ARMPANIAN IS ASSASSINATED

President of the Revolutionary Society Is Murdered in London.

THE CRIME CREATES A SENSATION

Other Officials of the Same Organization Lose Their Lives in a Similar Manner on the Continent.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Sagouni, president of the Armenian Revolutionary society in London, was murdered in the suburb of Nunhead last night.

The crime has created a sensation, as it has every appearance of being of a political character and has been preceded by the assassinations of other officials of branches of the same society on the continent.

Sagouni, who only returned to London after settling up the affairs of an associate in Switzerland, who was recently assassinated by stabbing, was entering his residence when a man rushed across the road and fired four shots at Sagouni in rapid succession.

The murderer, the last bullet entering the region of the heart. The murderer, who appeared to be a foreigner, fled. The only clue to him in possession of the authorities was a felt hat and a silver-plated revolver, both made in New York, which he dropped in his flight.

The murdered man, who was a mining engineer, became wealthy and devoted his money to the Armenian cause. His society was extremely passive and opposed to violence and it is thought this attitude inspired the advanced sections of Armenians with the desire for vengeance.

It is stated that Sagouni's life had been threatened on account of his participation in the exposure, by the editor of a Boston newspaper, Young Armenia, after the misappropriation of funds by a faction of the Armenian revolutionists.

These men are alleged to have collected $200,000 in America in 1921 and to have put the money in their own pockets, instead of pushing the propaganda for the emancipation of the Armenians for which the money was subscribed.

The murder of Sagouni, president of the Armenian Revolutionary society in London, is not regarded as being of great political significance by Armenians in this city, but rather as a result of bitter feeling which exists between the two factions within the revolutionary party itself.

In support of this was cited the recent attempt to assassinate an Armenian editor, Peter Kuregian, in this by members of the revolutionary party said to hold extreme views opposite those which Kuregian held.

At the trial of an officer of the party testified that the members of the socialist wing had taken oath to remove "all obstruction" in spreading their views.

Assassin May Have Been in Lowell. Lowell, Mass., Oct. 27.—The managers of the Bell clothing company, occupying a large store, 21 Merrimack street, in this city, think it very likely that they may have sold to an Armenian a derby hat like the one found as a clue to the London assassination.

The Boston store is not as large as that in Lowell and the management of the company says that there is practically no Armenian trade in that city. In Lowell, however, the concern has a large number of Armenian customers among the mill operatives and other residents.

It is pointed out that the impression on the inside of the hat the proprietors could say nothing more positive than the hat might have been sold by the company that it must have been purchased some time ago, if the inscription is partly obliterated.

All hats sold by the Bell company have been stamped with the name and place of business. Another thing that was significant in connection with the case is the use of the "K" on the end of the word "Terryneck" taken to mean "Merrimack," as this is a distinguishing feature of the city of Lowell.

Most of the other places on the banks of the Merrimack river about the "K" in naming corporations or streets, while in Lowell they retain it.

Already several of the eastern stockholders who are members of the directory, are in the city. Among them are H. H. Harris of New York, William D. Black of Philadelphia, Henry Barnes of New Haven and Edward Wagner of Berlin.

These men are known to be allied with the Stillwell interests and they met informally to discuss a plan for retaining control of the company. A plan is said to be on foot to wind up the affairs of the company, according to one authority, in which, it is asserted, all the Stillwell interests may be centralized in the United States and Mexican Trust company.

Which Mr. Stillwell organized to finance his newly projected railway, the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient. The latter proposition would not be discussed by the stockholders now here.

Secretary S. B. Witley said: "The present board of directors probably will be re-elected. No trouble whatever will develop. The company is to be simply a holding company, holders, most of whom will be represented by proxy."

ENGLISH BANKER ARRESTED

Placed in Custody After a Chase of Fourteen Months.

CARRIES AWAY A LARGE SUM

Detective Captures Him in Chicago and He Consents to Return to Other Side Without Extradition Papers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The Tribune says: After a chase lasting fourteen months, and in which two continents were traversed with a detective in pursuit, John Morrison, assistant cashier of the Northwestern bank of London, charged with embezzling more than $80,000, has been arrested in Chicago.

