Under the Will Which is Sustained, One Son, Joseph Miles, is Practi- cally the Sole Beneficiary of His Pather. FALLS CITY, Neb. Dec. 22-(Special Telegram.)-Judge Thompson of Grand Island, who is holding district court in place of Judge Stull; has handed down a decision in the famous Miles will case, which has been hanging fire for a long time. The decision is fayorable to the defendant, Joseph H. Miles, who under the first will was practically the sole bene- ficiary of fils father, the late Stephen B. Miles, who laft a fortune estimated at $1,000,000. The in- crease does not affect those who are both operators and station agents but only those classed as operators and was not generally known until the December pay was received. Nearly all the operators on the Northwestern were nonunion men until last spring when an organization of the Order of Railroad Telegraph Operators was perfected, including practically all the operators and most of the dispatchers. A little later the dispatchers withdrew as they were considered as ranking with offi- cers instead of employes of the company. The increase in pay is due to the work of this organization.
