

TALKS OF RACE QUESTION

Governor of North Carolina Tells What that State Has Done. HAS TAKEN NEGRO OUT OF POLITICS

Executive of Old North State Would Have Him Disfranchised and Then Stand on His Own Merits.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 19.—Cotton bolls, pine trees and the flags of Maryland and North Carolina were the principal decorations at the first annual dinner of the North Carolina society of Baltimore tonight in the banquet hall of the Carrollton hotel. Three hundred persons sat at the table, guests of the new society. Governor-elect Edwin Wardlaw was first speaker and welcomed the guests. He was followed by Governor Charles E. Aycock of North Carolina, who spoke in part as follows:

I am proud of my state, because there have been solved the negro problem which recently seems to have given you some trouble. We have taken him out of politics and have thereby secured good government under any party and laid foundations for the future of our white races. We have secured peace and rendered property a certain and permanent right to you our solution of this problem. It is first, as far as possible under the limitations imposed by the constitution, to remove the negro from the franchise, to leave him alone; quit writing about him; quit talking about him; quit making him the white man's burden; let him take his own path; quit adding him; let him learn that no man, no race, ever got anything out of having himself do not care; that character is the outcome of nature; that whatever his future may be the present has in it for him nothing that is not the result of his own industry, thrift, obedience to law and uprightness; that he cannot by reason of counsel or logic accomplish anything that he can do much by work; that violence may gratify his passions, but it cannot accomplish his ambition; that he may rest rarely of the cooking of equality, but he will always find when he does that there is death in the end.

Keep the Races Distinct. Let the negro learn once for all that there is a unending separation of the races, that the two peoples must develop side by side to the fullest, but that they cannot intermingle. Let the white man understand that the negro has a thought or speech that crosses this line, and the race problem will be at an end. These things are not said in enmity to the negro, but in regard for him. He considers one of the products of the population of my state, he has always been my personal friend. As a lawyer I have often defended him and as a governor I have frequently protected him. But there flows in my veins the blood of a white man who believes that the race that has conquered the earth and seeks out the mysteries of the heights and depths of the universe, if manifest destiny leads to the seizure of Panama it is certain that it likewise leads to the dominance of the Caucasians. When the negro recognizes this we shall have peace and good will between the white races, but I would not have the white people forget their duty to the negro. We must see that the negro is not given an obligation to the man in black. We brought him here; we served us well; he is patient and teaches; we owe him gratitude. Above all we owe him justice. As a white man I am afraid of but one thing for my race, and that is that we shall become afraid to give the negro a fair chance.

OPENING NEW COAL PROPERTY

Monarch Company Expects Soon to Be Mining Three Thousand Tons Daily. SHERIDAN, Wyo., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—The Wyoming Coal Mining company, a newly organized enterprise here, is preparing in making extensive preparations for the development of its coal properties, located on Tongue river. A large drift has been opened and tipples completed and is now in good working order. An average of ten tons per acre is being mined and after December 21 the company expects to mine about twenty tons per acre. Machinery is being installed for mining 3,000 tons per day, and the company expects to take out this amount of coal in the near future. The quality of coal is of the best lignite class. Manager W. C. McCarthy says they are unable at present to supply the demand. A complete system of water works has been constructed and electricity is used for all lighting purposes. A force of 50 men is regularly employed and a large number of houses have been erected for the employes.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic. It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or, rather, in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey. The daily use of these lozenges will soon lead to a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; in my cabinet twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some cases a patent preparation, yet I believe it to be more and better charcoal than I get more and better charcoal in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

"The Girl with the Green Eyes" at the Boyd. Charles Frohman's company in "The Girl with the Green Eyes," a play in four acts by Clyde Fitch. The cast: "Jimmie Austin".....Edith Shayne Mr. Tillman, her father.....W. H. Tucker Mrs. Tillman, her mother.....Mrs. T. Whitford Geoffrey Tillman, her brother.....Frank Johnson Susie, her cousin.....Edith Talliferro Miss Tillman, her sister.....Frank Johnson Miss Grace Dune, her bridegroom.....Flynna Miska Mrs. Dune, her mother.....Elizabeth Emmet Miss Gertrude Wood, a bridegroom.....Miss Gertrude Wood Maggie, maid at the Tillman's.....Maggie Kitchen Tillman's maid.....Edith Shayne Kitcheen Tillman's maid.....Edith Shayne Footman at the Tillman's.....Walter Dickinson John Austin, a doctor.....Robert Drouet Miss Cullingham.....Grace Henderson Peter Cullingham, her brother.....Frank Johnson Mrs. Lopp.....Ellen Rowland Mrs. Lopp's maid.....Ethel Rowland Clyde Fitch has conceived a possibility, hardly a probability, and has written a clever play around it. His first two acts are of the genuine Fitchian sort—superficial, frivolous, not exactly naive, but narrowly escaping that condition, yet relieved from absolute unwhimsicality by scattered wit and wit, much brighter than the ordinary Fitch output, being at times really witty, and some "stage business" that is sarcastic at times and satirical at others, cynical, ironical, comical, and always funny. In the third act the action reaches its height, and reaches the most tremendous climax he has yet attained. The scene, the action, the dialogue, the whole situation is of suppressed intensity that at last bursts its bounds, and the natural man and woman speak for themselves. The story has to do with a girl predisposed to jealousy through inheritance, who weds a man she loves and who loves her, and who, being normal, cannot conceive of the passion that consumes his wife. Her brother has succeeded in marrying two women and the husband tries to help him. The play is a study in the psychology of the husband in love with one of the women, and as he cannot tell her the truth, the row is on. It culminates in her denouncing him, refusing to believe him, and finally hearing the truth from the lips of the woman she suspects. Then the husband tells her his love is dead, and leaves the house. He comes back, though, and all is forgiven and forgotten—in the play.

