ENJOINS ALL THE SALOONS

Stora Company Retaliates for Action Brought Against Its Places.

REMINDER OF OLD PROHIBITION DAYS

Attorney Wadsworth Fathers Latest Batch of Petitions, Which Include a Total of Forty-Three Places.

As a result of the proceedings brought by Attorney Fremont Benjamin to enjoin the sale of liquor in the saloons owned by the Stora Brewing company of Omaha in Council Bluffs a general warfare on all of the saloons of the city has ensued.

The Blue Ribbon and Pinnell saloons, against which Attorney Benjamin first brought the injunction suits, are still closed and in the hands of the sheriff under the landlord's attachment proceedings brought by Mrs. Maggie Buck, the ostensible owner of the buildings, late Saturday night.

Reminder of Prohibition Days

Taking up the gauntlet thrown down by Attorney Benjamin, Attorney Wadsworth at once served notice of injunction suits against every other saloon in the city, some forty-three in number, and the force of the sheriff's office was kept busy all day serving these notices.

The trouble was started when Benjamin began suit against the Blue Ribbon and Pinnell saloons and it was then intimated that if he persisted in bringing the cases to an issue, the owners would retaliate with like proceedings against all the saloons in the city.

The notices of suits brought by Attorney Wadsworth yesterday against the forty-three saloons recite that applications for temporary injunctions will be made on November 14, November 19, November 26 and December 4, a batch being listed for each of these days.

Benjamin against the Stora Brewing company's saloon is not made public. Mr. Benjamin in answer to all inquiries states that "he is simply acting in the interest of his clients," but who his clients are he declines to divulge.

The Blue Ribbon and Pinnell saloons, against which Attorney Benjamin first brought the injunction suits, are still closed and in the hands of the sheriff under the landlord's attachment proceedings brought by Mrs. Maggie Buck, the ostensible owner of the buildings, late Saturday night.

The outcome of the fight is being looked for with more than ordinary interest, especially by the owners of those saloons who have been dragged into it unwillingly through the controversy between Attorney Benjamin and the Stora Brewing company.

In the district court yesterday County Attorney Kilpatrick dismissed the injunction proceedings brought against Mithen & Kroil, proprietors of the saloon at 1112 West Broadway. The docket shows that the case was settled out of court and the costs paid presumably by the defendants.

A divorce was granted to Laura Adkins from J. C. Adkins. The docket shows that the case was settled out of court and the costs paid presumably by the defendants.

Investigating Swamp Land

Fred Holsington, a special agent of the United States general land office, is in the city investigating the claims of Pottawattamie county to swamp lands originally deeded to the state of Iowa by the government.

Under the swamp land act of 1850 certain lands were deeded by the United States to the state of Iowa, the apportionment of Pottawattamie county being about 400 acres.

The trouble was started when Benjamin began suit against the Blue Ribbon and Pinnell saloons and it was then intimated that if he persisted in bringing the cases to an issue, the owners would retaliate with like proceedings against all the saloons in the city.

The notices of suits brought by Attorney Wadsworth yesterday against the forty-three saloons recite that applications for temporary injunctions will be made on November 14, November 19, November 26 and December 4, a batch being listed for each of these days.

Criminal Business for Year

Freeman Reed, clerk of the district court, completed yesterday his annual report to the secretary of state of the criminal business in this county. The report shows that twenty persons were sentenced to terms in the penitentiary at Fort Madison, ranging from eight to six months and fourteen to terms in the county jail, ranging from five days to three months.

Union Thanksgiving Services

At the meeting of the Ministerial association yesterday morning arrangements for the union Thanksgiving services were made. The services will be held on Thanksgiving day in the Broadway Methodist church, with the pastor, Rev. W. J. Stratton, as master of ceremonies.

No Action on Library Building

Owing to the absence of four of the members nothing was done at the regular monthly meeting of the Library board last night in the matter of the Carnegie library building. The members present, however, expressed the opinion that it would be useless having the attendance of the Chicago architects here until the board has decided practically what kind of a building it desired.

Fine for Liquor Seller

LOGAN, Ia., Nov. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—The district court has passed a sentence of $500 or ninety days in jail in the case of Ed Young who pleaded guilty on the charge of selling liquor without license. Young chose the latter. The probate case of Patrick Kirin is now being tried. Two notices are bringing claims of $500 each for their services as housekeepers during the life of the deceased. The petit jury is convened today.

Guards Eleven at Practice

The Dodge Light Guards' foot ball team put up some hard practice work last night on the grounds at Seventh street and First avenue, preparing for the game next Saturday with Tarkio college. The soldiers feel that the people of Council Bluffs should patronize the game better than they do. The attendance last Saturday at the game with Dodge College was miserably poor and in consequence the "Guards" are

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—A call has been issued for a conference of the high school principals, normal school heads and college men generally, to be held in Des Moines on November 27, for the purpose of considering secondary education, and the relations between the secondary schools of the state and the colleges and universities. The conference will be held at Drake university, and the call emanated from a committee of the Southeastern Iowa Educational Association, with President MacLean of the State university. The conference will be for the purpose of planning more completely the alliance between all classes of schools in the state, and providing for admission of graduates to the colleges direct from the high schools and academies. It is in line with the work commenced at a meeting in Chicago recently on the same subject.

Articles of incorporation of the Chevre and Yarnel society of Council Bluffs were filed yesterday in the office of the county recorder. The incorporators are Isaac Gilinski, G. Whitehouse, M. Friedlander, B. Gilinski, M. Solomon, E. Phil, M. Marcus. The purpose of the incorporation is the establishment of an orthodox Jewish church in this city. E. W. McClelland, charged with breaking into and robbing the store of the Hermann Grocery company on South Main street Saturday night, had his preliminary hearing continued in police court yesterday, in order that the case might be taken up by the grand jury now in session. The same disposition was made of the case of John Bell, charged with the theft of an overcoat from the Grand Army hall Saturday night.

Paroled by Governor

Governor Cummins today issued a parole to Charles Davis, who was sent to the penitentiary from this county three years ago to serve a seven-year term for robbing a man named Sternberg and getting 75 cents. Davis' confederate, in the crime, who was given the same sentence, is still in the penitentiary. The articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state today for the

Refused an Injunction

An injunction has been refused the Iowa Ice company in the matter of condemnation of its property for park purposes. The park commissioners had condemned the property about three years ago and the owners were awarded $15,000 for the same. This was abandoned and just after the flood last spring, when the icehouses had been washed away, another condemnation was taken and $2,000 awarded. The ice company refused to accept this and asked for an injunction to prevent the park commissioners continuing the suits. The court refused this today. The fight for possession of a large tract lying along the river has been going on for a long time. The land is desired as an addition to Union park.
