GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Manipulation at St. Louis Caused Sharp Advance in Price of Wheat

PRICE OF CORN WAS ALSO - HIGHER

Anfluenced by Other Grains Onts Are Higher and Provisions Firm After a Break in Price of Ribs.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Manipulation of De-cember wheat at St. Louis was the domi-nating influence in the grain market and aused a sharp advance in wheat, the De-cember option closing with a gain of 1467 14c. December corn was up 3c, oats wate he higher and January quotations 103114c

Pac. December corn was up ac, oats were the higher and January quotations 10g124c algher.

Buying of both December and May wheat by houses with St. Louis connections was the feature in the wheat pit, and the demand from that source became so urgent with only light offerings that the market was strong throughout the day. Local traders showed more disposition to buy than for some time past, although there was nothing in the shape of news to warrant such action. The only semblance of buil factors was the possibility of war in the orient and the small movement in the northwest, but this was sufficient to create a strong demand. December opened ic lower to ice higher at 80g805c, and soon after the opening when the price of December at St. Louis began to advance by hig strides, due to the congested condition of the market there, the price here followed suit and remained strong. The high point was reached just before the close, when December sold up to 83c. The close was at 81440015c, a gain of 13c. The close was at 81440015c, a gain of 13c. made total receipts for the three points of 672 cars, against 649 cars last week and 983 cars a year ago.

Corn was firm in the face of a somewhat languid trade. Smaller receipts than estimated, strength in wheat and a fairly good shipping demand were the main supporting features. Cash houses were buyers of both December and May and there was also good buying by commission houses. After selling between 44%c and 44%c December closed with a gain of %c at 44%c. Local receipts were 314 cars, 183 of contract grade. Onts were influenced by the builtsh sentiment in other grains and the market showe a good advance. There was considerable anxiety on the part of local were light. December closed with a gain of %c after ranging 304633%c. Local receipts were 31 cars.

Fibs for October delivery had a sharp break early in the day, but later reacted, recovering all of the early loss. The balance of the list was firm throughout the session, the strength in grain being the chief influence. January pork closed 22%c higher at $12.15, January lard was up 15c at $9.70, while ribs were 10c higher at $6.35.

Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, $6 cars; corn, 365 cars; oats, 230 cars; hogs. 31.000 head.

whole, the market has been in very satisfactory condition.

There has been only a fair supply of cornfed steers on sale and as packers have all wanted a few the average price for the week is a little better and the close could be quoted steady to strong as compared with the close of last week so far as the better grades are concerned. The common and warmed-up kinds sell at such uneven prices that it is hard to quote a market on and warmed-up kinds sell at such uneven prices that it is hard to quote a market on them, but they are probably no better than they were a week ago. Good to choice grades sell from $5 to $5.50, fair to good from $4.75 to $5.00, and the common and short fed grades go from $4.60 down.

The week opened with a decline in the price of cows owing to a more liberal proportion of the receipts being made up of cow stuff. After the middle of the week, however, the tendency of prices was again of cow stuff. After the middle of the week, however, the tendency of prices was again upward, so that the loss has just about been regained. There has been considerable unevenness to the market all the week, so that in some places the market still looks a little lower, but the change is hardly enough to be worthy of mention. Cornfeds are still very scarce, but could be quoted from $3.75 to $1.49. Common kinds sell from $2.90 to $3.69; fair to good from $2.40 to $2.80, and canners and cutters from $1.75 to $2.40.

Bulls are very little different from a week ago. Cornfeds, the same as cows, are scarce, but could be quoted from $3.00 to $4.00. Griass bills go mostly from $2.00 to $2.50. Veal calves are about steady, the best grades selling up to $5.

Receipts of stockers and fenders bayes. $2.50. Veal calves are about steady, the best grades selling up to $5. Receipts of stockers and feeders have been very liberal all the week and the demand has not been as trisk as might be expected. The best grades though have held just about steady, while the less desirable kinds are slow and fully 10815c lower than a week ago. The cattle selling to the best advantage are the good heavy dehorned cattle and also the choice yearlings. Such kinds may be quoted from $3.50 to $4.00, fair to good from $3.15 to $3.40, and the common kinds go from $3.00 down. Most all of the feeders now coming forward are western rangers, very down. Most all of the feeders now coming forward are western rangers, very few natives being offered.

