"The Illinois. Telegraph and Telephone company, which is now operating lines in the downtown quarter of Chicago, will connect its wires with those of our company at Hyde park early next spring. The two companies will then build lines to the Chicago city limits, where they will be connected with those of the independent telephone companies. When this work is completed, we shall have accomplished what we have been endeavoring to do for many years, that is, to connect Chicago with the inde pendent companies operated throughout Illinois and adjoining states. The result of this movement on the part of the independent companies will be far-reaching and as soon as our lines are ready to compete with the present system in Chicago there will be a decided reduction in the

Refuse to Pay Fare to Car Conductor with No Union Button.

RESULT IS A FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT

Tealnmen Propose to Stop Car, Whereupon Crowd Wreeks It and Chases Them to Places of Refuge.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 .- In a riot today growing out of the recent strike on the Chicago City railway a car was wrecked by a mob of union sympathizers, who furiously attacked the nonunion conductor and motorman, badly injuring both. The crew of the car escaped into a nearby building, where they were guarded by police. The riot occurred on the Halstead street line, near Archer avenue.

The riot was participated in by hundreds of men and boys. Forced to flee from the car, the nonunion men were knocked off their feet and severely pummeled. Struggling up again, the victims fied in different directions, pursued by the crowd. The mob. falling to recapture the fugitives, returned to the car, which had been abandoned at Halstond street and Archer avenue, and wreaked vengeance upon the conveyance, destroying the woodwork and rendering the coach unfit for use. A patrol wagouload Gaffy in his work in the Sixth district has of police meantime rescued the two nonuniouists.

As a result of the riot street car traffic hour and hundreds of passengers were de-

Policeman Saves Conductor.

The nonunion conductor probably owes his life to Policeman Join O'Hara, who quickly grasped the situation, and in the nick of time threw open the front door leading to a private residence. O'Hara shouted to the man to take refuge within. Then the policeman appeared at a window and, with revolver drawn, threatened to shoot anyone who attempted to enter.

The trouble occurred owing to the refusal of passengers, among them several women to pay fares to the conductor, who wore no union button. When the nickels were refused him he announced that the car would stop unless the money was paid. At this several passengers in the car seized him, while others proceeded to the front platform and ordered the motorman to start the car. At first the motorman refused, but when one of the passengers exhibited a revolver concealed in the folds of his overcont he started the car and did not stop until Archer avenue was reached Then he leaped from the conveyance and ran, pursued by a crowd of men. The cortductor was then attacked. Both of the victims, it is said, were employed as strike breakers during the recent strike.

fortune to our country, or a blow inflicted upon our prosperity?

I go further and eliminate national pride. How many banks would fail on that account? How many factories would close because the Stars and Stripes were rights over this vast comain? What acre would be worth less? What men would be without work or receive less compensation? And yet were it so done, there would be free trade from the Guif of Mexico to the Arctic ocean. Mark you, I am not dreaming of annexation, nor am I advocating free trade with Canada, for the former is more remote than ever before and the latter is wholly impracticable. I have used the figure only to show that we can safely entage upon the negotiation of a reciprocal treaty. Senator Quarles, in responding to the toast, "Chamberlain's Revolution," said in ortune to our country or a blow inflicted part:

part:

It is hardly conceivable that British prejudice and inertia can be overcome in a single campaign. But sconer or later Chamberlain will be successful and free trade as an international policy will lose its last and most faithful adherent. We have no occasion to be despondent over the outlook. We still have the American market, which no foreign legislation can imperil.

American statesmanship will open up the markets of the far east. The first great step will scon be taken when we ratify the pending treaty with Panama for a famil across the isthmus.

The infant republic has sprung into being, animated by the holy inspiration to facilitate this great project of civilization, for which the world has been waiting so long. It stands out in bold relief against the background of bloodshed, intrigue and blackmall that have characterized the regime in Bogota.

Mr. Beaupre, under date of October 16, the text of the report of the committee of the Colombian senate on the project of a law to confirm the disapproval of the canal treaty by the senate, and to authorize the president to make a new treaty. The report takes the ground that the rejection of the treaty needs no approval, being a completed act, and that in any case the treaty expired by limitation of time on September 22. It also disapproves and recommends the indefinite postponement of the proposition of the president to make a new treaty. The motives for this action. though not positively asserted, is regarded at the State department as evidently the purpose entertained at Bogota, to prolong, under dilatory expedients, the whole question until next year, then to declare the French concession forfeited and to demand of the United States the $40,000,000 provided in the Spooner act, unless in the meanwhile they should be able to obtain from
