Save Submarine Boat.

When Tows Break Away it is Compelled to See One Go Ashore While Other is Saved.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 4.-The naval tug Objection to this was made by the Peoria towing the submarine torpedo boat teamsters who deliver coal at the various Adder, has arrived at the navy yard here. The Adder was saved by the heroism of Boatswain Derry, who responded to a call for volunteers and swam 100 yards with a hawser after him. The Moccasin is ashore at Currituck and appears to be only slightly damaged. The Adder is leaking badly. The Peorla left tonight for Currituck to aid the Yankton and Vixen in floating the Moccasin, which is now high and dry upon the beach. When Boatswain Derry responded to the call for a volunteer to swim to the Adder a thirty-four mile gale, with mountainous seas, was crashing over the Peorla and burying the drifting submarine boats be-CHICAGO, Dec. 4.-John J. Derry, with a sienmer secretary of the Chicago Police Pen- der line fastened around his waist, plunged sion board, but later connected with the into the ocean and battled with wind and city clerk's office, was today asked to re- tide for a full 100 yards, finally reaching from the public service. He promptly the Adder and gaining its deck. There he hauled a thick hawser aboard by means

> At this time the Adder was being tossed about like a cork one minute, and driven far beneath the surface the next, rolling and walloping in such a manner as to make it almost impossible to retain a position upon its scanty decking, but Derry held on and accomplished his work, Then he went back to the tug hand over hand on the hawser.

Moccasin in Bad Shape.

Great confusion was caused here today by conflicting reports regarding the whereabouts of the Peorla, Adder and Yankton. The navy yard was without any informaion whatever and the weather bureau reported the tug and the Adder as going direct to Annapolis. In naval circles these circumstances, together with the inability of the life savers to enter the stranded vessel, caused some uneasiness, especially over the condition of the Moccasin. The Currituek life saving station reports the Moccasin in good condition, without any

From the reports received, however, it is not thought any headway can be made toward floating the vessel without the aid of wreckers, as it is high and dry upon the beach at low water and directly in a steady surf and high tide. It was said at the navy yard today that Boatswain Derry will be commended at once to the president for bravery.

The Adder is leaking and its electrical machinery is badly damaged. Lieutenant English, commanding the Peoria, eavs the little boat stowed very well, indeed, until they were just off the Virginia capes.

Trowlines Break in Heavy Sea. There the heavy seas running at the time proved too much for the frail towing bits of the Adder, which was towing first, following the tug. They snapped short and two submarine vessels went adrift

The Peorla sought to catch them, but they drifted southward before the wind rapidly. There were only the broken bits on which to get a hold, so the tug could only run in between them and keep them from bumping together.

The seas were running entirely too high, the lieutenant said, for the tug to run alongside the boats, and it would have been sulcidal to have lowered a boat. All the Peoria could do, therefore, was to keep the boats apart. All Wednesday night this continued, and then the line between the boats snapped.

It was then that Boatswain Derry, who omes from Brooklyn, performed his heroic act in a last attempt to save the boats. After he had made fast his line to th Adder and succeeded at the risk of his life in regaining the tug, consideration was given to anchoring the Moccasin, but it was seen that it would be impossible to anchor it. The tug, it was found, could handle only one of the boats in the heavy seas. The Yankton appeared and the Moccasin was left to it, while the Peoria fought its way up the coast with the Adder

SECRETARY MOODY'S REPORT

Head of Navy Tells of Work of that Department.

REFORMS ARE DESIRED IN THE SERVICE

Specific Recommendations Are Made for the Adoption of Any.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.-Secretary of the Navy Moody in his annual report refers at length to the organization of the Navy de partment length to the organization of the Navy department:

As the naval establishment grows in importance and the amount of public money devoted to its maintenance is increased its proper administration justily becomes an object of solicitude. There has been, therefore, much discussion concerning the organization of the department. It is asserted by many, both wishin and without the naval service, that alterations in the organic law governing the administration of the naval affairs would result in an increased efficiency and economy. The agitation for a change comes from so many and such respectable quarters that it cannot be denied consideration. It has been pointed out with truth that in the civil war, and in a very much less degree in the war with Spain the organization proved inadequate. The practices prevailing in times of peace were modified and additional agencies of military administration were adopted, and it is claimed that a form of military administration that is not adapted alike to war and to peace is not a suitable one. There cannot be said to be an agreement upon the exact measure of the reform desired, nor, indeed, an universal agreement that any reform at all is needed.