The demand for western range beef steers has been in good shape all the week and the same as with cornfed steers, the better grades may be quoted steady to strong and active. The common kinds, though, of which there is a large supply, are rather slow, and no more than steady with last week. The better grades sell from $2.75 to $4.50, fair to-good from $2.25 to $3.50, and the common kinds from $3.15 down. Range cows and stockers and feeders are selling

HOGS—There was another light run of hogs here today and, the same as usual, the trains were alow in arriving, so that hogs kept coming in all the morning. The market opened steady to 5c lower, the deciline being mostly on the heavy hogs, and particularly on those of common quality. The good heavies sold largely at $5.10, with the rough ones going from $5.10 down to $5. The medium weights sold largely from $5.10 to $5.15 and the lights all the way up to $5.35. There were more light hogs here today than yesterday and that fact of course helped out the average and made the market on paper look better than it really was. The market held up in good shape until about noon, when a few loads arrived, and they sold a trifle weaker.

The receipts of hogs for the week are about the same as for last week, but are about 5.00 head short of the same week of last year. Prices have been fluctuating back 8 nd forth to quite an extent, but the general tendency has been downward and the net loss for the week amounts to nearly a dime. The market, however, is about the higher than the lew day of the week, which was Tuesday. Representative sales:

greatest decline seems to have been on yearlings and wethers.

The demand for feeders has not been quite as brisk this week, and as a result prices have eased off a little. The same as with far stuff the decline on the general run of sheep amounts to about 10gl5c. Old ewes are around a quarter lower, and owing to the big supply of light weight and baby lambs, the market on that kind has slumped off in bad shape, sales showing a loss of 50c during the week. Baby lambs are now selling from $2.50 to $3.00 and fair light weight lambs sell from $3.00 to $3.50. Quotations for grass stock: Choice west-

ABOUT HAIR RESTORATIVES "Hair Growers" Do Not Grow Hair-Herpicide, a Hair Saver, is

Not a Hair Grower. Lack of information with reference to the nair and scalp and the proper remedy to use often causes an endless amount of trouble and annoyance that might easily be avoided. Extreme oiliness and excessive dryness both indicate abnormal conditions of the hair that should be promptly cor-

IF THE HAIR IS TOO OILY add alcohol to Newbro's Herpicide, in the proportion of two to four tablespoonfuls to the bottle. It is advisable to prepare ess than a full bottle at first so that the proportions may be changed to suit. The hair should be shampooed often and in excessive cases a little ammonia may be added to the shampoo. Open air without direct sunlight is beneficial. IF IT IS EXTREMELY DRY AND BRITTLE add glycerine to Newbro's Herpicide, in the proportion of one to four teaspoonfuls of glycerine to the bottle. Add one teaspoonful at a time until the proper quantity is determined. The hair should not be shampooed often. In extremely obstinate cases an application of pure, fresh cocoanut oil is advisable. After the sebaceous glands have resumed their normal functions.

no ofly substance should be used. The scalp should be thoroughly massaged two or three times a week, and it is preferable to do this in a bright sunlight. The general health should be looked after, for malnutrition and possible disease. Remember that the hair root gets its nourishment from the blood cells that enter the papilla, CHICAGO. and the blood can give no more nourishment than it contains.

DO NOT EXPECT TOO MUCH. Do not expect today's application of Newbro's Herpicide to destroy dandruff germs that you may get next week or next year. Dandruff can be contracted the second time just as it was the first. Eternal vigilance is the price of hair preservation. The treatment is available, but you must apply it. Neither should you expect one or two bottles of Newbro's Herpicide to completely destroy every colony of microbes in your scalp if they have flourished there undisturbed for years. Do not expecsatisfactory results unless the hairbrush i carefully disinfected, as directed around the neck of the Herpicide bottle. The hatband should also be frequently cleaned. HOW TO AVOID DANDRUFF CON-

TAGION. It is a relatively easy matter for very thin dandruff flakes, laden with dandruff contagion, to pass from one head to the other. Women are far less susceptible that men, for the thicker hirsute covering tends to shield the scalp from microbic invasion. Contagion may occur in overcrowded and badly ventilated places of assembly, from plush covered reclining chairs in railway coaches, from trying on hats worn by others, etc., etc.