Miss Edith Shayne is called upon to assume the role of Jimmie, which Mrs. Bloodgood has had from the first, owing to the temporary absence of the star from the company. A certain nervousness natural enough under the circumstances is noticeable in Miss Shayne's earlier scenes, but she comes to the climax she collects herself and the powerful scenes of the third act are given with virile force. Her struggle with herself, her effort to keep down the rising tide of suspicion and its attendant rages, a really magnificent bit of acting by the way, is a masterpiece done to win her a warm round of applause. She was given a very cordial reception last night.

Miss Rose Flynn shares honors with Miss Shayne in her part of Ethel Chatter, the unwhimsical cause of the trouble, and Miss Henderson makes Miss Cullingham from Peoria as breezy as even Clyde Fitch could imagine a western girl. Too bad he doesn't study the real thing and not insist on giving us the Broadway conception. Mr. Robert Drouet makes Jack Austin, the husband, a most admirable man, patient, honest, slow to wrath but terrible when moved. His methods are sane and natural and his results are almost as certain as mathematics. He has apparently given the part much study, and the audience last night had the advantage of seeing him under the spur natural to the condition. His apparent determination to please showed him the way to a most enjoyable interpretation of a role that had its difficulty in its simple straightforwardness. That he is able to co-ordinate the values of the part and present each just as it should be, with not even a semblance of overacting—even to smoking one of his father-in-law's cigars with the object suggested by that estimable gentleman in view—certain evidence of his capacity. Frank Dekum is good as the brother who has made the trouble.

The entire cast is up to the Frohman standard and the staging of the piece is another tribute to Mr. Fitch's ability as a master of his craft. He doesn't even forget the people who prefer musical comedy, for he has Jimmie sing a rag-time song right in the middle of the third act, an incident that seems a little incongruous, although most naturally introduced, and a demand for another verse last night. The play was the occasion for the first appearance of society in force at the theatre for several weeks. If any were seriously disappointed at the absence of Mrs. Bloodgood, such did not manifest it, for the welcome given both play and players was spontaneous and generous. Mrs. Whitford was singled out for a warm welcome when she first came on, as was Mrs. Shayne.

Seymour Camp Degree Team's Benefit. Woodmen of the World will go to St. Louis next September to compete in the national competitive drill of the organization. This much was made certain by the crowded theatre last night when the women had a benefit in the Krug. The drill team attended in uniform and the boxes were filled by officers of the society. Flags and banners were draped about the boxes and the prize ribbons of Seymour camp were displayed. Central camp No. 14 of Council Bluffs, under Captain Seymour, occupied a box and Alpha team, under Captain Haggerty, was present. Seymour has won five first prizes and one second since its organization three years ago. At the drill in this city last March it won the national championship and afterward went to Milwaukee to put on the drill before the grand sovereign camp. There are twenty-four men in the team. The officers who were present were: M. H. Redford, past council; John Seymour, council commander; John Kuhn, advisor; Helmant; Earl Hille, banker; Robert Fortman, captain; and John Crawford.

ACCEPTS THE EXPLANATION

Secretary of War Will Take No Further Steps in MacArthur Matter. PRIVATE CONVERSATION WAS QUOTED

Precedent in Such Case Causes Department to Let Matter Rest Where It is at Present.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The secretary of war has determined to take no further action regarding the utterance of Major General MacArthur in Honolulu recently, in which he is alleged to have predicted war between the United States and Germany in a telegram to the department. General MacArthur explains that his remarks were made in private conversation and not with the slightest idea that they would be given publicity. In view of the precedents in such cases, the department will allow the matter to drop.

Tyner and Barrett Demur. Arguments on the demurrers filed by counsel for the defendants to the indictments against them in the cases of the United States against James N. Tyner and Harrison J. Barrett were begun before Justice Pritchard in criminal court No. 1 today. Both Tyner and Barrett formerly were officials of the Postoffice department and were indicted for alleged violations of law as a result of the recent investigation into postal affairs. The objections to the indictments are based principally on the ground that the charges made against the defendants do not involve the commission of a crime, or of criminal acts, but constitute a mere conclusion of law.

