President Wheeler, in his opening address ouched on a number of topics of interest to teachers and patrons of the public He spoke in favor of manual for teachers he said:

Educators, and all others interested, have reason to feel pleased over the progress made in securing better salaries for teachers, especially in the rural schools. It is true that this progress has been somewhat slow, but in several counties in Iowa whole townships are now paying higher salaries than they were a year or two ago. And this is only an example of what will be done if the agitation is continued as it should be.

A serious problem confronts us in the fact that so many of the male teachers are leaving the profession. In many counties of Iowa the past summer the male teachers are enrolled were not 5 per cent of the entire enrollment. This scarcity will be overcome to a very large extent and the problem solved when better wages are paid and the term for which teachers are elected extended. Such wages, indeed, should be paid

PROPERTY IS HOLDEN-FOR THE MULCT TAX

I believe I voice the sentiments of many when I say the present compulsory school attendance law, though it has accomplished something, is very imperfect and should receive attention at the hands of our law-makers this winter. I believe it should be so amended that the people not only may know just what it means, but be able to enforce it as well. Some of our sister states are better off than we are in this regard. And personally I should like to see the age limit extended to the pupil's 16th birthday and the term of attendance increased to twenty-four consecutive weeks, beginning the first Monday in September, or as soon thereafter as possible.

Would it not be a great boon to the childdren of Iowa if they were not allowed to enter school until they were 6 years old? An amendment to the school law to this effect, it seems to me, will be a great step in the right direction.

In concluding President Wheeler spoke State Receives Money from Poweshick County Estate for Which No Legal Reirs Could Be Located.

Method of Collecting Taxes. The supreme court today indorsed as legal and proper the method of collecting the mulct tax on cigarette sales and decided that an assessment of the tax to the owner of the property where sales are made is legal. The cigarette makers appealed the case from Muscatine involving some points different from the Marshalltown case. The cigarette trust relied chiefly on the claim that this method of collecting the tax was not by due process of law. "The unreasonableness of the act," says the court today, "Is not a matter for our consideration. There is nothing arbitrary in a statute which provides for the collection of a tax by summary process. Such proceedings are necessary to secure prompt payment. Such existed long before the constitution was framed and are in accord with the law of the land."

Insurance Company Suits. In the case of Cameron against Mutual Life and Trust the court was called to pass on the jurisdiction of a court in cases against an insurance company. The plaintiff has placed certain shares of stock in the Home Savings and Trust company of Des Moines, in the hands of W. W. Ames to be converted into a Life and Trust company policy of insurance and then sued in Cedar Rapids to recover $138.80 paid. The company claimed that the suit should have been brought at Des Moines, the office of the company but the court holds that the insurance laws give furisdiction in such cases wherever the contract of insurance is made.

Court Decisions. The following are the decisions of the training in the schools. The introduction of manual training in the schools, he said, had come in answer to the demand for more practical education, and though it was still in a somewhat experimental stage, it would, he believed, find its way in a more or less complete form into all the schools, both city and rural. He also addightful and useful kind of work.

Exchent of an Estate,

Only occasionally is there an estate found in lows where there are no heirs to be und, but today the treasurer of the state received a draft which included the proceeds of the sale of a farm in Poweshiek county, for which no owners were found, This was the estate of James Keefe, who died in 1885. The estate was placed in the hands of Frank Beckley as administrator, and he having gone through the required process of trying to find the heirs the property, consisting chiefly of twenty-four acres of land, was sold and today the state was made richer by $1,075.33. The last escheat was about two years ago and was a very small sum.

Institutions in Good Condition.

The three members of the State Board of Control returned to their office at noon today, after being out in the northern part of the state on the semi-annual trip to the various state institutions. They visited Anamosa, Independence, Cherokee, Davenport, Vinton and Marshalltown. They report they found the state institutions in this part of the state in excellent condition and ready for the winter. There is a shortage of potatoes at some of the institutions where there have usually been an abundance of vegetables. The corn crop is good at Independence and Davenport, but at Cherokee and elsewhere the corn is poor. The board was accompanied by the state architect and one purpose was to decide on permanent improvements that are to be GREAT FALL OPENING SALE next built at the institutions.

Secures a Fine Relie,

Curator Charles Aldrich of the state hisorical department today received from Mra Ex-Governor C. C. Carpenter of Fort Dodge a relic that he has added to his splendid museum with great pleasure. This is the rifle that was carried by her brother. William Burkholder, when he was killed on the expedition against the Indians near Spirit Lake in 1857. Mr. Burkholder and one other soldier were killed and eleven years afterward their bones were found bleaching on the prairie. The only way the bodies could be identified was by the rifles at their sides. The rifle carried by Mr. Barkholder was given to the wife of the governor and she had kept it until this It is a heavy rifle of large calibre, and it shows the marks of its long exposure. Burkholder was a brilliant young man, and at the time he joined the famous expedition against the Indians he had just been elected treasurer and recorder of the county.
