COURSE OF MAYOR GENERALLY CRITICIZED

Council's Presiding Officer Accuses Executive of Playing to the Grand stand and of Trying to Run Everything.

Harry B. Zimman, president of the cour cii, Tuesday night replied to statements by Mayor Moores, charging him with delaying the acquirement of additional fire protec-

"I ask permission," he said, "to reply to the mayor's malicious attack on the council, and particularly on the president of the He said, I believe, that if it were not for delays by the council in purchasing a metropolitan fire engine the Thankegiving day catastrophe would not have happened

Zimman admitted he always had taken a telight in opposing the mayor's "pet measares," particularly those relating to the fire and police departments, because, up to the ercised arbitrary and complete control over charges against him or grievances to prefer must first see his honor and "square things" have them walk beats for two weeks and the board were aware of it. As to the engine house site at Eleventh and sackson streets, the president said the membership will be greatly increased at the mayor had entered into a contract with W. R. Mickle for the purchase of the lot for $15,000, although under the law his honor had no right to make any kind of a con tract without the authority of the council. "When this contract was signed," Zimman continued, "the mayor went to the city treasurer's office and without any authority whatever, took $1,000 in cash from the drawer and paid it to Mickle to bind the bargain. In return he left an I O U signed by the mayor and five councilmer I fought the payment of the balance on the unds that the mayor's acts were illegal and that the price of the ground was excessive. I believed we could buy as much ground in as good a location for less money The opposition caused several proposals to be sent in, one for a lot next to the present site for $7,500; another diagonally across the street for $10,000 and one from the school board for a lot at Ninth and Howard. The mayor refused to listen to argument. I succeeded in defeating the payment of part of the balance four months.

argued at that time that if we bought a cheaper lot we could use the balance of the money for an engine and hose cart If the mayor is right in saying that the fire could have been prevented by more apparatus he takes a stand against his own action. He has simply tried to make political capital out of the late fire."

Attacks Mayor's Aspirations. Zimman insinuated that the mayor is a candidate for congress and desires to increase his popularity. He attacked his general administration, asking what beneficial projects the mayor had ever advocated aside from the fire and police de-partments, and declaring that his messages were empty save for laudation of the departments and a word about municipal ownership, which Zimman characterised as "grandstand plays." He added that in the past it had been part of Mayor Moores' bargain with the public service corporations to permit them to appoint the Board of Tax Review, and that they had done this up to the time of the successful fight on public utility taxation. The president said he opposed the purchase of a metropolitan fire engine without competition because a representative of the Nott company had been shut out, the mayor telling him that the engine matter had been settled and that he had no time

The mayor simply says to one manufacturer, 'You have the best goods; all other manufacturers stay away.' The correct method is to invite competition and secure the best goods for the least money." said Zimman. Zimman finished by saying that even though the council had approved the purchase of a metropolitan engine it would not be built until January or February. He added that he thought every councilman and every person in the city, for that matter, felt as much regret over the death of the firemen as the mayor.

There were no fireworks. Zimman made his statement without excitement of any kind. Mayor Moores was not present. the end of the meeting the council adjourned until 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, when a memorial meeting for the dead firemen will be held. The program will be prepared in the meantime and announced Mayor Moores vetoed a bill of $840 from the Nebraska Bitulithic company for use of its asphalt plant in repairing streets, and the council sustained the action. The mayor said the charge of $36 a day for the plant is outrageous. Figuring the value of the plant at $12,000, 10 per cent interest, 15 per cent for depreciation, $120 for insurance and $340 for taxes, he found that the total would be $3,360, or $9.21 a day. However, the message went on to say, the valuation of the plant was returned to the tax department at $5,190, which would make a fair return on the investment only $8 a

John Grant, manager of the company, has stated that at the time of the assessment the plant was not complete, further that it meant an outlay of $15,000, for which he has bills to show. Councilman Hoye said that while he thought some compensation due for the use of the plant, he deemed $35 a day excessive

For Cleaner Streets.

Councilman Schroeder had a concurren resolution adopted that will make for a cleaner city if enforced. It asks that the street and police departments be requested to co-operate with the council in keeping the sidewalks and paving clean; that the Board of Fire and Police commissioners be specifically requested to issue directions to the chief of police to have the policemen enforce ordinances forbidding the casting of waste paper, straw and other refuse upon the street, especially paper from bill boards and straw and litter around feed

If Councilman Back has his way every property owner will be required to keep the walk in front of his land free from snow and ice. A resolution adopted last night directs the city attorney to draw up ar ordinance demanding this service.

