GENERAL HAMILTON IN CAMP

British Officer Arrives at Fort Riley and Hears Lectures.

COLONEL WAGNER TALKS OF STRATEGY

Greatest Problem of Maneuvers Taken Place Today When Fort Riley Is to Be Attacked and Defended by British.

PORT RILEY, Kan., Oct. 22.—As a spectacle to gaze upon the military maneuvers today would be difficult to surpass, but in point of dramatic action it amounted to very little. The entire force in camp was formed into a division under the command of Brigadier General Grant and ordered to deploy in line of battle in order to protect Fort Riley against an enemy advancing to attack it.

All hands were out, including the baggage wagons, and the scene as the long lines of cavalry, infantry and artillery wound over the hills to take up their positions, with the skirmish line dashing on to the far in advance, while the cavalry scouts were but small dots on the distant hills, was a picture that must have been seen to be appreciated. Thirteen thousand men moving into battle at one time and nearly every man in plain view is something that cannot often be seen in this country.

The American system of placing a line of battle in the hollow and leaving the high ground comparatively undefended was something of a surprise to Colonel Foster, the British military attaché, who said: "I should have placed greater strength on the hills." He said.

Colonel Foster of the Fourth cavalry pointed out that the American idea was to shelter the men as much as possible in the hollows, where the scene of operations was as desolate as that of a march on the ground at Fort Riley. "By keeping them down," said Colonel Foster, "we avoid all chance of a consecutive fire upon our men and have a chance to put it into the other fellow's hands."

Colonel Wagner admitted this advantage but considered that the idea of abandoning the high ground was not without defects. Tomorrow the problem is to be the weightiest of the entire series. General Barry, with the Second, Twelfth and Twenty-first regulars, the First and Second Kansas Infantry, the Eighth and Tenth cavalry and two batteries of mounted rifles, will tonight and tomorrow be well advanced toward the post. General Bell, with the remainder of the troops, will make a reconnaissance in force and General Barry will attack him as soon as possible. It is estimated that the troops will march all of fifteen to twenty-two miles during the day.

Colonel Wagner Lectures. Lieutenant Colonel Arthur L. Wagner, acknowledged to be one of the best military strategists in the world, lectured last night to all the brigade and staff officers of the division, including among his audience General Ian Hamilton, who arrived late this afternoon. Colonel Wagner's lecture in part was as follows:

The principles of strategy are simple, depending essentially on the two main facts, an army must be constantly kept supplied with food, and medical supplies and ammunition, and that the medical supplies be concentrated on the vital point. But while the principles are simple, their application is not fully known by the majority of men who are not fully trained in the art of war. The principles of strategy are simple, depending essentially on the two main facts, an army must be constantly kept supplied with food, and medical supplies and ammunition, and that the medical supplies be concentrated on the vital point. But while the principles are simple, their application is not fully known by the majority of men who are not fully trained in the art of war.

Strategy in Civil War. The lecturer sketched the operations of the armies of the Ohio and the Cumberland and Sherman's army from the beginning of the war when the buses were in the rear and pointed out the successive bases at Nashville, Chattanooga, Savannah, Atlanta, Charleston, Wilmington, Newburne and Kingston, and showed that every movement of the armies was dependent upon having a secure base of supplies. The resources of the north in the west, however, greatly exceeded those of the south, but the strategic situation was altogether in favor of the north, largely neutralized the superior forces of the union. At the close of the war there were 1,300,000 men actually under arms in the union army. Of this number not more than 200,000 were actually in contact with the hostile army. The rest of this enormous force was disseminated in guarding the long lines of communication and in occupying conquered territory.

Rapid Communication in War. Although great changes have been made in the art of war, the improvements in arms and projectiles, the development of the machine gun, the use of the airplane, and the use of the radio, have not fundamentally altered the principles of strategy. The principles of strategy are simple, depending essentially on the two main facts, an army must be constantly kept supplied with food, and medical supplies and ammunition, and that the medical supplies be concentrated on the vital point.

