DRIMFUL OF THE BEST in the way of pictures and text, the next number of The Blustrated Bee will be found of peculiar interest for all classes of readers. Its contents cover a wide range of topics, all timely, and each individually treated in the way that has made The Illustrated Bee the favorite Sunday magazine of the west. It is a magazine in every essential regard, and in addition supplements most pertinently the excellent news service of The day Bee, of which it is a part. In this regard it fills a double function. and excels in merit and use any of its contemporaries.

OLIVER PERRY SHIRAS IS & DAIDS well known to people of the west. He has been identified with the growth of Iowa for nearly half a century, and for twenty-one years has sat on the bench of the federal court for the Hawkeye state. Judge Shiras has reached the age limit, and will retire from the bench on the first of the coming month. In The Hlustrated Bee on Sunday will be found a full page portrait of this eminent barrister, soldier and turist, together with an account of his public services and private career.

CERVING A BANQUET IN A SEWER IN a procedure as novel as it sounds, but this is what the citizens of Waterloo, Ia., did when they entertained the delegates to the convention of the Iowa League of Municipalities on Thursday night. A special illustrated article tells of the banquet and the immense drainage sewer in which it was held.

FORT RILEY, A GREAT MILITARY CAMP," is the title of a special Illustrated article telling the story of the greatest of American military posts, where 14,000 soldiers, the largest number ever assembled in the United States in time of peace, are now playing at war under command of Major General Bates. The photographs were taken expressly for The Illustrated Bee.

MONOURABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY of London is the oldest military organization in existence, having a continuous record for 396 years, having been incorporated in 1507. and having occupied the same ground since 1641. It is now visiting in the United States, and will be the first armed body of British soldiers to visit Washington since 1814. A short account of this organization, with some excellent pictures taken on shipboard during its passage to America, will be found in The Illustrated Bee on Sunday.

COUNCIL BLUFFS CRECHE has quietly worked itself into a position of great usefulness in the city of its home. During the week a staff photographer got some excellent pictures of the babies and their surroundings, and these with a story of the institution will be found in the paper.

EUROPEAN EFFORTS TO THWART Frank G. Carpenter's weekly-letter, and in it he gives some startling facts illustrative of the means adopted in various foreign countries to head off the growth of America's industrial invasion. It is illustrated from photographs made abroad by Mr. Carpenter.

DEFENSE OF THE MOHAMMEDANS IS undertaken by a traveler who has spent many years in Mohammedan countries, and who speaks from certain information regarding his topic. Illustrations are from photographs made among the Monammedans along the Nile.

DDITIONAL FEATURES OF THE NUM. BER include many independent photographic reproductions; another installment of the Barr serial; the Illustrated Woman's Department; an article on King Menelik of Abyssinia; the regular departments, short miscellany, and all the features that go to make The Illustrated Bee complete. MANY TALK OF OPEN SHOPS his stead Lively Discussions Between Representative Employee and Employers at Chicago.

OPEN SHOPS MAY HELP THE UNIONS

One Employer Beligves that by Working with Nonunion Men they Could Be Easier Brought Into Labor Organizations,

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.-Although questions after disputes and of great interest to the wage earners and their employer, such as "open shop" methods of paying wages, piece work and bonus, came up before the National Civic Federation today, no action has been decided upon that will improve the relations of the principals in the controversy. However, it is not considered improbable that before the session is brought to a close some action that will aid in bringing labor and capital closer together may be taken. A number of the speakers at the session today favored this, saying the occasion was opportune. Laboring men predominated in the proseedings and at one time when the disussion was becoming general, several arose and talked on questions which at times tended toward socialism. Samuel Gompers, the presiding officer, however, checked the debate and compelled the speakers to limit the discussion to the topics at issue.

Arraigns the Unions.

President Samuel Compers of the American Federation of Labor, called the meeting to order. One of the first speakers was Henry C. Hunter of the Metal Trades association at New York. He spoke in opposition to closing shop on account, as he said, of the present conditions of organized labor and the methods pursued by labor organisations for the accomplishment of their ends. Unions, he said, assume to control shop methods and regulate wages to the financial loss of employers and disorganization of industry and without regard to conomic conditions. The speaker spoke of acts of violence on the part of labor, which he stated were leaders to wipe out these blots of violence. A statement by Mr. Hunter regarding the expulsion of organizations from the Central Federated union of New York was challenged by James P. Archibald of New York, secretary of one of the unions in the body to which Mr. Hunter referred. Mr. Archibald denounced it as untrue, as did other leaders interested. A wordy war was imminent, several uniquiets shouting city for a number of years, died yesterday in unison: "It is untrue, it is untrue." Mr. Hunter said the statement he had made was taken from a New York paper and that he could not wouch for its truth.