Authority was given to Treasurer Hen nings to employ additional cierical labor in his office at the rate of 35 cents an hour to prepare the delinquent tax lists in order that they may be placed in the hands of the county treasurer for enforcement of the "scavenger" law next year. According to Mr. Hennings the city stands to recover several hundred thousands of dollars in

Arrangements were made to equip every fire engine station in the city with water seating apparatus for the use of the men and to fit all houses with storm doors and sindows wherever needed. ### OMAHA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

At fast the long agitated and much dis ussed teachers' chorus has become reality and the organization promises to b one of the most profitable that has ever been effected among the teachers. Last year the teachers arranged for the presentation by Miss Fannie Arnold, superviso of music, of four of Wagner's operas as seture recitals, she being assisted by a chorus of thirty-five teachers in addition to several local soloists. The rehearsals were held at Cass school and these proved so profitable that all of the teachers wished continue them. Two weeks ago a meeting was held at Cass school and the chorus organized with seventy-five charter members. Mrs. Cora S. Anderson was elected president; Miss Adelle Gratiot, vice president: Miss Fannie Myers, secretary: Miss Carrie Fairchild, treasurer; Miss Fannie Arnold to act as director and Miss Anni Mack, accompanist. The original Wagner chorus was limited to thirty-five members because the choirloft where they were to sing would not accommodate a larger number, but the new chorus is unlimited, and all who are interested in joining it are cordially invited to attend the next meet nduction of the present Board of Fire and day afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The meetings Police Commissioners, the mayor had ex- are to be held once a month at Cass, be cause of its central location, and before both departments. He said that the board the rehearsals a light refreshment will be was absolutely controlled by the mayor and served the teachers. In addition to the that any policeman or fireman who had chorus there will be the Wagner quartet, consisting of Miss Fan 'e Myers, first so prano; Miss Macy Stammhorst, second so with him before he could have a trial. At prano: Mrs. Cora S. Anderson, first alto. one time, Zimman asserted, the mayor and Miss Belle Beedle, second alto. It is went so far as to employ sixteen policemen, the intention to take up the study of cantatas for the winter's work, and one of order uniforms before the other members of these may be presented later in the year. For the present the chorus will be only a study club, and it is expected that the oming meeting Friday afternoon

Under the direction of their teacher, Miss Isaacson, the girls of the eighth B class at Long school gave one of the most enjoyable of the many Thanksgiving entertainments Wednesday afternoon, a large at tendance of parents and friends being present. Miss Florence Lancaster, as class prophet, Ingeniously pictured the future of the class members as indicated now, affording all a great deal of amusement. A musical program, followed Misses Lillan Woolstencroft, Florence Lancaster, Helen Harris and Maria Roman contributing plano solos; Miss Fannie Arnold, supervisor of music, and Miss Jessie Pierson and Master Paul Jamison vocal numbers. Recita-Mullen, Fannie Dyhrberg, Margaret Gufnane, Ruth Fensch and Marcy Miller. Several songs by the class and a chorus from the kindergarten concluded the afternoon In the evening the program was repeated at Kellom school, affording much entertainment and enjoyment to the members of the night school.

Under the supervision of Miss Fannie Arnold the pupils of Comenius school will give a musicale Friday evening, December II, at Bohemian Turners' hall, Thirteenth and Martha streets, they to be assisted by other local talent. The proceeds of the entertainment are to go to a fund for securing a natural history collection for Comenius school, this collection to be a me morial to the late Miss Ellen White, who was principa! of the school from the time it was built until her death last year. Comenius includes some of the best musica talent in the city schools, and this is especially encouraged by the Bohemian residents of the neighborhood. For several weeks past Miss Arnold has been training a chorus of 120 voices from the grades and another of thirty-six voices from the kinise to contribute an interesting feature of the program.

The pupils of Dundee made their first Thanksgiving offering last week, their contribution proving a very acceptable gift to the Old Pople's Home.

By the marriage last week of Miss Nina Kinkead the fourth grade at Franklin school was left without a teacher. A temporary assignment has been made, but the vacancy will be permanently filled soon.

The following memorial to Miss Lucy J. Roys, whose death occurred last week, has been adopted by the Teachers' Annuity and Aid association:

Aid association:

In the death of Miss Lucy J. Boys the Teachers' Annuity and Aid association has been called upon to mourn the loss of a third charter member. Miss Roys was modest and retiring in her nature and characterized by her unselfish devotion to family, to friends, to duty.

High ideals and wide sympathies ruled her life. Bharing generously its responsibilities, its alms and its hopes, her counsel, her assistance in word and dead were with the Teachers' Annuity and Aid association always, from its inception until sudden death removed her from its ranks.

She rests from her labors and we who have lost her deplore her absence. We rejoice, however, and grow brave in the example to be remembered of her cheerful adherence to duty, as we place the name Lucy J. Roys with those other two dear and dead ones—Ellen M. White and Lida Hanna.

Coroner's Jury Accuses Mace G. Winn of Willful Murder-

STORY OF WITNESSES TO THE CRIME

Victim Was Running Away from the Accused, Who Followed and Fired but Once, Killing His Man Instantly.

