CREIGHTON'S PLUCKY FIGHT

College Boys Make Game Resistance to Strong Professional Team.

UPHILL WORK AGAINST HEAVY ODDS

Outweighed and Outplayed, the Little Fellows Make Stubborn Work of It and the Victory is Well Won.

In the most stubbornly contested game of football witnessed in Omaha this season, the Dodge Light Guards of Council Bluffs, at Vinton park yesterday afternoon, defeated the eleven representing Creighton university by a score of 11 to 0.

Perhaps the largest crowd of the year assembled at the Vinton park to witness this game. It was estimated that the crowd approximated 4,000 people and as one side or the other made good plays, lusty cheers greeted the players. From beginning to end the game was fought on its merits, and the issue was in doubt for some time until the Guards had made their first touchdown and then it was felt that the contest was won and it then remained a question as to whether Creighton would score again or not.

Creighton fought a plucky, up-hill game, but was outclassed and outplayed. With these odds against them, the Creighton players jumped into every scrimmage with a determination to do or die. It is only just to say, therefore, that Creighton gave a superb exhibition of up-hill football. The Guards gained much more ground than Creighton, despite the fact that the visitors from across the muddy river were frequently and fearfully penalized. Holding was the most common fault and a number of times the Guards were penalized for twenty yards. They were then unable to make the gain and it was on these occasions that Creighton got the ball, either through the fact that the Guards had been unable to make their gains upon these occasions or because of the fact that the Guards were compelled to punt.

Punting Was Good. In the punting game, both M. Thomas and Creighton did good work, sending the oval upwards to dizzy heights and covering from twenty to forty yards. One of Creighton's punts struck where the Guards backs could not get it and the ball had rolled nearly seventy yards before it was secured outside the limits of the field.

At the beginning of the game the Guards had the south side of the field and the wind favored neither side to any great extent, as it was blowing from the southwest, but early across the gridiron, Creighton kicked off to Stewart, who made a return of twenty yards before he was downed. After M. Thomas had made ten yards on the next play the Guards were penalized twenty yards for holding. After Stewart and M. Thomas had recovered nine yards, M. Thomas punted thirty-five yards to Callahan, who made a return of ten yards. After Creighton had negotiated six yards on three downs Creighton was called back for a try at goal from placement. The ball was on the 45-yard line, and while it sailed over that distance nicely, yet it fell into the hands of the south goal posts. M. Thomas then punted from the 25-yard line, covering thirty-five yards, to Welch, who was unable to make a return, owing to a good tackle by Williams.

Guards Smash the Line.

Then Creighton made eight yards in four downs, following which Creighton punted thirty yards, the ball going out of bounds. After the Guards had made seventeen yards on seven downs, M. Thomas signaled for a punt, but Creighton got off-side and was penalized five yards and no punt was made, as Thomas simply stood still and held the ball. Then the Guards kept up their work through the line and inside the 25-yard line, a fumble occurred and Creighton got the ball. Callahan then attempted a run because his teammates evidently did not catch the signals correctly. Since this was against the rules for the quarterback to run with the ball when not inside the 25-yard line, the ball was called back and Creighton was penalized twenty yards. Creighton then punted twenty-five yards and Rutherford got the ball, but was unable to make a return.

On the next scrimmage the most sensational play of the day occurred. Stewart was signaled, and finding a nice big hole in the tackle's position, he went through, and was fast speeding toward the opposing goal line with absolutely no one in front of him. The doughy little Callahan was clog upon his heels, however, and as the crowd with bated breath awaited the outcome Callahan got on his sprinting clothes and went down the field on the heels of the fast feet of Stewart. After Stewart had covered forty-five yards, and was within ten yards of the Creighton goal line, Callahan made a final lunge and grasped Stewart around the legs, and both went to the ground. And then the crowd arose en masse and cheered Callahan to the echo.

For First Score. But the Guards were not to be denied, however. Stewart was again given the ball, and went through the line for four yards. Richmond added two more, and on the next play he was sent near for a touchdown at the extreme northwest corner of the field. No goal resulted from this, as the attempt at a kickoff did not result in a fair catch.

