Decatur Man Victor in Live Sird Shoot at Omaha Tourney.

GETS TWENTY-FOUR OUT OF TWENTY-FIVE

Several of World's Best Shots, Among Them Crosby and Hirschy, Partielpate in the Content.

The annual amateur tournament of the Omaha Gun club came to a close yesterday. The live bird shoot, which was the crowning event of the tourney, was won by Chauncey Powers of Decatur, Ill., who winged awenty-four birds out of a possible to enty-five.

the tourney was participated in by the lead ng sportsmen of the United States, insome of the shooters who represented the United States in its recent con- 15.00 test with England. Live Bird Event Big Feature.

The live bird event was the big feature of the present tourney. In order to make it an even affair, the s oters were handleapped according to heir records as shootens. The handlaps ranged all the way from the two to twenty-seven yards. Timer of the event was handleapped he limit and shot at thirty-two yards, but was still able to come out of the contest with the best record of the day. His work again demonstrated the truth of the popular belief that thirteen is an unlucky number, for the thirteenth bird is the only one Powers missed out of the twenty-five. The shooters were handlcapped at the fol-

TRADE WITH CHINA IS NOW AT STAKE

Report of Secretary Says that Seisure of Manchurin is Step in Partition of China Injurious to America.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 .- At the annual neeting of the American Asiatic association today President Webb in his address called attention to the completion of the Pacific cable and the signing of the new treaty with China. Both events, be said, were of great benefit to the country. In connection with the China situation he said that the attitude of some of the European powers, Russia in particular, should be at present a cause for much solicitude, and he advised the emphatic expression of views on this subject to the administration.

The commercial situation, he said, was generally disappointing, the political uncertainties in Japan tending to make merchants and financial interests cautious, while in China political confusion combined with the advance in silver has made mercantile venture too much of a lottery for the progress of trade.

The report of the secretary, John Foord, also laid emphasis on the Manchurian situation, stating that, in defiance of agreement, the foreign administration of New Chwang, with all its injurious consequences to American trade, and the occupation by Russin's Demands Unjust.

"The nature of the demands formulated as conditions precedent to withdrawai," the report went on to say, "suggests that they have been purposely made impossible of acceptance in order to justify a continued occupation. The report continues:

The time has evidently come for the government and people of the United States to recognize and accept the full measure of their responsibility in dealing with this question That the substitution of Russia for Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria simply means the beginning of the partition of the Chinese empire does not admit of doubt; that the United States has nothing to gain but very much to lose from the development of China among the great powers of Europe needs no demonstration. The question immediately before our government is the preservation of an open market for American products in Manchuria, and it has been intimated that so long as our commercial rights there, secured by treaty with China, are respected by the power in possession, we can have no ground for effective protest. But the Manchurian market, existing or potential, important as it is, must not be reckoned as constituting but a small part of the field for the sale of our products presented by the Chinese empire.

If the future of the greater market depends absolutely, as your committee believes it does, on the process of the dismemberment of that empire being peremptorily arrested and Russia being compelled to abide by the solemn stipulations on this point, which she has no where made so copiously as in Washington, then our government is face to face with a larger and graver question than that of the security of the open door for commerce in Manchuria. The fact must be recognized that if all these stipulations are to be disregarded at the pleasure or the caprice of the power which offered them, that power must be deemed unworthy of further confidence or belief, and any assurances made in in the second of the power which offered them, that power loan trade in Manchuria must be considered as worthless as those which preceded them.

In this connection the report held that of acceptance in order to justify a continued occupation. The report continues:

In this connection the report held that

Vladisvostok had, in defiance of assurances of the Russian minister, become a closed America Must Hold Markets. American trade in Manchuria and in the eighteen provinces in China south of the great wall," the report continued, "is the larger question of the position of the United States as one of the great powers of the Pacific with an interest in the development of its commerce; closer and more vital than that of any other industrial nation."