Coroner Brailey held an inquest Tuesday afternoon over the remains of Dan Cashin At the conclusion of the testimony the jury brought in the following verdict: "Dan Cashin came to his death on November 29 in the City of South Omaha, Douglas county, Neb., from a gunshot wound fired from a revolver in the hands of Mace G. Winn with murderous intent, and we be-Heve that it was premeditated." This verdict is signed by Jurors Frank

Bennett, John Graham and Nate John The inquest was held in the council charge ber, which was crowded with colored felks during the taking of testimony. County Attorney English and Assistant County Attorney Montgomery represented the state Attorneys J. M. Macfarland and Henry C

Murphy were present and represented

E. Jones, O. E. Bruce, John Troutan, J. D.

Winn, who sat between his attorneys during the hearing. John Reaves, colored, was the first witness. Reaves testified that he was in Roth's saloon when Cashin and Winn were there. No words passed between the men while in the saloon. While Cashin was getting a bucket filled with beer, Winn removed his overcoat and laid it on a chair, Cashin left the saloon first and Winn fol lowed him out, closing the door behind

Witness asserted that he and William Miller were standing at a rear window of the saloon at the time and saw both men in the yard. An argument of some kind took place out in the yard, but all that witness heard was Winn call Cashin a ltar. After this remark had been made Winn, so the witness testified, struck at Cashin. In order to ward off the blow Cashin threw up his arm and Winn struck the bucket of beer, spilling it all over himself. Cashin then started to run through the passageway between the saloon and butcher shop.

Witness declared that he saw Winn draw a revolver and start after Cashin. A moment after Winn had turned the corner witness heard a shot.

Reaves said that after the shot Winn re turned to the saloon, picked up his overcoat and walked out of the yard. No attempt was made by any of those in the saloon to prevent Winn from escap-Witness then went on to detail the position Cashin was found and how the police were notified.

William Miller, colored, who steed with Reaves at the window was the second witness. He told practically the same story as Reaves. Drs. Thomas Kelly and C. E. Sapp testifled to having held an autopsy on the remains of Cashin. They described the bullet wound and gave it as their opinion that death was almost instantaneous.

This closed the testimony and the jdry retired to consider the testimony. It took the jury only about ten minutes to bring in a verdict. As soon as the verdict had been announced Chief Briggs handcuffed Winn and removed him to the county jail in Omaha for safe keeping.

Mrs. Cashin arrived in South Omaha from Kansas yesterday and made arrangements for the funeral. Services will be held Thursday afternoon at Brewer's undertaking pariors, Twenty-fifth and N streets. Rev. Biggars of the African Methodist Episcopai church will officiate: Interment will be at Laurel Hill cemetery.

Locating Hydr-ats.

Members of the city council are having hard time locating the sixteen hydrants to of bone and the ends are drawn through be placed at once, under the conditions of the new franchise ordinance. Each councliman wants as much for his ward as he can get, and that is where the difficulty comes in. In the southeast and southwest sections of the city there is an urgent demand for city water. In fact, every section of the city is demanding water and the councilmen realize the necessity for locating hydrants to the best possible advantage, owing to the large number of expense. In order to get a pattern enclose small dwellings which have been erected this year. Under the terms of the contract with the water company hydrants must be located every 400 feet. This makes the matter of placing hydrants all the more difficult. It is expected, however, that some agreement will be reached whereby hydrants will be satisfactorily located at the next meeting of the council. As the city has the right to locate twenty hydrants next year it may be that the entire thirty-six will be located at one time, as the present year is so nearly closed. November Stamp Sales.

Stamp sales at the South Omaha post office for November amounted to $7.148.28. In November, 1903, the sales amounted to only $5,929.80. A comparison of the figures shows an increase for last month $1,218.48. Had some orders for stamped envelopes filled by the packers arrived in time the sales last month would have shown a much larger increase. As it is Postmaster Etter appears to be well pleased with the showing made.

Railroad Company Organizes.

A meeting of the etockholders of the Omaha & Southern railroad company was held yesterday afternoon and the following directors chosen: Zachariah Cuddingtor A. A. Tully, Lyman Waterman, Charles E Miller, John J. Ryan, E. J. Sullivan and B. E. Wilcox. The directors elected these officers: B. E. Wilcox, president; Z. Cuddington, vice president; Charles E. Miller, secretary; E. J. Sullivan, treasurer. Lyman Waterman was appointed general manager. This company is incorporated for $250,000 and purposes to operate a railroad between South Omaha and Papililon. It was stated by one of the officers of the company last night that the right-of-way from Papillion to the South Omaha city limits had been purchased and that arrangements had been completed to finance the scheme. The offices of the company will be in South Omaha. Construction work is to commence in a short time, so the officers of the company say.

Taxes Delinquent Soon.

City taxes for 1963 become delinquent or January 1. This year the taxes fall due in one installment and not in two as last year. City Treasurer Howe said last even-ing that property owners were paying up rapidly now and that the books show that more taxes have been paid up to Decomber 1 than ever before. None of the corporations have paid yet, the bulk of the money ecming in being paid by small property owners. Statements of taxes due by the corporations are being prepared by the treasurer and will be submitted to the big concerns upon request. As a general thing the heavy taxpayers walt until the end of December before mailing checks. When this money comes in there will be quite a balance in the city treasury.

Advertising Bond Sale. The City of South Omaha is advertising in The Omaha Dally Bee an issue of $11,000 renewal bonds. This issue is to bear date of November 1, 1932, and draws interest at the rate of 5 per cent, maturing in ten years. Interest is payable semi-annually at the state fiscal agency to New York City.