THE WORST OF ALL is the public hairbrush, when used without a germ-destroying solution or without being properly disinfected. Much has been written by medical men of late about the indiscriminate use of the hairbrush in connection with the subject of dandruff, falling hair and baldness. An eminent American dermato'ogist recently wrote in Medical Re view of Reviews: "Every school child should know that it is as dirty to use the hairbrush of anyone else as it is to use a WHERE THE TROUBLE LIES.

community toothbrush." The great prevalence of falling hair is due to the fact that while dandruff is 'caught" like other contagious diseases, it is very slow in action, and the results or apparent injury may be delayed for years. conclusively that the presence of dandruff microbes in the scalp may be wholly unsuspected for months and in ordinary cases there is no fiching or apparent injury for a number of years.

HERPICIDE IS A "HAIR SAVER." Newbro's Herpicido is a hair saver, and not a hair grower. It requires but a slight knowledge of anatomy and physiology to convince anyone of the fallacy of using a "hair grower," "hair restorative" or "hair tonic." Nature is the only true hair grower and once the enemies and obstacles of hair growth are destroyed and the scalp kept in a sanitary condition the hair is bound to grow, unless the hair follicles are completely atrophied, as in chronic baldness. Newbro's Herpicide is a safe and delightful means of scalp sanitation for those who realize the necessity for prophylactic meas ures. Its timely and intelligent use will prove a boon to many who might suffer FRIGHTENED BY A CURSE Malediction of a Philippine Woman Drives a Discharged Soldier to Hobodom.

Arraigned in the postce court at Cleveand recently was John Blaces, aged 20, no nome, a physical and mental wreck. Once he was Private John Blaess, of Company M. Fourth infantry, United States army, he says, with two years' service in the Philippines and an honorable discharge.

Back of his downfall lies a story of romance in the Philippines and a curse that has haunted him four years like a shadow, robbed him of all ambition and made him vagrant. Still treasured in what is left of his shattered mind is the memory of a native girl in Novelta, in the southern part of the Philippine group, He had fallen in love with her near the end of his service. The temptation came to desert and he cast his lot with the natives as others had done, but the honor of his regiment meant too much to him.

One night he bade the girl farewell and tried to explain. She could not understand, and when he slipped back through the lines he carried with him the vision of her standing, with tearful, inploring eyes, and with arms outstretched toward him. One night months later he was back at the native village. They told him the girl had dled. A hag, the dead girl's mother, drove him from the door.

"May the mark of the beast be on you." she screamed. "You scorned the love of a native girl. Now, may your lot be with the brutes that grovel in the earth," Try as he could young Blacas could not shake off the memory of the woman's curse. He became morose. Then his health failed, and later he was discharged. He reached America, borken in spirit and without hope. The thought of the old hag's curse was always with him. He took to the road with tramps, then, shunning companions, wandered alone. He was sinking lower and lower in the social scale. The curse was becoming true. A few weeks ago he appeared at Randall along the Eric railroad. He was living on raw potatoes, which he grubbed from the earth with his hands, and on uncooked corn from the fields. He slept in the woods without shelter. Some times the section hands on the railroad gave him food and learned his story from him bit by bit .--Cincinnati Enquirer.

WHERE, OH WHERE, IS DIETRICH Millard Would Like His Colleague to

Let His Friends Hear from

Senator Millard is wondering whether he bught to send a search warrant out for Senator Dietrich to satisfy the people who are constantly inquiring as to the senior senator's whereabouts.

The announcement was made over a week ago by the Associated Press that Senator Dietrich had landed in San Francisco from Alaska, but since this dispatch nothing has been heard from him.

"I don't know where my colleague is. sir," said Senator Millard when asked about Senator Dietrich. "I have been trying to find out myself. I have been in communication with his private secretary at Hastings, but he insists that he is as much in the dark as I am. I think Senator Dietrich is old enough not to get lost, but it would relieve me greatly if he would let his friends know where he is and when. Senaor Dietrich left for Alaska June , to return to Nebraska October 1, and is therefore about a month overdue now.
