JURIES QUIT UNTIL MONDAY Grand and Petit Suspend Work After a Somewhat Eventful Week. The federal grand jury met for a short while yesterday and then adjourned until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. No new bills were returned. United States Circuit Clerk Thummel has been on the sick list for several days with a bad cold. Deputy Nicholson has been doing double duty in consequence. The case of Fannie Heymann, executrix, against Tracy Brothers Company has been taken under advisement by Judge Munger on some technical law points and the case is continued over until Monday. In the meanwhile the petit jury was given a recess until 9 a. m. Monday. FALSE LOVER QUITS TOWN Social Circles at Fort Sheridan Amazed by the Action of an Army Officer. These two counter explanations are given for the sensational annulling on the eve of the wedding day of the engagement of Miss Alice Hyde Fessenden, daughter of one of the first families in Highland Park, and Lieutenant Burt W. Phillips of the Twentieth infantry, stationed at Fort Sheridan. Through aristocratic Highland Park, from villa to villa, among the fashionable haunts of the smartest the news sped yesterday afternoon. It came as a startling surprise to hundreds of friends. Plans for the "military" wedding of the young couple, which was to have occurred next Monday evening at Happy-Go-Lucky, the Feasenden villa on the lake shore, were suddenly set at naught. So unexpectedly did the announcement that the engagement of Miss Peasenden and Lieutenant Phillips had been broken drop in upon unsuspecting society that Miss Caroline Shields, daughter of James H. Shields, and who was to have been a mem ber of the bridal party, had barely time to dispatch messengers through the suburb canceling invitations she had issued for a linen shower yesterday afternoon in honor of the bride-to-be. The first intimation of the rupture in tha wedding plans, outside of that known to s half-dozen close acquaintances of the Fessendens, was received by the Inter Ocean in a telephone conversation yesterday morn-'Please do not print the pictures of Miss Alice Fessenden and Lieutenant-Phillips, came a man's voice over the telephone.

"Why not?" was the inquiry. "Do not print the pictures," was repeated. "Who is this talking?"

A voice came up over the telephone: "Lieutenant Phillips."

"What is the reason?" "The engagement has been broken." The mystery of the speaker's identity and the causes which led the prominent Highland Park girl and her dashing soldier flance to break only forty-eight hours before their wedding bells were to have rung was left unraveled. And a mystery, for the most part, it renained yesterday, in spite of the attempts of Highland Park society and Lieutenant Phillips' fellow officers at Fort Sheridan to Failings fellow officers at Fort sharidan to fathom it. In aristocratic Highland Park gossip had it that Miss Fessenden, backed by her mother, refused the gallant lieu-tenant at the last moment. Among the

They have become convinced that it is a demonia call invention, but, nevertheless, an effective agent in the discipline of incornigibles. It has, in fact, greatly curbed the vicious propensities of the many unmanageable boys.

Superintendent F. A. Whittler and the nembers of the State Board of Control, who are familiar with the results of the roanking machine, assert that it is far su perior to the old hand method. And there is talk of getting up an automatic attachment by which any given number of lashes may be applied quickly and accurately. The machine is kept in a locked room and is never seen except by the boy to be operated upon. The boy who has been whipped naturally tells a terible tale to his fellows afterwards, and imagination tends to magnify its terrors. This tends of course, to keep the boys in wholesome awe of it, which is itself a deterrent from
