

PEACE AMONG THE BOWLERS

New York Decides to Enter Teams at Cleveland Tournament. EAST AND WEST BURY THE HATCHET

New York bowlers have decided to enter the national championship tournament to be held at Cleveland in February. This is regarded as the first step toward a reconciliation between the eastern and western men, and in all probability the Cleveland carnival will be something of a love feast.

heard about "where the Burmeister (or something else) flows." All of which will be a matter of some interest to local bowlers, especially in view of the fact that none of them contemplate visiting the Cleveland tournament.

BASKET BALL SCHEDULE LAGS

Omaha Teams Unable to Secure Games Enough to Make Up Season. A game of basket ball between the Omaha Young Men's Christian association and the Sioux City Giants has been scheduled for January 8.

The Omaha Young Men's Christian association basket ball team is composed of first-class timber it is evidenced by the fact that it defeated the fast Haskell Indian bunch last year, and has done the same thing to other basket ball teams.

And while the practice has been consistent and somewhat satisfactory, yet the adequate number of games to make up the season's schedule is lacking. This is due to a general apathy on the part of the outside teams, and to the fact that none of them are disposed to do what is termed the right thing.

Every one who has had anything to do with athletics knows that the foot ball and other classes of sport book their games in advance, some of the money for the players, a difference of a month or so cannot surely make much difference to the people who are running the basket ball teams.

On New Year's day the customary large and appreciative audience greeted the Young Men's Christian association boys and their friends and made them feel that not only was the institution of which they are members appreciated, but that they were personally appreciated.

HIGH SCHOOL AND VARSITY

Another Row Over Athletics Breaks Out, This Time on Scholarship Qualifications. If it isn't one thing it's another. And this time it is a war of words between the universities and the high schools, the claim having been made by those who are responsible for the high schools that many of the leading athletes who are in the universities could not make the high school requirements and that they could not pass the required grade.

The steps leading up to the charge have been numerous, but have taken a certain well defined course. The charge was made some time since that the universities and their agents in various parts of the west visiting the leading high school athletes with the end in view of enlisting these athletes in the university in whom they were interested. It was also shown that in many instances these agents or drummers were signally successful.

To relieve the situation the high school authorities deemed some kind of action a necessity and seems to have found it in the recent charges to the effect that the university athletes are not much when it comes to answers for. First, there is the charge of brutality and other things of a similar nature. But the university authorities claim that it is in their province not so much to deal with this phase of the question as with that of eligibility for scholarship and university standing.

In the first place it is a well known fact that foot ball has a good many things to answer for. First, there is the charge of brutality and other things of a similar nature. But the university authorities claim that it is in their province not so much to deal with this phase of the question as with that of eligibility for scholarship and university standing.

The high schools, in the opinion of the universities have overreached themselves. The universities resent the charge that they have entered the high schools like a thief in the night and taken away the leading athletes and the idols of the high school enthusiasts.

That would seem to be a pretty broad statement to one who has a fair knowledge of the English language. And it would serve some time to come. There isn't a warrant thorough and reliable information.

SOME WINTER GOLF GOSSIP

John S. Brady Elected President of Omaha Country Club to Succeed E. A. Cudahy. The Omaha Country club has named J. S. Brady as its president for the ensuing year.

February 11 is the date agreed upon for the annual meeting of the United States Golf association, to be held at the Waldorf Astoria in New York. It is expected that there will be a good deal of talk in regard to the nomination of Richard H. Williams of Meric county, W. K. Whitney of Boston and J. Littlejohn of the Glen View Golf club, near Chicago, has not concluded his efforts and the devotees of the royal and ancient game, especially those who belong to the big broker class in Wall street, are showing more enthusiasm over the proposition.

WHITNEY AFTER NEBRASKA

Editor of Outing Pronounces His Dread Anathema Against the Victorious Cornhuskers. Casper Whitney, the self-constituted Mentor of college athletics, having finally succeeded in renovating everything east of the Missouri river, and some of the things west, now turns his attention to Nebraska's foot ball affairs. In the January number of Outing, after arranging the several teams of the United States according to their merit as he sees it, Mr. Whitney proceeds to explain why he has omitted Nebraska from his authoritative and final record, which, in his estimation, leaves setting the value of a foot ball team and its fame or obliquity beyond dispute. Nebraska is assigned to obloquy, in the following language:

In that group of western colleges near the Missouri, Nebraska has shown most comely in foot ball skill, but least in athletic decency. This year, emulating Chicago, it played two ex-members of professional base ball teams, but in the person of the United States Golf association list of officers for the year 1904 will be surprised even to the close personal friends of the members of the nominating committee.

Miss Mabel Higgins of the Midlothian Club of Chicago, who is competing in the championship is spending the winter in Georgia this time, instead of California. She is regarded as one of the most to be feared of the women who will represent Chicago in the tournaments of the year 1904.

"Pop" Tweedie, the veteran Chicago golfer, had been arranged for Christmas with the professional Christian, who was undoubtedly absent, whereas Tweedie was somewhat cast down. He said a good many things, and among them was the following: "The dyed-in-the-wool golfer enthusiast doesn't care about a little snow or zero weather." When a golfer goes in for a certain kind of attitude he must love the game dearly. And yet that is the kind which make the golfers.

Since the publication of the United States Golf association's year book the following clubs have been admitted to membership, the Omaha Field club and the Cedar Rapids (Iowa) Golf club.

Walter J. Travis, amateur champion, is much exercised over the constant nagging of certain magazine and newspaper writers, who doubt his amateur standing. He affects composure, however, when discussing the charges that he laid out a course for a consideration and that he asked for permission to have a certain golf club manufactured by him, "Travis club" on the market. "I'll meet any charges that may be officially brought to the national body," said Travis recently. One member of the United States Golf association's executive MISS ELLA HARRIS A Nurse Girl, Cured by Uricisol.

Miss Harris was glad to give her testimony. She suffered continually and had lost all hope of ever getting well. Six bottles of Uricisol eliminated the excess of uric acid and she is a well woman today. Read her story:

I am 33 years old and have been a nurse girl since I was 13 years old. In the last five years I have suffered with rheumatism so much that a short time ago it almost became necessary to give up working. I could scarcely lift anything. Doctors have tried to cure me, and I have tried all kinds of medicines without getting any relief, and I was pronounced incurable. My employer bought me a bottle of Uricisol, which I tried. I noticed a slight change after the first bottleful. After the third a decided improvement took place, and now after taking six bottles, I have the full use of my once almost paralyzed arms. I am now enjoying better general health, and am almost entirely well and can state positively that it has been due entirely to the use of Uricisol.