Second Regiment Starts. The second squadron of the Second United States cavalry, including Troops E, F, G and H, with regimental headquarters and band, left Washington today for New York, whence they will embark Sunday on the army transport Kilpatrick for the Philippines. Six other troops of the Second cavalry from Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., will join the Washington contingent at New York. The remaining two troops already have left Fort Sheridan for San Francisco, from which point they will sail January 1.

NEW YORK CONGRESSMAN FREE

District Attorney Nullifies Indictment Because Act Was Done Before Congressman Qualified. NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The indictments against Congressman Driggs, under section 1381 of the revised statutes, were nullified today on motion of the district attorney in Brooklyn, but all indictments against him in Brooklyn, but all indictments against him under section 1381 are still in force and it was announced that the district attorney will soon proceed on them. The action taken was on the ground that the contract for procuring which Mr. Driggs was paid was obtained by him before he qualified as a member of congress, and therefore it was unconstitutional to charge any criminal offense.

For First Time in Illinois Case is Tried Before Female Panel. CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—For the first time in the history of the United States, as far as local records show, a jury composed of six women sat on a case before Judge Honore in the juvenile court today. The jury passed on a petition to have Mary McGann, 9 years of age, declared a delinquent and placed in an institution. The mother of the girl, Mrs. Ann McGann, declared that her child had been taken away from her and would die if taken away from her. The jury sympathized with the mother and returned a verdict that mother and daughter should be sent to Dunning. The verdict was concurred in by a jury of six men in order to make the verdict legal.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION MEETS

Adopts Resolution Endorsing the Bennett Company and Files Parry Letter.

The Central Labor union last night adopted a resolution calling upon all union men, their families and friends to make all possible purchases from the W. R. Bennett company because this firm has openly declared the Business Men's association its foe. The resolution carried with it an appropriation to have it published in all the daily papers.

Bennett of Duluth M. Parry, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, in a five-page letter replying to the Central Labor union's invitation to speak to laboring men when in Omaha recently, were coldly received, and briefly placed on file. President Parry referred to his recent pamphlet in reply to questions from the Indianapolis unions, and devoted many words to an exhaustive review of economic conditions and his view of the logical and controlling rules. He said he had failed to talk to the Omaha unions because he had to hurry to Marshalltown to keep a date there. Mr. Parry denied in toto that he received any salary from his position as head of the Manufacturers' association or the Citizens' industrial union now forming. He discussed the open shop proposition, making an abridgment of personal liberty and said that the labor question to be settled right must be approached from the standpoint of the individual; declared that unionism means a return to paternalism; compared unions to bands of charlatans and likened their members to freebooters. L. P. Hubbard of the Leather workers, John Huttenfeld of the Boot and Shoe workers and John Kerrigan of the Blacksmiths were delegated as delegates to the central body. A committee was appointed to assist in a raffle of fancy work for the benefit of Mrs. Mills, a Colorado woman who gave birth to a child in Omaha this week. She is here soliciting aid for her invalid husband, Frank, of Troy, Mo., and two small children at Joplin.

OMAHA VIEW IMPROVES MEET

Club Decides to Build Hall and Elects Officers for Ensuing Half Year. The semi-annual meeting of the Omaha View Improvement club was held last evening with a large attendance. Mrs. W. Carr was president and Mrs. Lyons, chairman of the committee on membership, stated that eight more members would be added to the roll at the first meeting in January.

Pursuant with the recommendation of the building committee the club decided to incorporate for the purpose of building and owning the proposed hall for club purposes. The general plan contemplates the issuance of stock approximating $1,000 in shares of $1 each, only members of the club being permitted to acquire stock and no one other than the club may own more than five shares of stock and that members desiring to dispose of their stock could do so only to members of the club.

GOSSIP ON COMMISSION ROW

Shoresh of Christmas Trees Inevitable Unless Forest Reserve is Established. Unless a forest reserve is established a shortage in Christmas trees is on the program. Notwithstanding the beautiful selection which was brought to light in the case, it seems to be the general opinion that those who defer buying their trees until the last minute will have to buy a step ladder. Some Florida palms have arrived to take the place of Christmas trees. They are not, of course, what they were when clipped from the warm soil of their habitat in Florida, but they are enough of a novelty in Omaha to be an acceptable addition to the Christmas greens. The needle pine, which resembles a green hedgehog, pulled through a wire-making machine, is another bit of Florida foliage which will add cheer to the holiday decorations. There is also magnolia and evergreen and wreaths made of holly and evergreen, trimmed with holly and immortal flowers. Some of the wreaths have been beautified by a bath in the dye tank. Ipper bowers from California are delicate and bright green with shiny little berries. The mistletoe is present in large amounts and of excellent quality. Some of the branches weigh from seven or eight pounds. The commission houses are very busy in supplying orders to the state, the smaller towns of which look to this center almost exclusively for their green goods.
