

WE CLOSE SATURDAYS AT 6 P. M. Dec. Jan. 7, 1904.

Trading with this store is a good habit. During the first few days of our sale we sold quantities of muslin underwear. It has left us with many broken lines and sizes of gowns, drawers, corset covers and skirts. We have taken what is left of these and made a further reduction in price to sell them quickly. Remember the sizes are somewhat broken.

- WOMEN'S GOWNS: At $20, reduced from $25 and $30. At $15, reduced from $20 and $25. At $10, reduced from $15 and $20. At $5, reduced from $10 and $15. At $3, reduced from $5 and $10. At $2, reduced from $3 and $5. At $1, reduced from $2 and $3. At $0.50, reduced from $1 and $2.

tant daily paper in Nebraska and the Associated Press have representatives. The dramatic events came late in the afternoon after Attorney Batty had finished his opening address to the jury for the defense. It was just after the government had called E. T. Bushnell, an employee of the Treasury department at Washington, for the first witness. Mr. Bushnell, a tall young man, with a pompadour and carrying a big envelope mounted the stand. Before he was sworn, General Cowin demanded the attention of the court.

Cowin raises objection. "I interpose an objection to the introduction of any testimony based on the statement of Mr. Dietrich in opening his case from which it is evident that the question that will be met here is when Mr. Dietrich became senator. According to the statement of counsel, Mr. Dietrich did not take the oath of office until the second day of December, long after all these things were done. Therefore I raise the question now unfortunately though it may be, but I believe it is proper at this time to demur to the statement of the counsel in opening his case. I raise the question that Mr. Dietrich was not a member of congress under this section of the statute (183) at that time."

District Attorney Summers: "The government is ready and would like to be heard on that question."

Statement by Summers. "The position of the prosecution and what it expects to prove was testified by District Attorney Summers in a statement of the case to the jury, of which this is a synopsis."

The defendant is charged with violating a law which prohibits any member of congress who directly or indirectly takes, receives or agrees to receive any money, property or other valuable thing, or to aid in procuring any contract, office or place from the government, or any department thereof, or from any officer of the United States, or from any person whoever, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. The testimony will show that the defendant agreed to receive and received from Jacob Fisher money, property and other valuable things, and that he was guilty of the crime charged. The defendant is charged with violating a law which prohibits any member of congress who directly or indirectly takes, receives or agrees to receive any money, property or other valuable thing, or to aid in procuring any contract, office or place from the government, or any department thereof, or from any officer of the United States, or from any person whoever, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Removal of Postoffice. The evidence will show that the postoffice was moved from the Grand Army building to the Dietrich building about July 15, 1903, and that the contract between the post office and the defendant was moved to the Dietrich building. The evidence will show that the defendant was the owner of the building at that time and that he was the one who made the contract with the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who received the money from the post office and that he was the one who made the contract with the post office.

Batty Addresses the Jury. Attorney Batty for the defense then made his statement to the jury, saying in part: "Gentlemen of the jury, so that you may understand the action of the defendant in this case, I will go into a little history of the building in which the post office was located. It was a building which was owned by the defendant and which was used as a post office. The defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office."

Seeds Message to Dutton. That on receipt of the telegram from the postmaster general the defendant, Dietrich, enclosed the message in a letter to Dutton, saying that he was willing to pay for the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Contract bound the defendant. Dietrich, to pay the postoffice fixtures, the money to be paid on the date the postoffice was moved from the Grand Army building to the Dietrich building. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Candidates for Postmastership. The testimony will show that during the month of April and the early part of May, 1903, Fisher, Dietrich and Bushnell were candidates for the position of postmaster of the city of Hastings. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

ing wherein the postoffice was then located, was entirely inadequate for a government postoffice. It was a small, dark, badly ventilated, eighteen feet square room, with a ceiling of wood lath and plaster. It was a small, dark, badly ventilated, eighteen feet square room, with a ceiling of wood lath and plaster. It was a small, dark, badly ventilated, eighteen feet square room, with a ceiling of wood lath and plaster.

Dietrich Goes to Washington. It then came to the knowledge of Mr. Dietrich that he had a proposition which was being made to him by the government. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Question as to Fixtures. After he had made the proposition to them at $300 the question then came up about the fixtures. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Fisher Offers to Do It. Fisher says: "I will do that myself; it will not be put into the hands of any other person; we never could raise the money, and I will do it myself." The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Admit All This. Now, we admit that he made a contract with the Grand Army to take those fixtures, but we say he made that contract under such conditions that it was a contract which was made for the purpose of defrauding the government. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Another explanation comes when the defendant says that he was a partner in the building. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Another explanation comes when the defendant says that he was a partner in the building. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Another explanation comes when the defendant says that he was a partner in the building. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Another explanation comes when the defendant says that he was a partner in the building. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

You can't do it; you have a regular old man here, too much power, you will have to take it from me. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Van Deventer Asks Question. Judge Van Deventer said: "At a congressional election in November preceding the 11th of March, when the term begins, the order of representatives is usually filled, but the 11th of March is a pre-emptory election. Can a man become a member of congress with the office already filled?" The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Summers is Kept Busy. Summers replied in the affirmative and in answer to the question how long he continued as governor said it was for some weeks or days, to the best of his knowledge. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

We will prove in addition to that that Fisher had been paying the government right along, paid the money, mentioned or nothing to cover this additional $200, which commenced to pay that until January, 1902. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Rules It Fair Question. Judge Van Deventer then said that the question as to whether or not Dietrich was a member of congress at the time the alleged acts were committed had been fairly raised. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Looked For This Question. It was planned that the district attorney should ask this question, and it was not until the question was asked that the defendant was able to answer it. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Personnel of Jury. Following is the jury trying Senator Dietrich's case: Phillip Potter, Omaha, in real estate and insurance; has resided in this city sixteen years. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.

Admitted by Court. The jury is in charge of Bailiff David Miller and was instructed by the court to remain together until the case is finished, not to mingle with the public and to keep its mind free of any outside influences that might bear on the case. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office. The evidence will show that the defendant was the one who made the contract with the post office and who received the money from the post office.
