

MEET TO CALL CONVENTION

Republican State Committee to Have Session in Lincoln January 20.

STARTS THE TALK OF WHAT IS TO BE DONE

Sentiment is Divided as to Whether One or Two Conventions Should Be Held and Also the Location.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Jan. 8.—(Special.)—Secretary Allen of the republican state committee this afternoon mailed out notices for a meeting of the state committee at the headquarters in the Lindell hotel January 26. The meeting will be called in the afternoon and its purpose will be to set a date for the holding of a state convention to nominate a state ticket and select delegates to the national convention. The question of whether one or two conventions will be held will of course have to be decided. This question has received some attention at the hands of the party and apparently there is still a great difference of opinion. Should two conventions be decided upon it is likely that one will be called the latter part of February or before the Kansas convention, in order to give the Roosevelt bandwagon, should this come to pass the convention to nominate a state ticket would in all probability be delayed until August. However, there are those who believe that one convention will be sufficient and the proper time to hold it is in the first days of May. At the committee meetings there probably will be considerable discussion on this question.

In the meantime the impression is general here that the headquarters will be removed to Omaha during the campaign. And there is some talk that the convention also will go to Omaha, Lincoln, however, will not give up the Roosevelt bandwagon and it may be that Omaha will have to offer good inducements to tear it away from here.

Already there is talk of a chairman for the state committee because it is the general impression that Chairman Lindsay can have if he desires it the clerkship of the supreme court. The most talked of man for Lindsay's place just at this time is Representative Burgess, member of the late legislature. Promoters have already started a campaign for him.

Paths of Reformation.

The agitation of the social evil started here some weeks ago by the Ministerial association and kept rolling by Rev. Byron Beall and Rev. Batten, who has been in Lincoln about three months, has reached that stage where a good many people of Lincoln believe that more harm has been done by the ministers than any good that they can ever accomplish in the reformation line. As a consequence of the visit of Rev. Beall to the women of the reservation and the visit of Rev. Batten to the police court, a complete directory of the location of the houses in the bad lands has been published and people who never before knew that Lincoln had a reservation have had the fact brought to their attention morning, noon and night in columns of reading matter dished up by the ministers who pretend to be trying to reform the town.

As a matter of fact, no town in the country has its reservation under better control and as free from notorious characters than has Lincoln. This has been accomplished by hard and persevering work on the part of the police department, backed by Police Judge Costrava, who casts up jail sentences instead of fines. By this means he has rid the town of those men and women who make up the police court list. It is even said there are members of the ministerial association that are sorry they began the work of reformation. One of the women whom the minister had called upon to learn of the conditions in the bad lands sent him word that it would be far better for him to reform his own church members instead of calling attention to the women of the half world, who at least, whatever else may be said of them, attend to their own business. The Rev. Beall intends to preach a sermon to the women January 24.

Delegates to Guard Convention. The military board met last night and adopted a resolution to present to Governor Mickey recommending that he appoint General Barry, Colonel Talbot of the First regiment and Colonel McDonnell of the Second regiment and one other person whom the governor saw fit, to represent the Nebraska National Guard at the interstate guard meeting to be held at Jacksonville, Fla., in January. General Culver is an ex-officio delegate.

Funeral of General Viquain.

Military funeral services will be held over the remains of General Victor Viquain at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from St. Theresa pro cathedral. In the afternoon Father Strick of Creighton university will deliver the sermon.

General Barry has charge of the military arrangements and has outlined his march and those who are to take part in the parade. This will form on Thirteenth and M streets, resting on M, and march to the home of the deceased at Seventeenth and K. In order: Band, funeral escort, Company B, Second regiment, governor's staff, U. S. Army of the Republic, officers and men of the Spanish-American war, National Guard, civic organizations. The parade will leave the house in this order: Band, funeral escort, Company B, Second regiment, clergy, bears, General Viquain's horse, with empty saddle, lead by groom; pallbearers, mourners, governor's staff, Grand Army of the Republic, soldiers of the Spanish-American war, National Guard, civic organizations. The parade will march to a point on O street, where cars will be taken for St. Theresa cemetery.

Old Resident Dies.

L. B. Treeman, aged 72 years, an old-time resident of Lincoln, died some time during the night, presumably of heart disease. He was found dead in bed this morning.

He leaves three daughters and one son. Mr. Treeman was originally from New York, and came to Lincoln about thirty-five years ago, where he has engaged at various times in the insurance and real estate business. He had been ailing for some time, though his death was unexpected.

