Recipes.

Stuffing with Ham-Ham blends nicely with poultry and gives an appetizing flavor, which sometimes greatly improves the eating if the meat is rather dry. Take the recipe for bread stuffing, and substitute half a cup of finely minced, cooked ham for same amount of crumbs. Leave out he celery and parsley, add the beaten egg and when the chicken is stuffed bind very thin strips of very fat uncooked ham or pacon over the breast of the chicken and baste the wings and drumsticks frequently with dripping from the pork.

Chestnut Stuffing-For a young twelvepound turkey take about thirty large chestnuts, roast, peel and remove the inner brown skin. Put about ten of the chestnuts in a mortar with the cooked turkey liver and pound well; add a teaspoonful of minced parsley, a small silver onion, grated, and salt and pepper to taste, and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Put this into the cavity from which the crop was taken, and sew up. Take five or six links of small sausage, partially fried in a little butter; cut them into pieces an inch long, LADIES, our harmless remedy relieves without fail delayed or abnormally suppressed menstruation. For free trial address Paris Chemical Co., Milwaukee, to this mixture the remainder of the chestnuts, whole. Stuff the body with this, sew up, truss, rub the body with soft butter, salt and pepper, dredge with flour or crumbs and place strips of sait smoked bacon over the breast and parts that burn easily. Allow twenty minutes to every pound and baste frequently Oyster Stuffing-Prepare a turkey for roasting. Crumble sufficient bread crumbs to make a quart, add an equal quantity of very fresh oyster crackers crushed. Mix with enough warmed butter to moisten slightly, then add the strained liquor from four dozen large oysters and two beaten eggs. Season to taste with sait, pepper and celery salt. Mix the oysters with the crumbs and stuff the bird loosely so that the crumbs will absorb the gravy but not be soggy and heavy. Bolled Chicken Stuffed Clean and truss the fowl as for roasting. MORPHINE, laudanum, opium, cocaine and liquor habits permanently and pain-lessly cured at home. No detention from business. Action immediate. Leaves patient in natural, healthy condition without desire for drug. Cure guaranteed for 21.00. fill the inside with small white onions (silver-skinned) that have been parbolled in quart of milk. Put the giblets on to boil with a small onlon and two or three slices of bacon or a little raw ham. When giblets are done strain the gravy into a saucepan (there should be at least a pint), fill the inside with small white onion put it into a saucepan with the chicken cover and simmer until quite tender. Put three large onions in the quart of milk used to parboil the chicken. When it is reduced about one-half, thicken with butter and flour rubbed to a smooth paste. Season with salt and pepper and let it cook until it thickens. Pour this over the fowl when it is arranged on the platter

More Seasonable Weather Needed to Make Fall Goods Move Freely.

SHARP ADVANCE IN PRICE OF COTTON

Fraveling Saleamen for Local Houses Meeting with Better Success Than They Did a Year Ago in Campaign for Spring Orders.

Immediate business in Omaha and tributary territory was a trifle quiet last week, That, however, was no more than was generally anticipated in view of the exceptionally fine weather which made heavy weight clothing unnecessary. In view of that fact Omaha retailers, as well as those who have been in from surrounding towns, say they did a very good business. What is needed, however, to bring fall and winter goods in brisk demand is a few days of cold weather. Very few merchants are doing any complaining, though, for they are confident of a nice trade as soon as the weather conditions are favorable.

Advance order business is reported by local jobbers as being considerably ahead of a year ago. Merchants are placing their orders for spring lines more freely than usual, which is taken as an indication of the confidence existing in future business. Retailers have experienced a very prosperous year, and in view of the good crops throughout this territory they see no reason for not looking for a continuance of present conditions. Traveling men who have been in the city recently say they never saw merchants more satisfied than they are this fall, which is the very best sign that they have been making money.

Collections are in fairly good condition, but undoubtedly will be improved with the advent of more seasonable weather. Local credit men say, however, that they have very few doubtful accounts on their books and anticipate less trouble than usual from that source.

