INJUNCTION HEAR. ON IN COURT

Officials Fear that City's Revenue Will Be Seriously Curtailed Unless the Warring Factions Are Reconciled.

All efforts to settle the sulcon right yesterday failed and toway in the district court will witness the most re., surmiss. Both sides will be before starge areason with applications for temporary injunetions against certain saloons and the naht will be on in real earnest.

Attorney Wadsworth, representing the college. This will be the lineup of the Storz Brewing company's interests in this city, filed in the district court yesterday petitions to enjoin twenty-one more saloons, the hearing for the temporary injunctions being set for November 28. There was no move made by the other side but it is said they will make a strong resistance today to the suits brought by Attorney Wadsworth against the Poore and Sherlock saloon. These are the two suloons which the Storz people are after today and a large number of witnesses have been subpoensed by Mr. Wadsworth.

Attorney Benjamin will seek temporary restraining orders today against the saloons conducted by Rapp & Lau at Willow avenue and Main street; Hansen & Rasmussen at 230 West Broadway; M. O'Connor at 923 South Main street and John Brennan at 821 South Main street. These are four of the saloons owned by the Sterz Brewing company and its local agent W. A. Wells, has been made party defendent in the suits: It was stated that O'Connor had closed his saloon last evening until the present controversy is settled one way or the other. Attorney Wadsworth on behalf of the Storz company will make no resistance in these cases and notified Attorney Benjamin that it would not be necessary for him to increase the court costs by producing any witnesses. It was reported on the streets last night that the Storz people had a trump card up their sleeves which they had not yet played but which they were prepared to produce If pushed any further. It was stated to be a card which if played might interfere somewhat with the city's finances.

This fight among saloonmen is being deplored on every side as terminate how it will it is conceded by all that it will do no one any good. The mayor and other city officials are watching it with considerable alarm fearing that it may result in a general closing of the saloons, an event which would seriously cripple the city's finances and inevitably result in a curtaliment of both the police and fire departments.

Matters in District Court.

The sealed verdict returned by the district court jury Thursday night in the suit of W. C. Utterback, a former saloon keeper, to recover from W. A. Well., local agent of the Storz Brewing company, $68.40, pali him for beer, was found to be for the dafendant when opened by Judge Pr. ston yesterday morning.

The lowa muict law provides that any money paid for the purchase of liquor can be recovered, as such sale of liquor is in dolation of the law. The law, however, provides that a demand for such repayment must be made. In the case as car the plaintiff's petition tailed to show that such a demand had been made. The attorney for plaintiff was permitted to amend his petition, but when the plaintiff was placed his demand for the repayment of the have been received. Following are the re-amount he had paid out for beer to the suits: defendant he stated that he had intimated body else would have to quit." This the not a demand, by bringing in a verdict for yesterday for a new trial to the wall of Bertha Quatter against August Glase and wife, in which the plaintiff was given a verdict Wednesday for over $2,000 for wages and damages for assault.

Charged with Forging Check.

The town murshal of Loveland, this county, and a constable did sune till sprinting on a hand car last evening and overhauled between Crescent and this etty John Cox, wanted for passing a check, alleged to be forged on Mrs. Halderman of Loveland. The check was purported to be signed by a farmer named Hunt and called for H110. After getting Mrs. Huiderman to cash the check Cox started for Council Bluffs along the railroad track. The town marshal learned the direction he had taken and followed on a hand car, overtaking Cox at Big Lake, just north of this city. He took Cox back with him to Loveland last night.

In lowa only ten competitors stayed in furing the six tests.

The highest average score was made by M Sonderguard of Hutchinson, Minn. who was given 96.75 per cent. The second highest was secured by John Sollie of New Sweden, Minn., 96.66 per cent, a difference of only .60 of 1 per cent. It is interesting to learn that Mr. Sollie received first prize for the United States last year and that he is making its great record in the same reamery in which Sam Hangdahl, the world's prize buttermaker spent several years of his life and by the alchemy of his intelligent mastery of the cream and butter business succeeded in producing an article of butter so perfect that the connoisseurs of Europe at the Paris exposition prenounced it the best on exhibition there. Mr. Sollie is an "understudy," if and on returning she found the empty lau you please, of the great Hangdahl, being