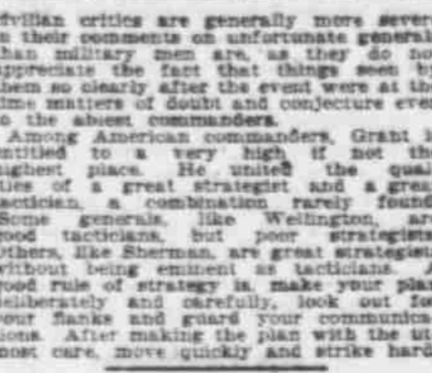

Wellington and Napoleon. All strategy finally depends for its value upon successful tactics. The best strategic plan will fail until it culminates in successful tactics. It is the art of the general to enable the forces on either side of the theater to be so positioned that the general may be able to take advantage of the tactical opportunities that may present themselves. Wellington was clearly outgeneralized as a strategist by Napoleon, but he was not outgeneralized by Napoleon in the Waterloo campaign. In the same way, it is the duty of the general to be able to take advantage of the tactical opportunities that may present themselves.

ALLEGHENY BANK IS CLOSED

First National Decides to Go Into Hands of Comptroller.

Assets Enough to Pay Depositors. Failure of the Federal National Bank of Pittsburgh Causes of Run on the Bank in Allegheny.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22.—Early today Vice President R. J. Stoney, Jr., of the First National bank of Allegheny, issued the following statement after a meeting of the officers and directors of the clearing house committee of the Pittsburgh Clearing House association, which lasted from 8 o'clock last evening until 1:20 this morning.

ALLEGHENY, Pa., Oct. 22.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the First National bank of Allegheny, held this evening, October 22, 1903, it was resolved that, although the bank has ample assets to pay all of its depositors in full and to leave a handsome surplus for the stockholders, yet its supposed connection with the Federal National bank of Pittsburgh has created a distrust and caused a run on this bank to such an extent that we feel it to be our duty to place the bank in voluntary liquidation and the officers of the bank and directors have decided to make application to the comptroller of the currency to take the necessary steps to accomplish this purpose.

Bank Organized in 1864. The First National bank of Allegheny was organized in 1864 and has a capital stock of $50,000, a surplus of $100,000 and undivided profits of $24,718. The officers are as follows: President, John Thompson; vice president, R. J. Stoney, Jr.; cashier, E. R. Kramer; assistant cashier, John D. Kramer. The First National is one of the oldest banking institutions in Allegheny.

The directors of the bank are connected with some of the most important manufacturing interests in Allegheny. Many of the directors of the bank have been connected with the Federal and the First National for two days people have demanded their deposits after learning of the condition of the Pittsburgh institution.

The clearing house committee bankers have a very sanguine opinion of the general situation, but the two banks so unfortunately at this time were found to be beyond the immediate reach of aid, although both are declared to be solvent and in good condition.

The report of the condition of the First National bank of Allegheny at the close of business September 30, 1903, is as follows: Resources—Loans and discounts, $1,360,000; overdrafts, secured and unsecured, $12,000; United States bonds to secure circulation, $100,000; premiums on United States bonds, $5,000; stocks, securities, etc., $100,000; banking house furniture and fixtures, $110,000; other real estate owned, $10,000; due from national banks, $1,171,718; due from state banks and bankers, $1,145,000; from approved reserve agents, $20,000; checks and other cash items, $24,250; exchange for clearing houses, $2,000; notes of other national banks, $1,111; fractional paper currency, nickels and cents, $12,000.

Liabilities—Legal tender notes, $1,111,000; redemption fund with United States treasurer (5 per cent of circulation), $5,000; due from United States treasurer, other than 5 per cent redemption fund, $1,500; Total, $1,116,500.

Liabilities—Capital stock paid in, $500,000; surplus fund, $200,000; undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid, $12,000; national bank notes outstanding, $100,000; individual deposits, $7,647.71; cash and checks outstanding, $1,266.67. Total, $1,787,013.71.

Cancerous Ulcers

ROOTED IN THE BLOOD.

After the age of 45 or 50 when the vital powers are naturally weaker it is noticed that a hurt of any kind heals slowly and often a very insignificant scratch or bruise becomes a bad ulcer or sore. At this time of life warty growths, moles and pimples that have been on the body almost from birth begin to inflame and fester, and before very long are large eating, sloughing ulcers.