On the next kickoff, with Creighton occupying the south goal, the kickoff was made to Welch, who was unable to make a return. After Creighton had made three yards on two downs, Creighton punted thirty yards to Stewart, who came back five yards. The Guards then made five yards, and were then penalized twenty yards for holding. After eight more yards had been negotiated, M. Thomas punted thirty-five yards to McGovern, who failed to return. On an attempt at a quarter-back run Creighton lost two yards, and then Creighton made a punt of forty yards, the longest punt of the day.

Creighton's punts struck where the Guards backs could not get it and the ball had rolled nearly seventy yards before it was secured outside the limits of the field.

At the beginning of the game the Guards had the north goal to defend, and the kickoff landed in McGovern's capacious paws, and he made a good return of fifteen yards. After making four yards on two downs, Creighton was penalized fifteen yards, and then Creighton punted thirty yards to Richmond, who was unable to make any return. On seven downs the Guards then negotiated thirty-seven yards, but during the last three downs a penalty of ten yards had been imposed, and the Guards were unable then to make the necessary distance, and the ball went to Creighton near the center of the field.

While the opposing teams were wrangling over the question as to whether the Guards had made the necessary gain, Welch punted the ball and broke through the line in an unguarded moment, but was tackled before he could score a touchdown, the tackle being made by Chestnut. On the next play Mullaley fumbled, and the ball went to Richmond. After Pell had made three yards, the Guards were again penalized twenty yards, and then, after the Guards had recovered seven yards, M. Thomas punted thirty-five yards to McGovern. On the next play Kehoe lost two yards, Welch failed to gain, and Creighton punted twenty-five yards to Pell, who made a good return of fifteen yards.

Guards Playing Ball.

At this point the ball was near the center of the field and the Guards began playing with a vim and snap that had not characterized their previous play to the same extent as it now did. In sixteen scrimmages the Guards took the ball by straight football to within two yards of the goal line, covering a distance of fifty-five yards. During this series of plays, the giant Pell was called upon to take the ball for the first time and he made consistent gains. When the ball was within striking distance of the goal line, Williams and Pell were called upon repeatedly. At the last Williams was called upon and M. Thomas and Pell made a big hole for him through which he went like a shot out of a gun and practically unopposed, across the goal line for the second and last touchdown, from which M. Thomas negotiated a beautiful goal, the ball being held by Chestnut.

Guards Playing Safe.

At this point the game was practically over. The Guards next kicked off to Creighton, and after a couple of scrimmages the locals were compelled to punt. The Guards then took the ball a distance of eighteen yards in five scrimmages and then a fumble occurred and the ball fell to Creighton. At this point time was up, with the ball on Creighton's thirty-yard line and in its possession.

After the game was over, Empire Pixley, who has officiated in seven of Nebraska's games this year, said that the Creighton-Guards game was the hardest fought game he had witnessed this year. The game was frequently delayed because the crowd pressed on to the field. It was Pixley's opinion that Creighton was outweighed and outplayed, but that the Creighton lads put up a plucky, uphill fight. Callahan, in Pixley's opinion, did not play in his accustomed form. Welch, Mullaley and McGovern played a good game.

The state of Iowa, nor the entire west, for that matter, never turned out a better all-round athlete than Pell, the giant tackle who played on the Guards team yesterday. He was connected with the Drake university eleven for four years, during which time he gradually worked his way up to the position of the star athlete of the entire state. Williams, who played guard for the visiting team, is a former member of the Iowa State university eleven, and has been this year's coach of the star eleven at Highland Park of Des Moines, which administered such a stunning defeat to Creighton.

Creighton Plays Pluckily.

Against such a combination of players as these, the Creighton eleven was out-classed. At that, however, a superb exhibition of plucky football was afforded by the local eleven and every inch of ground made by the visitors was secured only after the very hardest kind of work. The line up:

YORK SMOTHERS THE IOWANS

Des Moines High School Never Has a Show with the Sturdy Nebraskans.