Contradict Reporters.

An assertion, alleged to have been made at a meeting by a union man in regard to the closing of the Morse Shipbuilding company, which Mr. Hunter quoted from a newspaper, was also denounced as untrue. Mr. Archibald said it had never been uttered and that he could not allow it to go uncontradigted. He added that a reference to the minutes of the gathering would bear out the assertion.

Mr. Archibald said the bollermakers and the blacksmiths were not expelled from the central union for not striking, as asserted, but said it was done because of action detrimental to the union. Mr. Hunter said he was glad to hear it repudiated and was

J. N. Gunn of New York, talking on "restriction of output and methods of wage payment." The advocacy of unrestricted output and of a scientifically arranged nium system on the part of th trades unions would immediately place membership in its ranks at a high premium, Marcus M. Marks, president of the Nacountry organized and 80 per cent unorganized. Is it not, he said, more to the interest of trade unions to have "spen" shops and allow missionary work to do the rest than to segregate the union men in strictly union shops?

The "open" shop, from the standpoint of the employer, was debated with the unionus present by various delegates. Restriction of Output.

James McConnell, president of the International Association of Machinists, talked on the question of the restriction of output and the methods of paying for labor performed Restriction, he said, does not express it, and the necessity of introducing other than the day system of paying men is unnecessary to get the best productive results.

William H. Pfahler of Philadelphia spoke upon the freedom of the individual and said no one could take from him the right to enter or work in the "open" shop which he favored. pleaded against the restriction of output and said the employer was to grant to unionism nearly everything but this. Henry White, general secretary of the United Garment Workers, spoke against the restriction of output. Frank Buchanan, president of the International Bridge Structoral Iron Workers' association, spoke on "What Can Be Done to Establish More Rightful and Better Relations Between Employer and Employer President Buchanan said that as long as the "open" shop remained relations between labor and capital would be inharmonious and it would be better for capital and labor if dishonest representatives of each were eliminated. George P. Gubbins, president of the International Bricklayers' union; Rev. The game was watched with much eagerness. Harmony prevailed and it was a clean game.

Indian Confesses to Murder.

Convicts Who Lead Prison Mutiny Will End Lives There.

SOME WERE SERVING SHORT SENTENCES

Defense that They Were Subjected to Torture, Making Even Death Preferable, is Not Credited by the Jury.

LEAVENWORTH Kan., Oct. 16 - All five leaders of the Fort Leavenworth prison deal between the Grand Trunk and the Hill mutiny of November, 1821, charged with killing Guard Waldrupe, were found guilty of murder by a jury in the United States circuit court here this morning, without capital punishment, and will be given life

The prisoners are Gilbert Mullins, Turner Barnes, Frank Thompson, Fred Robinson and Robert Clark, all desperate men. Mullins and Robinson had practically finished their terms at the time of the outbreak, and the others were short term men. All are from the Indian Territory,

The defense set up the plea that the prisoners in the federal prison are cruelly treated and that the men who took part in the mutiny preferred to make an attempt to escape and face death rather than remain and endure torture. Attorneys for the United States introduced several witnesses to disprove the charges of improper treatment at the hands of the penitentiary offi-

Gilbert Mullins, several months ago, es caped from the jail at Junction City, to which institution he had been transferred. In the mutiny twenty-eight prisoners escaped after a fierce fight with the guards. during which one guard, Waldrupe, was killed and several of the convicts were shot. All but one of the convicts were finally captured, although three of them were shot in engagements with posses. In his instruc-tions to the jury Judge Riner said that the act that the men were feions undergoing punishment for crimes should count nothing for nor against them in determining the weight of the evidence.

Attorneys for the defendants filed a motion for a new trial. This was overuled by Judge Paney, who then formally entenced the prisoners. Each of the prisoners requested they be sent to some prison other than Fort Leavenworth giving as a reason that owing to their trouble with the authorities there they believed they would not be given fair treatment if returned to that institution

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 16 .- Gordon Allen, 82 years old, a well known mining operator, was shot and killed this afternoon by Benjamin Aylor of Webb City, at the plant of the Eleventh Hour Mining company. Aylor is a son of J. W. Aylor, the millionaire mine owner. There were no witnesses to the shooting. A loaded revolver was found in Allen's pocket and it is alleged that he had threatened to kill Aylor

Aylor was arrested, but not placed in jail, pending the verdict of the coroner's jury. There has long been ill will between the men because Aylor foreclosed a mortgage against Allen nine years ago. The men met today, became involved in a quarrel and Aylor drew a pistol and fired five shots at Alien, three of them took