There have been about the usual number of price fluctuations during the week under the process.

There have been about the usual number of price fluctuations during the week undar review, but taking the markets as a whole they are in much the same position they were a week ago. Prices are generally firm, with prospects favorable for values on most manufactured lines remaining steady for some time to come. Coffee Still Advancing.

Wholesale grocers report the volume of business for last week as being of very satisfactory proportions. The demand for all staple lines and for seasonable goods being fully up to the usual standard.

The market has fluctuated back and forth about the usual amount, but as a rule prices are fully as high as they were a week ago, Coffee is still advancing and prospects are considered favorable for still higher prices. As has been previously mentioned through these columns there is a marked scarcity of the better grades, and consequently that class of coffee is bound to command strong prices, while the low grades will not show as much strength. During the week under review the market has advanced on some grades and package coffees are up \(\frac{1}{2}c. \)

The sugar market is in just about the same position it was a week ago, no change having taken place either on raw or refined.

Canned goods are also upchanged so far having taken place either on raw or refined.

Canned goods are also unchanged so far as quotations go, but jobbers are calling attention to the fact that stocks are better cleaned up in first hands than ever before at this time of the year. The one possible exception to this rule is found in the case of tomatoes. This is also true of California canned goods and as a result the market is very firm with prospects favorable for a continued healthy and strong market throughout the season.

Recent advices show that the supply of dried peaches and apricots are also better cleaned up than was generally thought, but there have been no changes in the market on these lines nor on other staple dried fruits. Raisins are going into consumption better than they have previous to this time, owing to the recent reduction in pricess. Evaporated apples are in a very strong position and higher prices at most any time would cause no surprise.

An advance went into effect last week on limberger, brick and Swiss cheese, but Twins and Young Americas remained unchanged.

The rice market is not as firm as it was clines.

The time is now close at hand when fancy lines for the Christmas trade will be in demand and aiready local jobbers are noticing increased sales in these deare noticing increased sales in these departments. Present indications are that the demand for this class of goods will exceed anything previously experienced.

Woodenware is selling at just about the same prices it has for some time past and local jobbers do not look for any important change. Many lines are still scarce and jobbers find it difficult to get enough stock to fill the requirements of their trade.

The fish market is just about where it was a week ago, with the exception of mackerel, which is still advancing, owing to the scarcity and brisk demand.

Just at the time when the bears on the cotton market were having things very much their own way a frost that was quite general throughout the cotton belt materially changed the situation. The general belief now is that the frosts of Saturday and Sunday nights a week ago went a long way toward destroying the top cotton. If that is the case local jobbers say that the previous estimates of the yield will be reduced by 500,000 to 750,000 bales. Whether the reduction is so great as that or not, those well posted do not look for very cheap cotton for some months to come and do not see how cotton goods can possibly be any cheaper than they are at the present time. Desirable lines, in fact, are very hard, to obtain in a good many cases and some goods it is absolutely impossible to get rapidly enough to meet the demand. Taking the situation us a whole into consideration local jobbers say with a good deal of confidence that cotton goods at present prices are good property and retailers need have no hesitation in placing their orders for all the goods they are likely to need.

So far as the local situation is concerned immediate business is of course rather quiet owing to the fine weather experienced the greater part of last week. What is needed is cold weather to bring fail and winter lines into brisk demand.

Advance orders for spring, however, are coming in quite freely and traveling salesmen are very much elated over the sucsess they have had up to the present time. Advance in Price of Cotton.

CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE They are very confident that they will be able to break their last year's record without much trouble. Wire and Nails a Little Lower.

There was a reduction last week in the price of wire and nails amounting to 5 cents. This was true of both barbed wire and plain. Galvanized nails, on the other hand, advanced 25 cents. In speaking of the market situation a leading hardware man said that the general market was in a good, healthy condition and nothing at the present time indicated any material changes in prices. Of course, a few lines which have been selling entirely too high may have to be cut to some extent, but the general run of goods will not go much if any lower. As a result there is no reason for merchants buying in a hand-to-mouth way. The demand is bound to be brisk for some time to come and until manufacturers are able to catch up with their orders it does not seem reasonable to suppose that prices will go much lower.

