SCION OF A FAMOUS HOUSE

Mrs. Ackah S. Hammond of Omeha Descendant of the Wasfield Tree.

GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND IN FAMILY

Little Book at Mrs. Hammond's Hom Contains an Interesting History of This Noted

In an unpretentious cottage on North Twenty-fourth street lives a plain, elderly man, with perhaps as much family history back of her in the storied past as any sen of this new city. She is Mrs. Ackah Hammond. She is a kindly, simple nan, who does not attempt any "side," the English say, yet she has a great pride in the traditions of her race, and reasures the volume wherein are numbered the branches of her family tree. For Mrs. Hammond can say; "And Joktan be-Almodad, and unto Eber were born sons'-from the time when William Conqueror brought his foreign notions into England and changed the style in ames, down to December 13, 1903. the little volume in which are

When good old Edward III. launched the fraternity in 1345 new known as the Knights of the Garter, the court records of that thee show that the Warfields were still necessary to the business of the court, for Robert de Warfield was one of those mentioned as officially present and participating in the initiation. In later days the Warfields in Berkshire were joined with the Howards, of which clan were the dukes of Suffolk and of Berkshire, and George Howard became the husband of the daughter of Richard Warfield. It was this gentleman who came to Maryland in 1662, along with some of the Howards, and settled on the Severn and began the soothing of humanity with the weed which in a $1,500 upwards. later day was to become sought after as "pure Havana."

OMAHA REAL ESTATE NOTES

cal estate is the fact that everything is rented. Dwelling houses and business property alike is occupied, and there is a demand for more that can only be satisfied by building. This makes the outlook for busy building season next year brighter than ever. During a number of years past the winter season in Omaha has been devoted to an extensive campaign of building that has not gotten further than talk, but the present seems to be an exception, Architects decline to go into details, because their plans are not yet fully matured, but they admit that they are doing a great deal of preliminary work. No better investment is offered anywhere than in Omaha for the man who will erect small five to eight-room houses with modern conveniences for rent. A few of these cottages have been built during the last two or three years and have been snapped up with an avidity that it gratifying to the investor. The demand has not been satisfied and today there is not a modern cottage or flat in the city that is not bringing in good rental. This is not the result of a spasmodic demand, for the request is steady and is likely to be for years to come. That Omaha is on the printed the researches of the family his- verge of another era of growth is admitted on all sides and with growth necessarily e Conqueror was a worthy knight who come more people to rent houses and under re the family name-Warfield-with a the present conditions the houses must be French dialect to it, he being Pagan de built, for all that are now even habitable

> J. H. Methem, with R. C. Peters & Co. What has impressed us most favorably in the real estate market the past week or ten days is the number of owners of vacant property who are going to build houses for renting in the spring. Our firm has orders to build ten houses, consisting of single frame structures and double brick residences, from clients whom we have persuaded to improve their vacant property. We prophesy a very flattering return to investors who purchase inside ground at present prices, improving it with, say double brick residences. Houses of this character can be rented to return 10 per cent net on the amount invested with strong probability of the ground increasing 50 per cent in value in the next five years. For idle funds what safer or more attractive investment can anyone offer?"

Payne Bostwick & Co. report a very busy week, notwithstanding the severe weather. Inquiries for properties were heavy, and several sales were made, ranging from

Whiskey and Beer Habit

"ORRINE," A SAPE, GURE AND HARMLESS SPECIFIO.

Physicians prenounce druskenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a simulant. Continued fedulgence in whisker, beer or wine eats away the atomach lining and suppeties the dipestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and raining the bealth. No "will power" can heal the inflamed stomach membranes.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary; "ORRINE" can be taken at your own home without publicity. Can be given secretly if desired.

Mr. E. T. Sima, Brooklya, N. Y., writes:
