The fire started in the old Mack building on Hume street, owned by Oscar Crane, which had been regarded as a fire trap and a dangerously constructed building. It was three stories high and was occupied by numerous single men, who cooked their own meals chiefly on oll stoves. It was in a room in the third story where the flames started and the interior of the building was a mass of flames when an alarm was sent in.

The fire started at 9 o'clock in the morning and it was 2 p. m. before the flames were under control. Aberdeen has a population of a 7,000 and its chief industry is lumber. Several large sawmills are located near the town, but the fire did not reach them.

Falling Wall Kills and Injures. When the fire had reached the Pullman aloon several men were hurt by a wall giving way. Among the injured was Fire Chief Koehler, who was rendered unconscious, but later returned to his duties. Colonel McKenzie was caught under the falling walls of the Eagle dance hall. CAMP SANGER, Fort Riley, Kan., Oct 16.-Better weather conditions prevailed at Camp Sanger today. The day was bright and cold, the thermometer almost reach ing the freezing point. The troops were sitions of the outposts of the opposing forces, the Blues and Browns. But little iring was indulged in and that was of the long range kind. The recall had been sounded and all organizations were in camp and ready for the noon meal at 12 o'clock and the first real work of the en campment began this afternoon when the troops that will form the attacking force in tomorrow's maneuvers, prepared to leave camp for a designated point where This force is known as the "Blues" and is under the command of Brigadier Genliffnois, left Chicago tonight for the annual eral Fred D. Grant, U. S. A. His brigade is composed of the Second and the Twenty-first infantry, a battalion of the Twelfth infantry, company D of the engineers, with a mounted detachment from the same organization, two squads of the Eighth cavalry, the Sixth and Twentyninth field batteries, signal and hospital corps detachments and a long wagon train conveying rations and forage for the command. This force crossed the Kansas river on the pontoon bridge erected by the engineers. This crossing was effected in a remarkably short time, the entire brigade disappearing from view in Jefferson township. The defending force, the "Browns," General Thomas Berry, U. S. STRANGE FASCINATION OF REAL UGLINESS

Beauties Who Have Found Male Plainness Attractive-Examples of the Cinch Homely Men Possess.

Maybe there was as much truth as coasting in the statement of John Wilkes, the famous London alderman: "Ugly as ties. To a question where Lord Brougham I am, if I can have but a quarter of an was, the answer was once given: "Where of thieves who tried to run horses off the hour's start, I will get the better of any the ladies are the thickest." By following

Of Wilke's abnormal ugliness there was never any question. "The very children is the street ran away affrighted at the sight of him!" And yet his powers of fascination were so great that women of beauty and fashion vied with each other for his notice, while handsome men of all courtly graces were neglected.

It was said that there were few beauties of the day whose hand Wilkes might not KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16.-The strike of have confidently hoped to win. He mar-"Beauty and the Beast, they call us."

not honestly find fault with the descrip-That there is a powerful faseination for some women in extreme ugliness is proved by innumerable cases in which women who have been richly dowered with physical charms have fallen in love with men of almost repulsive appearance,

A Royal Instance.

Queen Withelmina is an example of a charming and attractive young woman choosing an ugly man. Fat and plain of face, and, for a royal person, distinctly poverty-stricken, Prince Heinrich of Meck lenburg-Schwerin has had great fazcination for womankind, Gossips whispered that the young duke was taken by surprise when the little queen of Holland showed her preference for him, and yet it was not the first time that he had been admired and courted by comen of high rank.

When Princess Helena of Russia suddenly broke her engagement with Max of Baden it was believed to be because she hoped to persuade her parents to let her marry the stout, blond dukeling Heinrich, and the youngest daughter of the duke of Edinburgh also loved the young duke though in vain. In fact Prince Heinrich was a good deal of a lady killer, and he knew it

Neipperg, an ugly creature, with small abilities and yet smaller fortune, was Napoleon Bonaparte's rival in the affection of Marie Louise, who fell furiously in love with him. With everything to lose and nothing to gain by her encouragement of the man, she left no stone unturned until she was able to make herself Neipperg's wife. In the eyes of the world, it was a terrible degradation for the widow of the French emperor to become the wife of an Austrian count, but she cared not a whit what the world said, as was the case the women who ran after the ugly Duke

Ugliness Irresistible. Theodore Hook was another ugly man who seemed to be irresistible. When Lizzt was an old man with a hard, ugly face, vomen begged permission to kiss his ugly hands and raved over him as though he were Adonia' self. Dozens of schoolgirls and countesses who worshiped at his shrine cared not a pin for his music, nor understood a note of it, but were keenly alive to the charm of his personality. There were few plainer men of his generation than the great Lord Brougham, and as few who took so little trouble to ingratiate themselves into the favor of women. Yet he might have picked and chosen among the fairest of society beauthis significant guide he was generally run to earth.

Reason for Attraction.

Perhaps the reason of the attractiveness of the plain man is that he is not vain, He can't be, of his face, at any rate.

"A pretty man is a nulsance," one girl was overheard to say. "I mean the man whose hair curls, whose cheeks are red and who poses in public places where he may be easily seen, and who always wears a sleek smile on his thoughtless face. He is a nulsance because of his conceit. Girls grow weary of looking at him, but he still keeps in the way, believing he is giving them a treat."

It has been estimated that there are only 50,000 really handsome men in the United States.-New York Sun.
