The State Board of Equalization will meet tomorrow afternoon and formally organise and pass on the schedules prepared in advance by Secretary Bennett. Auditor who was a member of the old board and perhaps knew more of its workings than any of the other members, will be present at this meeting. In a letter ritten to friends here he stated that he ould in all probability reach home the latter part of the week but not before. He was then in Casper and had not started home as it had been reported here on several occasions during the last few days In the letter Mr. Weston stated that he was endeavoring to make a satisfactory settlement of the affairs of the bank. The supreme court opinion in the revenue law, upon which the life or death of the board depends, is not due until Wednesday, based on the usual procedure of the court, though it may come down tomorrow in order that the board members may feel free to get down to work or free to quit work. It is impossible to say with any degree of accuracy what the decision will be. It is told on good authority today that Commissioner Duffle, who with Com-

Nothing definite, however, can be said in the matter because another rumor from the consultation room was that at least one of the judges would endorse the opinion written by Commissione Duffie.

> Cutting His Throat or Shooting Himself.

FREMONT, Neb., Dec. 14 .- (Special.)-A. Langston, who tried to commit suicide about three months ago by cutting his throat with a piece of glass, made another unsuccessful attempt this morning. He first tried to cut his throat with a pocketknife, but the knife was dull and his knowledge of anatomy rather deficient, and instead of severing an artery he only made several jagged wounds below his right ear, which bled profusely were painful. He then decided to try the gunshot route, on account of its being a little more sure in its results. He sat down on the side of the bed, placed a target rifle between his knees, with the muzzle against his forehead and discharged the gun with his foot. Instead of the bullet crashing through his skull, owng to the gun slipping a little, it simply scratched the top of his forehead. The report of the gun aroused his family, who found him sitting on the edge of the bed, the rifle at his side, blood trickling from the wounds in his neck, and thoroughly disgusted at the failure of his third attempt to make away with himself. friends and former business His associates think he is mentally unbalanced and has been so much of the time since his retirement from the Fremont Cider company, of which firm he was a member arrangements have commenced to make their plans for the coming affairs. The poultry show will be held in the Colvin implement warehouse, a building that will furnish all the room needed to display the entries properly. The president of the show is J. F. Reinelt of Tripp and Will Scallin of Mitchell is secretary. This will be the fifth exhibition under the state auspices, having graduated from a county exhibition started about nine years ago. Good cash prizes will be offered in all the classes. while the business men have put up a large umber of special premiums for the exhibitors. Several silver loving cups will be put up by the association for sweepstakes. W. S. Russell of Ottumwa, Ia., has been secured as judge of the show. The meeting of the live stock breeders will be an important one among the stock men of the state. The association was organized one year ago, the president being J. M. Erion of Mitchell, with Prof. J. W. Wilson of the Brookings Agricultural college as secretary. Mr. Wilson has written to the poultry men that there will be over 400 representative breeders of the state in attendance at the meeting. Aside from the literary features of the breeders' meeting will be a public sale of thoroughbred cattle and considerable room has been asked for the stock while the sale is in progress. A similar sale under the auspices of the assoclation was held at Huron last spring and it was a marked success, and it is believed that the coming one will be even larger, owing to the association's greater prom!- nence in the state. The premium list and program for each meeting of the association will be issued in the course of a few weeks.
