DR. GRAY PREACHES A POWERFUL SERMON!

Compures the Present Day with Condition of the Jews During the Time of the Prophet

-Lancing

Rev. James M. Gray, D. D., of Boston. who at the sequent of the Ministerial acco clation preached the sermon at the union Thanksgiving services yesterday morning in Broadway Method at cau c.s. was greeted a congregation drawn from the arvera Protestant churches of the city which your pletely filled the large auditorium. Or Gray, who is temporarily in the city conducting a Bible conference under the austhe Presbyterlan churches, is forceful speaker and bis address was listened to with deep interest by his large congregation.

His theme, "A Leavened Thanksgiving," was suggested by the words of the prophet, "Offer a Sacrifice of Thanksgiving with Leaven," taken from chapter tv. verse 5. Dr. Gray treated the subject biblically and his address comprised practically a digest of the whole of the book of the prophet, which was made to read substantibilly like a recit il of modern (wentieth century conditions in a western city; In part, Dr. Gray spoke as follows:

Prophet Deals in Irony.

The words of the text are boalest. Even

The words of the text are housed. Even prophet, wits upon the people of mic 1 only occasionally. Leaven is the of the synonical for moral corruption, and thou fapousit the prophet, calls upon the people in me rong to continue to do as day had been, v. 2. worshiping him outwardly, white at the same time living in known sin.

Jp. under the Proceedies, Greece at the time of Pericaes, Italy under the to the X., France under Louis XAV., Engand under chimbeth, and shall we say, the United State in her present period of prosperity? As to this set each one make his own comparison, and form his own opinion, as we consider the picture set before us.

The indictment the prophet orings against the nation includes at hast six taings.

First, They were ungrateful notwithstanding the past kindness of schovah in delivering them from all enomies and establishing them in their fair tains, they had ignored the good examples their fathers had set before them and gasged the prophets God had sent unto men. The refused to listen to or obey the pure word of God.

Second, They were stubborn and stiff-necked, chastisement after chastisene.

refused to listen to or obey the pure word of God.

Second. They were stubborn and stiff-necked, chastisement after chastisement had been sent upon them in love, such as famine, drought, pestilence, confagration, war, yet they had not returned unto God, and as a result they were now caned upon to meet Hun in a way they had never net Him before.

Third. They were voluptuous or pleasure loving, fond of banquets at which they revelted in great luxury, reclaining on beds of ivory, drinking wine out of newls and inventing new instruments of music to tickle their appetites and increase the sensuousness of the occasion, while all this time they were unmindful of the affletions of the poor.

Fourth. They were covetous, hating the thought of holidays, especially religious holidays like the Sabbath, because they could not carry on their business as on other days. And, when they did carry it on it was in the use of seant measures and high prices, as well as adulteration of goods.

Fifth, Thoy were opportably of the near

of goods.

Firth They were oppressive of the poor. That phrase we sometime use descriptive of a gredy man, "he wants the earth," is found in Amos. The greedy men of his day not only wanted the earth, but the dust of the earth, even the little of it "on the liesd of the poor," and they wanted it so had that they "panted" after Result of Mindeeds.

Sixth. Finally they were hypocritical, for side by side with all this moral corruption they were keeping up their outer forms of religion and even pretending to sigh for the coming of the day of the Lord. God reminds them that it will be a day of darkness for them and rot light. Their religious assemblies the had no delight in and as for their so-called melody of song, it was only noise in this cars. All pretentious molody in the services of God's house is nothing more than noise to Him when it does not proceed from hearts regenerated by like spirit and washed in the blood of the Lamb.

But what was to be the outcome of all this? "I will press you," said Jehevah, "as a cask presseth that is full of sheaves." Vivid, graphic, outvering picture that of the punishment to fall upon the mation, which climaxed in their Assyrian-captivity less than three-quarters of a century afterward.

A nation is only an aggregation of in-

A nation is only an aggregation of individuals. Let us examine ourselves by these standards. If there would be no leaven in our Thanksgiving today, let us humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God. Let us ceuse to love pleasure more than we love God. Let us renounce that spirit of commercialism which is blinding our eyes to everything but gold. Let us consider the poor and the down-trodden and do unto them as we would have them do unto us. Let us practice the religion we trees Their Members to Make a Special Effort to Bring Every Old Soldier in the State Into Organization.

(From a S aff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Nov. 26 - (Special.) - Comnander L. B. Raymond of the department of Jowa, G. A. R., is making preparations to inc. ease the membership of the G. A. R. in this deputment during the coming win ter, by getting into the organization all of the persons who are eligible but who for one reason or another have not joined. He has just focued a special order to the posts in lowa; in which he takes up this

"Comrades are reminded that fully onehalf of the veterans in the state eligible to membership in the Grand Army are outside of its ranks. At the rate at which death is thinning our ranks, we can hold our organization but a few years longer, unless earnest and vigorous efforts are made to recuit into our ranks comrades who will fill the places of those who fail out. The veterans outside should be reminded that they participate equally with us in the benefits gained through the instrumentality of the order, and should not be content to longer accept them without sharing in its support; and this can be done in no other way so effectively as within our ranks.

"It is recommended that each post, at as early a date as possible after the annual election, make the increase of their membership a special order at a regular meeting; appoint committees to see those having follen out as well as those who have never joined. The utmost-charity should be exercised in suspending members for nonpayment of dues, which should be entirely re nitted where comrades are unable to praythe same; and no veteran should be compelled to remain outside our ranks on account of his reduced circumstances.

"Several departments last year reported an actual gain in membership during the year; let every comrade use his best efforts to place the Department of Iowa on this list the coming year.

"We should all remember and cherish the high sentiments to which we are pledged, to hold the memories of our great service as dear as we do our comradeship today; to deepen our thought of the ongoing good of our regenerated country, to minister to the well being of remaining comrades, to cheer the loneliness and poverty of declining years, to uplift the strickent to the well being of remairing comrades, to relieve the loneliness and poverty of declining years to uplift the strickent to cheer the darkened homes; there can be no higher service than this. But this organization is not an end; it is the means and instrument more perfectly to secure the ond; it the combination of our individual power; it is the organization of our forces for more thorough and effective work. This object is a notice and useful one, and must be kept bright and in working order. While our end is primarily to guard the well being of those who with us give their best for their country, it is also to extend and transmit these neutiments; to hold the delivered country true to its promises, to its secrifice, to its faith, its ideals, its bonor. This consecrated ministry, brother for brothe; we must make a spectarle, an object lesson for our neeple.