The proposals for changes may be classified as follows:

1. Alterations in the naval yards which will increase the power and responsibility of officers stationed there over and for work progressing therein.

2. The corasolidation of the bureaus in the department.

3. The creation of a general staff which shall be responsible for the efficiency of

2. The consolidation of a general staff which shall be responsible for the efficiency of the vessels affoat and the personnel of the navy, collect and digest military information upon which plans for active operations may be made and act as the military udvisors of the secretary, having no authority save such as may be conferred on it from time to time by the secretary.

Does Not Recommend Changes.

It is not my purpose to retommend specifically at this time any of these proposals, but to bring them forward for the earnest consideration which their importance deserves. Mere change is not reform and none should be attempted until it appears clearly that conditions could be bettered thereby.

It is gratifying to note that the percentage of citizenship in the enlisted force of the navy is steadily growing. The number of enlisted men in the service June 39, 1903, including petty officers, seamen and other ratings, landsmen for training and apprentices, was 27,2-5. Of this number 70.8 per cent were native born and 10.9 unnaturalized citizens, the total percentage of citizenship being 90.1 per cent as compared with 89 per cent at the beginning of the fiscal year. The expenditures for the support of the navy have increased considerably during the last fiscal year, larger than in any year of our histo y except 1854 and 1865, and are certain to increase atill further. The total in 1908 was 382,165,184.

Careful consideration during the past year to the consideration of naval construction confirms me in the views expressed in my last annual report that the ship building of the navy should be continued by the annual authorization of new vessels.

Work of Life-Saving Crews.

Work of Life-Saving Crews.

S. I. Kimball, the general superintenden of the life saving service, in his annua report says:

report says:

The number of disasters to vessels within the scope of the operations of the service during the year, while not so great as in the last two preceding years, was still considerably above the average and the percentage of loss of life to the number of lives involved was practically the same, showing that the high standard of efficiency attained by the service has been maintained. The number of lives lost was twenty-four, one less than hast year, while the number of persons involved, 4,339, was greater by 119.

"Sir, it is your kidneys," said the family physician. "that causes that pain in your back, that has cast you down, given you that worn-out, flabby feeling, depressed your spirits, destroyed your digest ion, ruined your appetite and thrown you into despondency. The result of my test is shown in this testing tube."

You might have made the same test y ourself at home by leaving some morning urine undisturbed for twenty-four hours in an ordinary glass or bottle. Then, if you find a reddlesh brown sediment like "brickd ust" in the bottom of the glass, or the urine is cloudy or milky, or there are particles or germs floating about in it, your kidneys have been diseased for a long time.

More suffering and deaths result from affections of the kidneys than from all other diseases, and principal ly because they are not discovered in

There is no time to waste, if you would be cured. It is dangerous to neglect your kidneys for even a day; take Safe Cure, which has been prescribed by leading doctors for the past thirty years, and is used in all prominent hospitals exclusively, as the only absolutely safe, certain and permanent cure for diseases of the kidneys. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4.-Speaker Cannon, resenting what he deemed an in sult from Herman J. Schultwis, chairman Secretary Wilson will leave the Knights of Labor, summarily ordered schultels from the speaker's room at the to the labor leader never to darken his door again.

Mr. Schultels made his first call upon the speaker several days ago with the demand that Representative Livernash of San Francisco be made chairman of the committee on labor, and that Representative Winn of the same city be made a member of that committee. As both these men are members of the minority, Mr. Cannon explained to Mr. Schulteis that their committee assignments would depend on the recommendation of Ecpresentative Williams, the minority floor leader, but that it would be impossible to make Mr. Livernash chairman of the committee, as the chairmanships would go to the rua-

When Mr. Schulteis appeared before the speaker today he announced in what was taken by that official to be an offensive manner that the labor committee had been 'packed."

Threatens to Beat Cannon

He renewed his demand that Mr. Liveragah be assigned to this committee, announcing that he had defeated Mr. Cannon for election to the Fifty-second con gress, and that unless his request in this instance was accorded, he would go into the speaker's district in the next campaign. Mr. Schultels did not have time to finish telling the speaker what he would do to him, as Mr. Cannon at this point gave his peremptory order for the man's ejection from the room, stating as he did so that there was no chance of the committee being 'packed' by Mr. Schulteis Just as Mr. Schulteis went out, Sidney Bieber, the fire marshal of the District of Columbia, entered, bearing a miniature brass cannon. As he placed the cannon or the speaker's deek, he remarked: "Mr Speaker, it sometimes takes a little cannon to protect a big cannon.
