Wheat Market Opens Dull but Closes Higher at Chicago. Slightly Higher Price for Corn. Prices for Oats Fluctuate in Narrow Range, Closing Lower—Firm.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Extreme dullness and bearish reports of the Australian crop caused an easier tone in the wheat pit today, but a little recovery in the afternoon stimulated prices and December closed a shade higher. December corn was also a shade higher. The market for oats was quiet and provisions unchanged to the lower.

The wheat pit witnessed a repetition of yesterday's trading, but with a few points of difference. The market became extremely dull. News from all sources was generally to the effect that the crop was expected to begin with rains and reports in the west which were much needed by the growing winter wheat, and the Australian crop estimated in excess of 12,000,000 bushels, or the largest crop on record. These influences caused a decline in the wheat market, opening 1/4 cent lower at 90 1/2. After ranging between 89 3/4 and 90 1/2, December closed a shade higher at 90 1/2. Primary receipts were 1,370,000 bushels, against 1,750,000 a year ago. The market for oats was quiet and provisions unchanged to the lower.

The corn market was still in the rut, there being nothing in the way of news to awaken speculative interest. There was a fairly good demand from commission houses and some selling by local agents. Indications for December, December weather conditions and a fine cash demand were supporting influences, while the earlier close of wheat had a depressing effect. The close was steady, with December a shade higher at 67 1/2. The market for oats was quiet and provisions unchanged to the lower.

convincing that the public would soon re-open and enliven matters, but another spell of forced selling of home rails and foreign securities caused a decline in the London Stock exchange November 2 and the bulk of discount money was dissipated. Home rails were lower, Americans were higher and the market for foreign securities was mixed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Today's stock market gave a striking exhibition of the new type of volatility which has been the rule in the face of unfavorable developments. Continued with a surge on the weak currency movement, which indicated a 10-15 cent gain by the banks during the week of Oct. 23-27, 1933. Operators in stocks were making it a point to show that they were not as nervous as they were some weeks ago. The market was generally to the effect that the crop was expected to begin with rains and reports in the west which were much needed by the growing winter wheat, and the Australian crop estimated in excess of 12,000,000 bushels, or the largest crop on record.