YORK, Neb., Nov. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Today's victory of York clinches not only the championship of high schools of Nebraska, but that of the middle west. The overwhelming defeat of West Des Moines, Ia., by York will no doubt secure Lincoln, who refuses to play a return game here. The Des Moines players were in their own minds, and they were free from wrangling and clean and swift from start to finish. The game was free-played its opponents at every point. At no time was York's goal in danger. Des Moines played a hard and plucky game. Only once did they make the required gain, being continually forced to punt.

The game was called at 2 o'clock. Des Moines kicked off to York and in less than three minutes Osborn, quarterback of the crowd and star player, had the ball from wrangling and clean and swift from start to finish. The game was free-played its opponents at every point.

At this point the game was practically over. The Guards next kicked off to Creighton, and after a couple of scrimmages the locals were compelled to punt. The Guards then took the ball a distance of eighteen yards in five scrimmages and then a fumble occurred and the ball fell to Creighton. ### LINCOLN AND OMAHA A TIE

Local High School Team Shows Up in Best Form of the Season.

PLAY IN LAST HALF IN LINCOLN TERRITORY

Capital City Boys, However, Put Up a Sturdy Defense and the Locals Are Unable to Cross Goal Line.

Although the doughty lads from the capital city played equally as well as they did two weeks ago when they defeated Omaha to the tune of 26 to 0, Omaha's defense had improved so marvelously that in yesterday's contest at the Driving park neither team was able to score. Both teams were in good condition and the game would certainly have afforded the spectators a splendid exhibition of football had the field been dry. But as it was each was seriously handicapped in displaying its best game by the two inches of snow which covered the ground.

Lincoln employed substantially the same tactics that it did two weeks ago, namely, bucking the lines in mass formation, fully confident that it would be successful. Omaha, however, resorted to frequent end runs, which netted most of the gains and which were heavily attempted in the previous game. Omaha's defense was the best it has exhibited this season as special attention had been paid to this in the training. Never once did Lincoln succeed in an attempt to circle the ends. Indeed, the runner was almost always tackled behind the line for a loss. Lincoln's defense was good, however, and Omaha often made slight headway against it and was forced to punt. The punting was a prominent feature of the game and neither side can be said to have excelled in it. The game was really like a spirited but indecisive tug-of-war, as the playing was mainly confined to the middle of the field and the ball alternated between the teams. Never once was Omaha's goal line even remotely menaced. Lincoln's was once jeopardized when the ball reached its 4-yard line, but a good punt soon relieved it from immediate danger. The playing was almost wholly in Lincoln's territory and the game can be best judged by this fact.

Lincoln Backs Excel.

Lincoln's halfbacks were easily the best men in the team. Barwick covered the most ground and was engaged in every play and at critical moments the ball was entrusted to him. Fields, the captain, did steady, sure punting. Benson was the star runner for Omaha, frequently gaining around left end. He was also sure and reliable in tackling and was usually the first down the field at the kickoff or following punts. Stein and Loftus made many gains and did valiant work in defense. Hazy and Frank Putnam were responsible for many of Lincoln's losses, as they often broke through and tackled behind the line. Rogers was active and performed excellent defensive work. Foder played a fast, steady game.

The game was somewhat remarkable in the fact that no player was hurt and the end of the game found both teams intact with the same men playing they had started with.

Touchdown is Disallowed.

Omaha won the tossup, chose the west goal and at 3:15 Lincoln kicked off to F. Putnam, who fumbled the ball, but managed to recover it. Shields was sent around left end, but failed to gain. Stein dashed through right tackle for two yards. Thompson punted thirty yards to Barwick, who here performed the sensational feature of the game, gathering in the ball and skillfully dodging through the crowd of players and evading all tacklers, ran fifty yards to the goal post. Unluckily for Lincoln he had stepped outside the field in avoiding tacklers and the ball was brought back to the middle of the field by the referee and given to Lincoln.

Lincoln attempted an end run, but Benson slipped in and tackled the runner for a loss. H. Putnam did the around right end.