The acquisition of the Philippines and the onstruction of the isthmian canal would be meaningless if the trade of Asia is not to figure largely in calculations for the future commercial development of this country, Mr. Foord declared that this government must act now with unmistakable decision if its interests in eastern Asia are ever to be held worth action. He recommended that these considerations be brought to the attention of the government and also the vigorous prosecution of popular education on the subject. To the condition of political uncertainty and suspense due to the policy of Russia in the far east, he attributed, in conclusion, the protracted depression of the American export trade with China.

The association elected the following ofloers: President, Silus D. Webb of New York; vice presidents, Lowell Lincoln of New York, John H. Converse of Philadelphia. Everett N. Bee of San Francisco, S. G. Hopkins of Washington, John B. Cleveland of Spartanburg, S. C., E. C. Potter of Chicago and Ellison A. Smythe of Peizer, N. C.; treasurer, James S. Fearon of New York; secretary, John Foord of Preighton college eleven and the kickers New York, executive committee, terms expiring in 1906, Francis B. Thurber, Thomas A. Phelan, James R. Morse and Charles A. Conant, all of New York.

> HIGH SCHOOL GAME IS OFF Will Not Play Lincoln This Week Owing to Disability of Some

Owing to the disabled condition of the high school team Coach Capell ordered the cancellation of the scheduled game with Lincoln Saturday. The team will be saved for the struggle with York a week hence. This does not mean, however, that hard practice is interfered with, for the team spent forty minutes Thursday afternoon bucking the Commercial college team on the high school field, and arduous daily practices always occupy the hour after school.

school. In the game against Harlan last Saturday Caprain Thompson sustained serious internal injuries which will prevent his further playing this season. Several other men were hurt, so that, while the team will be in fine shape in a week, it was deemed advisable to postpone Saturday's game with Lincoln and the final day for the game was set for Thanksgiving.

Bellevue Scrubs Win BELLEVUE. Neb., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—
Today's game between the Creighton university and Bellevue college second teams, played on the Bellevue gridiron at 3:20, was rairly even, but there was a slight superiority in the Bellevue eleven from start to finish. Creighton kicked off, but owing to the strong ride wind the ball went off the field into the ravine. Other attempts made to kick in the first part of the game ended similarly.

The ball was then worked back and forth across the field until in the early part of the second haif Murtough carried it across for Hellevue, but falled to kick a difficult goal. This was the only score made in the Shellidy and Murtough played the best game for Beilevue, while Coad at quarter-back, slithough light, did the best work for Creighton. Lineup:

WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHARITY

The October meeting of the local chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at the home of Mrs. Samuel Recee or Monday afternoon, the attendance being large. The early part of the moeting was given over to final arrangements for the entertainment of the coming state conference, to be held in Omaha next week on Monday and Tuesday. Monday will be devoted to business, but Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Charles Fairbanks of Indiana, presi dent general of the national society, who will be the guest of honor, will deliver an address to which the public is invited. The meetings will be held at Metropolitan club. Tuesday evening the local chapter will give a reception to the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, the committee having planned to make it a most elaborate affair. It is expected that the conference will be well attended, there being six chapters in the state, the Omaha, Lincoln, Fairbury, Fremont, Ord and Beatrice chapters. In addition to the president general and the many prominent women of the state, the conference is to be honored by the presence of a member of the national board, Mrs. J. Heron Crosman of New York, who will be the guest of Mrs. S. D. Barkalow, Mrs. Fairbanks to be the guest of Mrs. J. W. Griffith. Monday afternoon's meeting closed with a program the feature of which was a paper by Miss Adams of the high school on "Columbus," October 12 having been the $11th anniversary

Dr. W. O. Henry will address the Sunday afternoon gospel meeting of the Young Russia of the eastern provinces, were still Women's Christian association on "The Holy Lands." All women are invited to the meeting, which begins at 4:30 o'clock.

