Being Corrupt for Deciding Against Their Country.

SPANISH MINISTER TO LEAVE CARACAS

Made Subject of Jest and Charged with Accepting Bribe for Awarding Money to Mexican Claimant.

WILLEMSTAD, Island of Curacao, Oct. 14.—Passengers arriving here from Caracas, Venezuela, confirm the reports of attacks made by the government newspapers on the umpires of the mixed tribunals, who have given decisions adverse to Venezuela. The passengers add that the conduct of President Castro and the official press shows that Venezuela does not understand the respect due to the mixed tribunals and umpires, and say it was a mistake to elect Caracas as the seat of the tribunals.

When Minister Bowen's Mexican protocol was signed, the king of Spain, as required, appointed Senor Gaytan de Ayala, the Spanish minister to Venezuela, as Mexican umpire and Venezuela was pleased, but the newspapers of Caracas have recently insulted him, owing to his having rendered a verdict in favor of Mexico. Senor Ayala, who is rich and independent, could not be suspected of partiality, but in spite of this the Caracas press, when he rendered his verdict, caricatured him, representing the minister with bags of silver in his hands and saying that "the balance of Justice went to the side of Mexico in consequence of the weight of money which Mexico gave him."

Charges Bad Faith. Another paper representing the Spanish minister as an ass sitting in an umpire's chair, El Nacional, the organ of General Hernandez, the Venezuelan minister at Washington, which has been the most bitter in its attacks on foreigners, on one occasion said: "The award in the outcome of rancor, due to the conduct of Venezuela toward the Spanish consul at La Guayra, or of bad faith, or ignorance. Incidentally, it is stated on good authority that General Iribarren, the Venezuelan commissioner, recognized the validity of the Mexican claim, which was approved by the minister of finance. President Castro alone opposed it."

Another paper of Caracas said: "It is strange that Mexico, of the same race, language, continent, religion and history, should dare to ask money from her sister republic, Venezuela."

Finally the Spanish minister became so incensed that he decided to leave Caracas October 2. He turned over the Spanish legation to the secretary, Senor J. Gil Delgado, and made his preparations to embark for Spain October 10. The passengers from Caracas said that as a result of President Castro's policy trade in Venezuela was stagnant, the people having no confidence in his administration.

Prices on the stock exchange are daily falling and complications are feared after the closing of the mixed tribunals.

METHODISTS ON MORMONISM Utah, It is Said, Needs Missionaries More Than Any Other Place.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Three interesting meetings were held here today by the local missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Academy of Music. Bishop Cyrus D. Foss of this city presided. The general topic of the day was "The Difficulties in the World's Evangelization," divided into several subjects as: At Home, Abroad, in Europe, in Latin America, and in the deserts of the West. Three sessions were taken up with singing, scriptural reading and prayer.

One of the principal addresses of the morning session was that of the Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, assistant corresponding secretary of the missionary society, who spoke on home missionary work. He devoted most of his address to the negro question and gave it as his opinion that in Christian missionary work at home was the solution of the race problem. "The black man has claims upon us to which we cannot be indifferent. He constitutes more than one-tenth of our population and he is dying out like the red man, not committing suicide like the white man, but in increasing and multiplying."

He believed that the gospel was not only the surest but the cheapest way in the end of solving the race problem "where men can say as Christians 'brother and brother.' In his power, he added "will be necessary to constrain them to dwell in peace and unity."

Dr. Carroll attacked Mormonism. He said a Methodist has almost as much faith in the religion of Moslem as in that of Mormon, and in his history was fraught with violence and crime. "There is no people among our citizens more in need of the gospel than Utah and the Mormons. It is the plague spot of our civilization, the open sore of our body."

Rev. J. E. Helms of Morgan Memorial church, Boston, also spoke on home missions. He declared that trades unions should be Christianized. "If we were wise," he said, "we should see to it that from our schools and seminaries every year we would send missionaries into these great labor organizations to make them Christians. Here is open a wonderful opportunity for which the church thus far has been blind."

