Members Not Treated Fairly.

He declared that Premier Baifour had treated the members of the cabinet, other than the duke of Devonshire, unfairly in communicating to the duke the news he withheld from the remainder of the members. He said also that he would have been willing to resign at any time on the slightest suggestion from Mr. Baifour, but he resented the method in which free trade members had been ousted from the cabinet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 .- Through an order granted late today Charles M. Schwab was granted leave to intervene as a complainant in the action recently commenced in the federal courts by the New York Security and Trust company against the United States Shipbuilding company and James Smith, jr., as receiver. The defendants at the same time were allowed to file an amended answer and cross-bill, and Roland B. Conklin, Max Nathan, Jacon W. Mack and James D. McGuire, as creditors and stockholders, were given leave to intervene as defendants. Lawyer De Fere, representing Mr Schwab, explained to Judge Lacombe that the lesues of the action were such that Mr. Schwab should properly be a complainant, the answer of the defendants containing allegations of such a character that Mr opportunity to come in and show his posi-

Outlines the Defense.

The nature of the defense which Charles M. Schwab will make to the charges that have been made against him in connection with the financial affairs of the wrecked United States Shipbuilding company was sharply outlined during the latter part of the hearing before Examiner Oliphant late today.

Lewis Nixon was still on the stand, and under cross-examination by W. D. Guthrie, counsel for Mr. Schwab, there was an effort to show that the corporation would not have succeeded if the $2,000,000 promised under the Sheldon plan of reorganization had been made available and that it could not have continued its existence even if it had received the much sought for $900,000, which, it is alleged, was wrongfully cial embarrassment which it suffered and Neptune, a noneffective vessel of 5,316 was asked if it would have been honest tons displacement, built in 1874, which was being towed into Portsmouth preparatory on account of bonds had been paid July the concern.

The examination of Mr. Nixon was not concluded and will be resumed at the next hearing, which is set for a week from Mon-

Nixon Still on Stand

The cross-examination of Lewis Nixon continued when the inquiry the affairs of the States Shipbuilding company was resumed today. Charles M. Schwab and Attorney Pam were in attendance. The witness was again questioned as to the representations made in the earlier shipbuilding combina tion prospectus and the correctness of the statement that Edwin Hawley, E. H. Harriman, James Stillman and other financiers were to serve as directors, Mr. Nixon sald he understood the statements were correct.

The underwriting agreement which Charles M. Schwab signed was produced by the representatives of the Trust Company of the Republic at the request of Attorney Guthrie, identified by Mr. Nixon and offered in evidence.

The underwriting agreement signed by Roland R. Conklin, complainant, was also turned up by Mr. Guthrie, but Mr. Nixon did not know Conklin's handwriting, and of murdering S. T. Ferguson, a rallroad the document was simply marked for iden tification. The underwriting agreements of Max Nathan, James D. Maguire and Jacob W. Mack, also complainants, were pro duced, but Mr. Nixon did not know the individuals or their signatures. The agreenents were marked for identification.

Mr. Nixon testified that vendors became underwriters to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars. He, Henry T. Scott and Mr. Hyde, all vendors, became underwriters. The witness identified the agreements signed by himself and Mr. Scott and they were offered in evidence. It is understood that the purpose of this eviis to show that the complainants are holders of but a small amount of the

In gold in stock, in circulation and in official holdings, our country surpasses every other nation. The stock of Great Britain is $528,000,000, so that ours is double. Germany, $35,000,000; Austria-Hungary, $55,-300,000, while Russia lost $10,400,000, and in 300.000, while Russia lost $10,400.000, and in several other countries there has been a reduction. In all of Europe the total gain in the same interval has been $449,600.000, from which is to be deducted the falling off in several nations of $25,000.000, and thus a net increase is shown of $423,600.000. (See table B at close of address.) At the present rate our gain before this calendar year ends, in stock of the yellow metal, will exceed that of all European countries. Remember also that their population is five times that of the United States.

An interesting comparison is that by persons. Our stock of gold is $15.50 per capita; that of France is stated at $24.25; of Germany, $13.54; of Austria-Hungary, $6.01; of Russia, $5.70; of Switzerland, $9.05; of Sweden, $3.42; of Norway, $3.72. (See table C at close of address.)

This plethora of the precious metal in our country presents three problems interesting and important. What is to be the effect on our currency? What on prices and wages? What on our world relations? Paths may be opened for our investigation if we look back to the decade following the discovery of gold in California and study the conditions from 180 to 1800. In that period our country produced gold of the coinage value of $550.000.000, an average of $55.000.000 a year. Where Peril Lies. Possible peril lies on another side. Our Possible peril lies on another side. Our circulation is undergoing an immense and continuous inflation. In five years the money in circulation in this country has run up from $1.86.616.20 to $2.864.817.098, an increase of $688.020.617. The strength is that of this growth $288.020.817 has been in gold, coin and certificates, an annual addition in that form of nearly $72,000,000. We are to confront a further increase in our circulation, of which gold will constitute not far from $80,000,000 a year. That precious metal, including the certificates stitute not far from $80,00,000 a year. That precleus metal, including the certificates standing for it, is now 42.27 of the total, and its share advances steadily.

Since October 1, 1885, the circulation for each person in the United States has run up from $2.34 to $2.55 and the part of gold in it from $8.78 to $12.55. While nowhere else are checks and drafts and like instruments used to the same extent as with us, no other country has so much money per capita in circulation save Prance, which claims $25.22, where checks are much less used than here Great Britain has $18.25 and Garmany $20.48; Canada, $13.25; Russia has only $6.20. Differing from notes of national banks, gold is money of final reserve and redemption, and the credit built upon it is higher and broader, so that the potential inflation may be carried further. With due silewance then for contrary influences, how far and in what direction is the wast inflow of the yellow metal carrying ta? The biind may see that in the last five years business has been expanded in some directions in an unparalleled degree. Credit has naturally been multiplied at least to four times the amount of cash added to our supply. The exploitation of signantic industrial corporations ran on at a dangerous speed, fortunately to exhaust itself by its own excesses. Promotion of stocks and bonds is not industry: it is speculation, and that finds help and impetus in inflation. In that way the inflow of gold has magnified if not wholly caused the frenzy and the excesses in industrial sourities. Those who have climbed too high into the realm of credit must come down, and here the descent, unlike that to Avernus, is not smooth and pleasant. The promoter who has failed to distribute his stocks and bonds may be punished, and those who have petied his schemes may suffer. But a shrinking of inflated securities to their true value is not a public calamity. Individuals may be crippled. precious metal, including the certificates standing for it, is new 42.27 of the total,