Trade was not as active in this locality hast week as might be desired. Both jobers and retailers are waiting for seasonable weather to make such lines as coal hods, shovels, stovepipe and in fact all kinds of winter goods popular.

The demand for Leather Goods.

The demand for leather goods was fairly good last week and in fact better than would be expected in view of the good weather. Retailers as a rule report a very satisfactory demand and look for a very satisfactory demand and look for a very satisfactory demand and look for a very satisfactory demand when the weather improves. Sorting-up orders are coming in quite treely and quite a few merchants were on the market themselves.

Traveling men are hustling for advance orders on spring lines and so far are doing well. They have landed more orders than they did a year ago up to this time, which would indicate that merchants out through the country are not discouraged over the prospects for future business.

Rubber footwear is not very active at this time and probably will not be until after the first snowstorm and cold wave. Rubber clothing, though, is selling freely, the same as it has all the year.

Fruits and Produce. Fair Demand for Leather Goods.

Fruits and Produce.

The demand for fruits and vegetables continued brisk last week. The varieties being offered, though, are not as numerous as they were a short time ago, owing to the fact that peaches, plums and that class of goods are out of market. Apples are the most popular line and, as the stock is exceptionally good, the demand is very large. The different varieties on sale and the prices will be found in another column. It will be noticed that besides the local varieties there is stock from Michigan, New York, Oregon and California.

In vegetables there has been practically no change worthy of mention.

Butter, eggs and poultry are also in about the same notches they were a week ago. Receipts of poultry are still large and consequently the market does not show much strength. Eggs, on the contrary, are scarce and firm. Fruits and Produce.

What do we need? Society manages these things in other places. Why not here? I believe that society would do so here also if the right man or woman would take a hold of the business end. I have always said so, I say so again, and I will endeavor to continue so to do until the man is found who will organize the financial and social possibilities. But not for ragtime concerts. No. no!

As to the society musicales! I have written so much along that line in The Bee squeal out that I put that part in the letter on my own account. But my correspondent will defend me there. I have her address and will gladly put anyone in communication with her.

The Suzanne Adams concert on November 91 This is the leading musical event so far. Mr. Willis heard the company in Lin-Twins and Young Americas remained unchanged.

The rice market is not as firm as it was a short time ago, owing to the exceptionally large crop. Some rather radical price reductions have gone into offect which have stimulated the demand, and those in a position to know do not look for further destines.

The rice market is not as firm as it was coln and was immensely pleased with the program and the enthusiasm of the large audience. The company consists of Mr. Leo Stern, 'cellist; Mr. George Crampton, basso, and Mr. Ward Stephens, pianist and accompanist, in addition to Suzanne Adams. accompanist, in addition to Suzanne Adams, who is one of the leading singers on the concert or operatic stage today, the fact that she has been a leading soprano in the Grau forces being sufficient proof of her

Mr. Willis tells me in a letter that she has also "a stunning stage appearance and charming manners, with a gown that is certainly worth the price of admission in itself," Suppose the admission fee was $1.50, it will be interesting for the women of Omaha to see Miss Adams in her onefifty gown. "How to dress superbly on $1.50." Oh, Mr. Willis!

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The Chicago City Raliway company, through its president, D. G. Hamilton, today refused to grant any of the concessions demanded by the employes' union. These demands were made several weeks ago and refused. It is asserted by union leaders that a strike of the 2,500 employes is now almost inevitable. Rubber Company Fails, TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 3i.—A receiver has been appointed for the Combination Rubber company of Bloomfield, N. J. The liabilities are placed at $165,000 and the Columbia National bank of New York holds $30,000 in protested notes against the company. The rubber company has outstanding capital stock amounting to $469,300.