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing then you may be sure something is radically wrong with your blood. Some old taint or poison that has been slumbering there for years, is beginning to assert itself, and breaks out and becomes a bad ulcer and perhaps the beginning of Cancer. These old sores are rooted in the blood, and while washes, soaps, salves, etc., keep the surface clean they are not healing. A blood medicine to purify and strengthen the polluted blood and a tonic to build up the general system is what is needed, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. No poison is so powerful and so germ so deadly that this great vegetable blood purifier cannot reach it, and ulcers every kind quickly yield to its wonderful curative properties. If you have an old sore or ulcer, write us all about it and medical advice or any information you may desire will be given by our physicians without charge.

CRUISER NOT FAST ENOUGH

New Ship Deaver Falls to Develop Required Speed in Official Test.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The second class prototype cruiser Deaver was given its official trial trip on the Cape Ann course today, but failed to make the speed called for in its contract. Commandant Corlies of the vessel said that the ship was not as fast as the average speed made by the cruiser during the day's run, and that the reason was that the engine was not working properly, while the engine was taken from Captain B. O'Neil, a retired captain of the French marine service, who was taken from the ship today. Captain O'Neil was a passenger on the Deaver. It was reported that the vessel was not in the police station.

Seek Pardon for Hall. Friends of Hank Hall of this city, who in serving a life sentence in Fort Madison penitentiary for the murder of his wife, are again making an effort to secure his pardon. The matter will be brought up again at the next session of the legislature. Hall, who is now 34 years of age, was sentenced in March, 1891. He was a liveryman. After shooting his wife he attempted to take his own life by cutting his throat.

NOT UNANIMOUS ON DIVORCE

Iowa W. C. T. U. Turns Down Committee Resolution After a Heated Debate.

SIoux CITY, Ia., Oct. 22.—(Special Telegram.)—After a heated debate among the members, in which much feeling was displayed, the Iowa Women's Christian Temperance union, in annual convention this afternoon, turned down a resolution presented by the resolutions committee denouncing divorce as follows:

Resolved, That we recognize the law established by the state of Iowa, and we will be the one and only law upon divorce that should obtain among men and that we stand for its enforcement into the laws of the commonwealth.

Another exciting discussion took place as to the wording of the resolution against Reed Smoot. One faction, after a bitter fight, secured the denunciation of "polygamy" rather than "Mormonism," the argument being that the Church of Latter Day Saints, commonly known as the Mormon church, should not be stigmatized.

Ten Want to Be Grand Wardens. SIoux CITY, Ia., Oct. 22.—(Special Telegram.)—Nominations for officers of the grand lodge of Iowa Independent Order of Odd Fellows were made today. Will V. Tuftord of Clinton is named for grand master and G. L. Snyder of Marion for deputy grand master. The contest was on the office of warden, and ten men were named. The one who is elected warden will be grand master two years from date. Mrs. Will V. Tuftord of Clinton was elected president of the Rebekah assembly, which adjourned today. The grand lodge will adjourn tomorrow. The grand lodge cut down the number of representatives in the grand lodge from 125 to 82.

See for Settlement. DIKE, Ia., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—As a result of the recent mobbing of Seguin, the principal lecturer who was so roughly handled here, it is announced today that damage suits to the amount of $50,000 will be brought against Grundy county. Attorney Tom Miller of Belle Plaine has been investigating the matter for the past few days and will start the suit. Thirteen prominent farmers of this section are declared to have been the leaders of the mob and they will be named as co-defendants in the suit against the county.

Found a Cure for Indigestion. I use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for indigestion and find that they suit my case better than any other remedy I have ever tried, and I have used many different remedies. I am nearly 51 years of age and have suffered a great deal from indigestion. I can eat almost anything I want to now.—George W. Emery, Rock Mills, Ala.

Sanitary Foraker is Better. SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 22.—The condition of Senator Foraker, who was taken ill here last night, has improved today. His physicians stated that the patient would probably be able to leave his bed this afternoon.