Shields gained two yards around left end and again one yard through the line. Thompson punted and Cosner jumped up and touched the ball, which was speedily captured by H. Putnam. This netted Omaha twenty yards. Shields and Burnett gained, but the ball was given to Lincoln on downs. Cameron was sent through for three yards and Birker for two. Barwick lost three on an end run, being tackled by Fleming. Fields fell back for a punt, but instead of punting, ran around right end. He gained, however, but two yards. Lincoln was penalized twenty yards for holding. Fields punted to Yoder, who returned ten yards. Shields gained two, Loftus three, Burnett six and Thompson five yards. Omaha was penalized ten yards for holding, but Benson made a splendid run around left end for twelve. Thompson punted thirty yards to Barwick, who advanced ten yards but fumbled and Rogers fell on the ball. Burnett made two good gains. Thompson punted twenty yards but the ball went outside. F. Putnam tackled three yards behind the line and the ball soon went to Omaha on downs.

Second Half.

The second half began by Thompson's kicking forty yards to Barwick, who passed the ball to Cameron, executing a crisp-cross play. Cameron advanced ten yards and made five on the next play. Birker was utilized three successive times for gains of two yards each. His fourth effort failed to net a gain, and Fields punted thirty yards to Benson, who returned five yards. From now on the game

Atlantic Defeats Indianapolis.

ATLANTIC, Ia., Nov. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—The Atlantic high school football team defeated the heretofore unconquered representatives of the Indiana High school here today by the score of 11 to 0. Indiana has not been scored against before this season and came here fully determined to carry away an unblemished record, but Atlantic has not yet been defeated and proved too strong for their visitors. It is quite amusing to lovers of the game here to read how East Des Moines, Ida Grove and other teams claim the state championship when as yet none of the so-called appointed guardians of the belt have accepted Atlantic's standing challenge to all. The season is now over, but if any of the would-be champions desire a game that will give them an opportunity to demonstrate their skill and power a letter to that effect addressed to the manager of the Atlantic team will secure it. East Des Moines and Ida Grove are especially invited to respond.

Washburn Defeats Highland Park.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 26.—Washburn college defeated Highland Park of Des Moines today by a score of 26 to 0. The Topeka players excelled the Iowa men in every respect. There were no spectacular plays, but it was by steady gain that Washburn won. Highland Park played some fine football, but was not strong enough for the heavy Washburn team.

Harlan Ends Season with Victory.

HARLAN, Ia., Nov. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—The Harlan high school football team closed the season today by a game with Boone. The final score was Harlan, 6; Boone, 0. The final score was Harlan, 6; Boone, 0.

was played in Lincoln's territory. Punt was frequently exchanged. Once Omaha forged near to Lincoln's goal, but the ball went to Lincoln on its four yard line. Fields promptly extricated the team from this precarious position by punting twenty-five yards.

The half ended with the ball in Lincoln's possession on its 35-yard line. Score, 0 to 0. Line up:

Cancerous Ulcers

ROOTED IN THE BLOOD.

After the age of 45 or 50 when the vital powers are naturally weaker it is noticed that a hurt of any kind heals slowly and often a very insignificant scratch or bruise becomes a bad ulcer or sore. At this time of life warty growths, moles and pimples that have been on the body almost from birth begin to inflame and fester, and before very long are large eating, sloughing ulcers.

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing then you may be sure something is radically wrong with your blood. Some old taint or poison that has been slumbering there for years, is beginning to assert itself, and breaks out and becomes a bad ulcer and perhaps the beginning of Cancer. These old sores are rooted in the blood, and while washes, soaps, salves, etc., keep the surface clean they are not healing. A blood medicine to purify and strengthen the polluted blood and a tonic to build up the general system is what is needed, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. No blood is so powerful and no germ so deadly that this great vegetable blood remedy cannot reach it, and ulcers of every kind quickly yield to its wonderful curative properties. If you have an old sore or ulcer, write us all about it and medical advice or any information you may desire will be given by our physicians without charge.