Morrison, with Edward Weston of the Scotland Yard detective force, who effected the capture, is now on his way to England to answer the charge of defalcation. Morrison, after his flight, assumed many aliases.

When arrested he was conducting a jewelry store in Forty-second street under the name of Henry Jordan. He also used the name of William Jordan, Henry Miller and Francis.

Detective in Close Pursuit. During August, 1932, in the temporary absence of the cashier of the London bank, Morrison, it is alleged, fled to the continent. The theft aroused the London banker and Weston was put on the case.

The detective started for the continent only thirty hours after Morrison, but the fleeing man had sailed at once for Canada. There he bought a ticket for New York. In New York Morrison lived at a small boarding house for at least two months.

Becoming nervous, he left the city and went to Boston, where he invested in a jewelry store. The fugitive did not stay long in Boston. He went to Montreal, where he invested in a business venture. Weston came to Marlon, where the embezzler had left only a few hours before he fled to Chicago.

Weston arrived in Chicago only a few days later than Morrison. When arrested the fugitive consented to return to England without extradition proceedings.

An accident alleged to have been caused by the "careless and negligent driving" of a hook and ladder truck of the Omaha fire department, has been called to the attention of the city by J. Mahoney, attorney for Alie Kolar, who asserts that she received severe injuries. According to the files filed in a lawsuit, the woman, who was seated in her buggy at Sixteenth and Jones streets, when the truck came along and ran into it, demolishing the buggy and pinning the occupant between the horse and a telephone pole.

It is asserted that various bruises, sprains and internal injuries were received.

WESTERN MATTERS AT CAPITAL

Rural Routes Established and Carriers Appointed for Several States.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(Special Telegram.)—Congressman McCarthy, representing the Third Nebraska congressional district, is in Washington. Mr. McCarthy today called upon Secretary Hitchcock relative to several department matters pending before the interior department of interest to his constituency.

The precise nature of the conference between Representative McCarthy and the secretary of the interior could not be ascertained. Secretary Hitchcock, when seen tonight, said the interview related to minor matters.

Congressman McCarthy has taken temporary quarters with a friend in the suburbs, but comes to Washington for the purpose of securing a residence for his family during the coming session.

The acting commissioner of the general land office officially informed Secretary Wilson today that his suggestion that inspection of the general land office be given authority to inspect herds of sheep and cattle which by permit are allowed to graze within the forest reserve had met with the approval of the secretary of the interior.

Every forest reserve office of the general land office has been sent a number of these circulars for distribution relating to the rules which will in future govern inspection by the bureau of animal industry officials.

The grazing season of 1934 in forest reserves and upon grazing land generally controlled by the government will see inaugurated a very rigid system of inspection of animals by agents of the bureau of animal industry of the Agricultural department before being permitted to drive their sheep or cattle into the allotted grazing fields.

GATES IS IN ANOTHER FIGHT Wall Street Speculator Will Endeavor to Control a Kansas City Trust Company.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27.—In some respects the annual stockholders' meeting of the Guardian Trust company, which will be held at the general offices of the company here tomorrow, will be the most important meeting of those interested in this company ever held, for there promises to be a final conflict between the John W. Gates interests and those of the founder of the company, A. E. Stillwell, president of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railroad.

Already several of the eastern stockholders who are members of the directory, are in the city. Among them are H. H. Harris of New York, William D. Black of Philadelphia, Henry Barnes of New Haven and Edward Wagner of Berlin.

Hundreds of Telegrams and Letters of Congratulation Received at White House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—President Roosevelt celebrated the forty-fifth anniversary of his birth. Many beautiful and touching reminders of the event came to him from every part of the country.

Hundreds of telegrams and letters of congratulation were received at the White House during the day. When the members of the cabinet assembled for the usual semi-weekly meeting they joined in extended cordial congratulations to the president.

Among the floral offerings was a huge basket of chrysanthemums from the government propagating gardens. It contained specimens as large as the crown of a derby, hat and of splendid coloring.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—At the early morning service in Madison Square Garden today Dowie gave a brief address to "Catholics" and also spoke about the work done by his followers here, saying that a great many converts had been made and about 60,000 homes visited.