One day last week there were 1,200 people at the rooms, and never a day passes but they are taxed to accommodate the women who come there for rest or lunch-and still one hears the question, "Does the association really need a new building?" It is at such times as Carnival week, the holidays, when excursions are passing through town and in fact all of the time that Omaha needs some place where transcient as well as resident women may go for such refreshment. Other cities have adequate provision of this kind and its lack in Omaha, because of this, is all the more noticeable to the hundreds of women who every year spend a few days or hours in the city and go to the Young Women's Christian association rooms

The daily average in the lunch room is something over 600, but frequently the number greatly exceeds that. Last Thursday 737 women were served at noon and 360 at supper. While the rooms are largely selfsupporting, the meals are served at a rate so low that it only covers the expense, the services of the women who do the serving being given to the association, different members taking turns each week. There are few cities that can boast of a better conducted association than Omaha, but there are also few that have as cramped quarters and poor facilities with which to meet what is demanded of them in this line. All members of the association are invited to a gymnasium rally Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The noon meetings at the factories, under the leadership of the extension secretary. have begun for the winter.

At a well attended meeting Monday afternoon at St. Catherine's academy, the Home Queens' Circle was reorganized, Mrs. A. The club women of Pennsylvania have begun a campaign in earnest in the interest of a child labor law. The question is to be the most important that is to come before the state convention this fall and local committees have been appointed to report on the conditions in Pittsburg and other places where children are employed in numbers. The following is the recom- of the jury and left the court room accommendation of the general federation concerning child labor cerning child labor:

The committee earnestly requests that the women's clubs throughout the country aid the cause of child labor by securing information as to the number of working children between the ages of 10 and 14 whose mothers are widows, and the number of those mothers who are in any wise dependent upon the earnings of their children, and also the amount of the wages of the child. The committee requests those clubs who wish to do more to take the following action: Whenever possible to persuade the children thus employed to return to school, undertaking to pay the amount of the weekly wage which the child formerly earned to his widowed mother every Saturday night, upon presentation of a certificate signed by the child's teacher testifying to his regular school attendance the entire five days of the previous week; the money to be called and regarded as a scholarship. It is hoped that the investigation will be undertaken during the club season, and that the facts collected will be sent to Mrs. Granger before March 1, 1804. They will be incurporated in a report to be presented at the seventh blennial to be held in St. Louis, and will form the basis for future recommendations.

TILLMAN IS FREED BY JURY

of Not Guilty.

GIVE VENT TO FEELINGS

Defendant Shakes Hands with the Judge and Jury and Leaves the Court Room with His Lawyers.

LEXINGTON, S. C., Oct. 15 .- The jury in the case of J. H. Tillman has found him ot guilty. The jury announced at 10:45 that a verdict had been agreed upon. The defendant and attorneys were sent for and the jury then filed into the court room and the verdict was read. A demonstration followed the announcement, friends of the defendant giving vent to their feelings in a shout. The court previous to the reading of the verdict had admonished the spectators to refrain from any demonstration. Counsel for defense moved the defendants' discharge from the sheriff's custody. No objections being made by the state the court made the order.

The jury was out about twenty hours be fore returning a verdict. The defendant shook hands with the judge and members panied by his friends and counsel.

There was great uncertainty when court convened today as to whether a verdict would be reached. The court was proceeding with civil business when a loud rapping was heard on the door leading into the jury room. In a moment all were astir. That was the first sound coming from the room since the jury retired yesterday afternoon. Hasty summonses were sent out, and, with as little loss of time as possible, the court had the jury's announcement made, thus terminating this important case, which was begun eighteen days ago. One Man Delays Verdict.

Soon after the jury retired yesterday a ballot was taken, the result being ten to two for acquittal. After some deliberation one of the two went over to the side of acquittal, but it was not until about twenty minutes before the jury sent word to the court that an agreement had been reached that the twelfth man yielded.

There was an apprehension that a mistrial would result. A jury could not have stayed out beyond Saturday night. The sount in the indictment charging the carrying of concealed weapons was lost sight of n the trial and was not considered.

The father and mother of the defendant, who have attended the trial daily, were not in the court room when the verdict was announced, but the latter was on her way to the court house, having heard the news, when her son walked out and met her on the street. His wife awaited him at the hotel, having been informed of the verdict in advance of his coming.