TRIES THREATS ON STOCKMAN

Sack Placed as Directed and Man Who Comes for It Put Under Arrest.

SHELTON, Neb., Jan. 8.—(Special Telegram.)—Last Friday George Meinzer, the largest stock feeder and grower of the Meiners' bank, received a letter which had been mailed at Gibbon telling him to go on January 7 leave his home, one mile north of Shelton, at 8:30 p. m. and proceed to a point two miles northwest and leave at the root of a large tree a sack well covered with leaves and grass, the sack to have $50 in money in it. He was also to have a lantern on the front end of his buggy and to be alone and unarmed, and unless he did this on said evening he would be killed, last evening being the date set for the execution. Accordingly he went to the place designated and left the money, as requested, and parties were posted all night to watch the place, but no one came for the treasure. All day today watchers have been on the alert and about half of the afternoon had named when a man came down the road in a buggy, stopped opposite the place where the money was hidden, got out, looked all around as if to see if any one was looking and went over to the tree, dug out the sack, immediately took into the buggy and drove away. Parties watching followed and the man soon turned and went home. He was followed and on arriving at the place, William St. John was found to be the man who had gotten the sack. He was brought to town by Deputies O. H. Cromley and A. F. Bills and Deputy Sheriff Sammons, having started for Kearney, was telephoned for and returned, and has tonight left with the prisoner for Kearney, where he will be lodged in jail over night and tomorrow taken to Omaha to answer before the grand jury for sending threatening letters through the mails.

Exploding Lamp Threatens Life.

CENTER, Neb., Jan. 8.—(Special.)—What might have been a most serious fire occurred here last night. Mrs. B. N. Saunders, wife of the clerk of the district court, was coming down the stairs of her home with a lighted lamp in her hand, when she stumbled and fell, causing the lamp to explode. Her clothing and the carpets immediately ignited and she ran screaming to the barn, where her husband was at work. Mr. Saunders, hearing her screams, ran to her and with rare presence of mind threw the burning woman to the ground, smothering the fire with his own body. Neighbors soon arrived and with hand grenades

THE ILLUSTRATED BEE

DID YOU EVER NOTE THE difference between The Illustrated Bee and the so-called "magazine supplements" put out by rival newspapers? It is a comparison The Bee cheerfully invites, for an inspection of this sort invariably results in making a new and fast friend for The Illustrated Bee. It is given the best of attention each week, is always clean and bright, its contents being selected for the double purpose of affording that which is of real value to the reader as well as diversionment for a day or two. In the matter of illustrations The Bee has always led, none of its competitors ever obtaining results that equaled in any respects those attained by The Bee.

FRANK G. CARPENTER'S NEW SERIES of letters begins in the number that comes out Sunday. In this series Mr. Carpenter will give interviews with leading men of America on modern day questions. His first is with Senator M. A. Hanna on the relations of labor and capital and some phases of the trust question. Other illustrated articles in the number deal with topics of general interest. "The Tearless Children of Japan" tells of the stoic indifference to pain and disappointment and the keen appreciation of joy of the little ones of the mikado's empire; "The Pasty Days of the Right Whale" gives some account of the time when Bedford was really on the map; "The Water Link Between the East and the West" tells of the transfer of trains from New Jersey to Connecticut without running through New York; "King of Water Sports" is about skating, and is illustrated from photos made by a staff artist at Cut Off lake where Omaha folks mostly go to skate. A fine portrait of Brigadier General Theodore J. Wint, U. S. A., the new commander of the Department of the Missouri, is used for a frontispiece, and with it is a brief biographical sketch of this splendid soldier. Other interesting pictures will be found in the number.

REGULAR FEATURES OF THE PAPER

include another installment of the new serial, "The Diamond and the Clef," which promises to be one of the most absorbing serials published in The Bee in a long time; a splendid short story by Guy de Maupassant; the Illustrated Woman's Department, which tells of the funny things that happen in real life, gleanings from the field of electricity, and the usual showing of short selected miscellany, chatty comment, gossip stories, and all that has contributed in the past to the success of The Illustrated Bee. If you are not now a subscriber you should leave your order with your newsdealer today.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Jan. 8.—(Special.)—The Burlington has just purchased for its use west of the Missouri river a modern steel wrecking crane, which is said to be the latest and best specimen of mechanical art and workmanship known, for the sum of $15,000. The old wooden wrecker, which has seen much service for a number of years, had to be handled with an engine, but the improved one will move itself.

