PETTY THEFTS AT SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

Governor Investigating Charges Made Against the Child Saving Institute Located in Omaha.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 29 .- (Special.)-The fact that the fusionists in this district endorsed the republican judicial ticket, hoping the absence of a contest would result in many republicans staying away from the polls, to the end that Judge Sullivan would profit thereby, has not dampened the enthusiasm of the republicans nor lessened mity to the state headquarters, is a busy place and right well are the voters being told of the importance of getting out next Tuesday.

Said a well known republican today: "It was not because of its love for a nonpartisan judiciary that the opposition has endorsed republican candidates in some districts and neither is it because no one could be found who was willing to make the race, even though it be a hopeless one. It was simply because the fusionists saw that it no contest was on in the district over district judges, that many republicwould remain away from the polls, the fusionists in the meantime putting from $625 to $2,250, with three firms bidding. their leaders next to the proposition so that every one of them possible would get out to the polls and vote for Judge Sullivan. They were willing to lose every district judge in the state in order to save Judge Sullivan and they adopted a pretty smooth trick to help him out. The republicans however are aware of all their little schemes and in this they will certainly

"In all cases where the fusionists have endorsed the republican nominees the republican majority has been overwhelming and in these districts is where the republicans would be more liable to become apathetic. But the fusionists have no more show to get out their vote than the republicans, even if they have worked nice schemes. No one has been fooled by the nonpartisan business and with the close organization formed by the state committee the republican vote should be got ten out in good shape."

The work at the state headquarters is running along smoothly and all hands are busy getting closer in touch with the voters out in the state and keeping that way. A great organization has been built up and in no judicial campaign has there been less talk and better work done.

Charges Against Institute. of an investigation of a charitable institu-This time it is the Child's Home S. ing institute at Omaha of which E. P. Quivey is the active agent. Some time ago the governor received a letter from William Acor of Colorado Springs charging serious | States treasury, spoke in the court house misconduct on the part of the management away and was shortly joined by a second. Then the governor set on foot an investigation. He had interviews late last evening with Dr. Herring and Dr. Mackay of Omaha, directors of the institution, who came to Lincoln to uphold the institution against the charges in the letters. Both men asserted there was nothing wrong with the management and that they had given it their personal attention and that the both were well acquainted with Mr. Quivey So far Mr. Quivey has not showed up charges, but he is expected most any time. I'ntil he does Governor Mickey will say little about the matter except that he has terests and good will to John Woods, a braska in the republican column. His received several letters complaining of the conduct of the institution. These have made him more than ever in favor of a law of the entire community, and is now in that will place all private institutions of this character under the direct management

The dance that caused the commotion was ndulged in by four of the women, who with their escorts and a few friends, took advantage of the presence of a plane in the building left by a lodge. It was the next day that Governor Mickey gave out an anti-dance interview, before he even knew the state house girls had their dance. The fact of the matter is the governor has no more to do with the senate chamber than anyone else in the building and he has never at any time tried to prevent dances there, and he couldn't if he wanted to. The building is in the sole charge of the board of public lands and buildings and it is this board that has the power to let the girls have their dances, and no one else. Governor Mickey has repeatedly said that it was none of his business if others cared to dance and further that he did not object to anyone dancing who wished, though he does

Queer Actions of a Strange Man Result in Call for the Sheriff.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Oct. 29 .- (Special. Sheriff J. D. McBride received word yesterday that the citizens of Elmwood were very much excited over the strange actions of a man who gave his name as Caldwell, and who had been staying there for about one week. It stated that Caldwell secured a team, drove out into the country a short distance, dug up a box and drove back to the village. Then he went to a bank and inquired about a safety deposit vault. The banker told him he had no such place. Caldwell said he wanted to put away $80,000 for a few days. The story leaked out immediately and the citizens began to speculate. Visions of train holdups and robberies and the blowing open of a safe with dynamite and the robbery of the Commercial bank in Louisville, in this county, flitted before their vision. As requested, Sheriff McBride went to Elmwood and investigated the matter. From him it is learned that Caldwell is a man about 35 years of age, medium height and build, with a light mustache. So far as known he has no relatives nor acquaintances in the vicinity of Elmwood and othing was known of his past his The fellow admitted he had no money and was just fooling the people. There was no $80,000 nor any other sum of money in the box and the sheriff said Caldwell did not act right and he thought he was mentally

STILL LOOK TO THE RIVER Some Grain Men and Shippers Think Miscouri Barge Line the Thing.

HOPE TO BREAK RAILROAD BLOCKADE

Board of Trade Man Who is Watching the Rate Situation Comments Favorably on Biver Plan.

"A number of the big shippers and grain men are seriously considering the use of the Missouri river to relieve the congestion produced by the inability of the railroads to handle the freight traffic and their extortionate rates, and if anything can be done in this direction the shippers will be provided with a weapon with which to com-pel the railroads to give them lower freight rates," said a Board of Trade man. "They are all pleased with President Stickney's proposition to lower the rates, but as that is yet in its infancy they see no reason why the river proposition should not come up now, and if the freight rate matter re sults in a fight, which might last for con-siderable time, they would in the meantime be in a position to ship their grain by other routes than the railroads. They look at it in the manner that the more competition there is the better the business and the rates will be. Some of them are still a little dubious as to who is going to win out in the cut rate proposition and seem to feel that the river is a reliable source to fall back on.

"A proposition is under way to start line of river barges, not big boats, but side wheelers, to operate between Omaha and St. Louis. The persons proposing to operate the river service will in a short time make a written proposition to be formally considered by the transportation bureau which they expect to meet some time soon. If the proposition finds favor with the transportation bureau the matter will then be referred to the Commercial club for action in the direction of encouragement of the project.

"This proposition is entirely feasible Each barge can carry 200 tons of freight and an ordinary towboat will be able to tow four of these barges. These boats, it is said, can run in thirty-six inches of water It is proposed to run the line be-tween this city and St. Louis, where connection can be had with the river service from New Orleans, Pittsburg and other points.

The backers of the project assert that it is an excellent business proposition for the consideration of the commercial community.

"It was said recently that freight can be delivered by steamer from Pittsburg in less time than it takes to get a shipment of socalled fast freight through by rail," con tinued the Board of Trade man. "It might reach the city limits before the steamer got up steam at Pittsburg and yet the merchant would have the freight from the steamer unloaded and sold before he received the car by rail. The general idea prevails that these boats could be sent down the river loaded with grain, and at St. Louis could again load up on the return trip with coal or merchandise from the eastern cities. In this manner the boats could be used in both directions."
