FAILS TO SECURE MONEY ON THE PAPER

Owing to His Youth and Inability to Comprehend seriousness of the Offense No Prosecution Will Follow.

Fred Rooney, a 14-year-old messenger boy in the employ of the Postal Telegraph company, decided yesterday that he needed some money and that the ensiest way to obtain it would be to forge the name of Henry, the widow, and the other heir be Miss J. Z. Longe, the company's local manager, to a check. Miss Longe keeps the company's local account in the First National bank, a fact which was known to was an easy matter, and the lad made it out in his favor for the sum of $10, signing to it the name of Miss Longe.

When he presented it at the bank the paying teller at once noticed that the signature did not correspond with that of Miss Longe and called the boy's attention to the fact. The lad contended that the check had been given him in payment for his services, but when the receiving teller went to the telephone to call up Miss Longe about it young Rooney made a dash for the door and disappeared.

Miss Longe when shown the check prounced her signature a forgery and notined the lad's parents. The boy returned home after his failure to cash the check and told his mother that he had been discharged. When she learned of his misdoing she made him accompany her to the office of the company and there make a confession. Out of consideration for the boy's parents and the fact that it was his first offense Miss Longo decided not to have the lad arrested, but he will not continue in the employment of the company.

Young Rooney stated that had he secured the money he meant to have run away from home to seek his fortune in some western Attacks Anti-Trust Law.

The American Bridge company in its suit in the United States court in this city against the Portland Gold Mining company of Colorado filed yesterday a demurrer to the answer of the defendant company, in which the plaintiff contends that the Iowa anti-trust law is unconstitutional and not applicable to contracts entered into and performed without the state of Iowa.

The American Bridge company, as assignee of the Gillette-Herzog company of eapolis, brought suit against the Portland Gold Mining company for about $70,600, balance alleged to be due for the conattraction of a reducing and refining plant.

The Portland company in denying the claim set up the defense that the American Bridge company was part of a trust known as the United States Steel corporation and as being such was not entitled, under the laws of lows, to recover for goods sold.

The Portland company in addition set up a counterclaim of about $140,000, alleging that land Gold Mining company for about $70,counterclaim of about $140,000, alleging that it lost this amount through fallure of the contracting firm to complete the plant within the time specified.

Judge Carland Makes Appointment
SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Dec. 2—(Special.)—Judge Carland of the United States court in this city has appointed Paul Babcock of them.

On the contrary, it clearly appears that On the contrary, it clearly appears that the faculty and the students disagree with certain of Prof. Bassett's opinions, so far as we can ascertain, unanimously. Neither do we agree with him. Nevertheless, both faculty and students with equal unanimity have manifested their desire that this board decline to accept Prof. Bassett's offer of his resignation, and for the following reasons, which seem to us too high and vital, we do decline to accept it. to accept it.

Reason for Keeping Teacher.

First. Any form of coercion of thought and private judgment is contrary to one of the constitutional aims of Trinity college, which is "to cherish a sincere spirit of Second. We are particularly unwilling to lend ourselves to any tendency to destroy or limit academic liberty.

Third. We believe that society in the end finds a surer benefit than it can secure by yielding to its resentments. The search for truth should be unhampered and in an atmosphere that is free. Liberty may sometimes lead to folly, yet it is better that some should be tolerated than all should speak and think under the deadening influence of repression.

and think under the deadening inductive or repression.

Fourth. The matter that has engaged our attention is of more than total interest, and will be far-reaching in its results.

Fifth Trinity college is amiliated with a great church, whose spirit and doctrines are tolerant and generous, and a due ragard for the teachings and traditions of this Christian society requires us to exercise our judgment in harmony with its spirit and doctrines.

doctrines.

Viewing this matter in the light of those wider interests, and finding that there is no complaint against Prof. Bassett's moral character, his scholarly fitness, his energy, his competency at a teacher, or his command of the confidence of his classes, we are sure that duty requires us to decline the offer of his resignation.

We state as a fact that Prof. Bassett does not believe in nor does he teach social equality, and we have confidence in him as a man and a teacher.

The statement is signed by T. F. Marr and J. H. Southgate, as a committee. After the announcement of the action of the trustees, a large number of students gathered on the college campus and hanged in effigy Editor Josephus Daniels, whose paper, the News and Observer, had led the fight against the doctrines gromulgated by Prof. Bassett.