MAE WOOD DENIES STORY Says that Reports of Suit Against New York Senator Are False.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Miss Mae C. Wood, to whom has been attributed the purpose of instituting a suit for breach of promise of marriage against Senator T. C. Platt on the eve of his marriage with Mrs. Janeway of Washington, arrived at the Manhattan hotel this afternoon from Ontario county, New York, where she had been at the bedside of a sick relative. Miss Wood expressed herself in terms of indignation regarding the publication of rumors and said she was not interested in any person's matrimonial affairs. The only persons who are apt to get into trouble, she added, are those who are at the bottom of those silly rumors.

When asked if she knew Senator Platt she said: "Of course I know him. I have known him for several years. He has always been friendly to me and I esteem him highly. I regret the publication of these ridiculous stories as very unfortunate and distressing."

To a reporter Senator Platt said: "I have seen the statements about Miss Wood in newspapers and regret that anything should have been published to her discredit. Of course all the suggestions regard to lawsuits are absurd and I have never known Miss Wood for a long time and with the senators from her own state recommended her for a position in the Postoffice department. So far as I know she has performed her duties satisfactorily. I regard her as a lady of fine attainments."

AMONG THE RAIL. What a Railway Mail Clerk Found.

Strange tales are told of what men in the U. S. Railway Mail—service some times find.

There was one clerk, hungry and downhearted who found a food hint one night in the following way: "For months I suffered from chronic indigestion, impoverished blood and shattered nerves caused by the improper selection of food. Was in the habit of making a breakfast of coarse and pasty food accompanied by the free use of coffee and these combined to almost shatter my digestive organs."

"I was employed in the Railway Mail service and assigned to duty on a night train where it was necessary to eat at irregular hours during the night. Everything I ate no matter how light nor how fastidious, but when the work seemed darkest to me I read among a sack of mail the words 'Grape Nuts' and wondered if it was something good to eat. Arriving at the end of my run I bought a package, and nothing ever tasted better; from that day I began to gain mentally and physically. I gained 12 pounds in two months on Grape-Nuts food and kept on steadily increasing my weight to 147 pounds."

"Grape-Nuts improved and staided my brain and nerve powers so that I was able to pass my next examination with a good grade and soon got a promotion and was changed to a daylight run; there is no doubt in the world that I owe my advance in position and improved health to the proper food Grape-Nuts in place of improper food. The name is given by Dr. C. C. Battle, Chgo. Ill."

VICTIM OF BRUTAL ASSAULT Michael Donnelly Has Narrow Escape from Murder in Chicago. TRUE REASON FOR HIS ILLNESS Detectives Locate Men Guilty of the Attack and Are Now Hunting for the Instigators of the Crime. CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Michael Donnelly, international president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchermen, lies at his home recovering from a vicious assault that was alleged to have been instigated by the labor leaders, who are opposing his attempts to purify the Chicago Federation of Labor. Donnelly was attacked on the night of September 23, while returning from a meeting of the Packing Trades council, the central trades union body of the stock yards. For ten days the doctors expressed little hope of his recovery and gave out a report that he was suffering from physical break down caused by overwork. Private detectives were set to work and they have just announced that the guilty men are known and will be arrested as soon as the instigators of the assault are known. Asked to Keep Hands Off. When Donnelly on July 5 charged the secretary of a large employers' association with "fixing" labor leaders he was told by outside parties to "keep his hands off." He continued the fight, and as a result charges were made against several of the most important officials of trades unions in the city. Then came threats of personal violence, but these Donnelly ignored, declaring that he would clear up the case at any cost. The attack on Donnelly came just at the opening of a series of conferences between the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and the packing interests of the country. Donnelly was to have spoken for the men and all knew that absence from the meeting would mean demoralization. His close advisers and the officials of the union realized this and gave out the report that he was temporarily ill. Vice President C. B. Schmidt of the union, took his place at the head of committee which dealt with the particulars and the men were pacified with the information that he was working under Donnelly's orders.