WARRANT FOR PROF. JONES

Student at Cotner University Charges Him with Crooked Financial Deal.

HUMBOLDT, Neb., Jan. 8.—(Special Telegram.)—R. C. Gable, deputy sheriff of Lancaster county, arrived in the city this afternoon and took in charge Prof. Howard H. Jones on a warrant for obtaining money under false pretenses. The complainant is Dr. Wolford, a student at the Cotner university, and the defendant will have a hearing tomorrow before Justice Riser of the capital city. Wolford claims Jones, who until a few months ago was an instructor in the Cotner university, borrowed from him the sum of $750, at the same time representing that he was possessed of a piece of property at Bethany which was worth about $3,000 and which was clear of indebtedness. Later, the lender says, he learned that there was a mortgage of $2,000 against the property in question and he asserts that had he known this at the time application for a loan was made to him he would have refused to make the loan on Jones' personal note without security. Prof. Jones was seen shortly after his arrest on the relative of the matter, although it is of course the source of considerable annoyance to be dragged around the country in his present state of health, which has been so poor that he was recently compelled to abandon his school work at the university. He says there was nothing wrong about the deal, as a simply borrowed the money from Wolford, who was a friend, and later when he was compelled to abandon his work and was consequently unable to settle the indebtedness he was subjected to frequent demands from Wolford, who threatened his arrest if he failed to do so. Prof. Jones is about 40 years old, single, and was a member of the bar in this section, his parents being pioneer residents of the county. The family stands high in the estimation of all the people.

ATTEMPTS TO ASSAULT GIRLS

Stranger Run Down by Neighbors and Placed in the Paphilon Jail.

PAPILLION, Neb., Jan. 8.—(Special.)—Great excitement prevails here tonight over the attempted assault of three 7-year-old girls by a stranger who gives his name as Charles Gable. The man is in jail and while no violence is anticipated, the community is greatly disturbed. About 4:30 this afternoon the three little girls, the daughters of C. H. Littlefinger and W. H. Alden, on their way home from school, were accosted by a stranger who made improper proposals to them. Frightened, they ran and screamed, and their cries attracted Messrs. Brown and Gehring, who were at work in a field nearby. The scene was witnessed by a number of men from town and soon a number of men had joined in pursuit of the culprit, who in the excitement of the moment, had fled. Finally the man was located in a cornfield and taken captive. At first he attempted to escape again, but found this impossible against such great odds. He was positively identified by the three children, but still persisted in protesting his innocence. He was landed in jail and will be given a hearing tomorrow. The fellow gave his name as Charles Gable. When asked why if he was innocent he ran, Gable said: "I could walk the whole crowd, but when I saw they had guns I decided the best thing to do would be to get away if possible."

Not Satisfied with Depot.

FREMONT, Neb., Jan. 8.—(Special.)—The new Union Pacific depot will not be opened to the public this week, as was expected. The contractors have their work finished and are ready to turn it over, but the railroad companies are not satisfied with it. General Baggett Agent Trainor of the Union Pacific was here yesterday to attend to the transfer of the baggage department of his road to the new building, but received notice from the company to do nothing until further orders. A number of officials of both roads inspected the building yesterday and it may be some time yet before it is opened. Whether the work was defective they did not say.

WILL STOP FLOCKMASTERS

Sheep Owners of Wyoming in Legal Battle Over New Trail Rules.

CONVERSE COUNTY OBJECTS TO NATRONA

Asks Court to Enjoin Animals in Districts Infected with Scabies from Going Through Uninfected Districts.

DOUGLAS, Wyo., Jan. 8.—(Special.)—Threatening to cross the Converse county line with their sheep in violation of the rules and regulations of the State Board of Sheep Commissioners, the Natrona county flockmasters will be stopped by writ of injunction. The Eastern Wyoming Wool Growers' association met yesterday and instructed its officers to swear out these writs, and this has been done. The first Natrona county flockmaster, or any other sheepowner, driving flocks into Converse county from Natrona county will be arrested and the matter will be fought out in the courts.

There is a division of opinion as to the right of the sheep owners to start laws that will prevent the trailing of sheep from one county into another, but as the statutes give the board power to enact laws to eradicate scabies and other infectious diseases, and as the quarantining of one county that is clean against another that is diseased is only one of the means of stamping out the infection, it is believed the courts will stand by the state board.

Converse County Declared Clean.

Converse county has been declared clean and Natrona county is still regarded as an infected county, consequently the Converse sheepmen are averse to admitting Natrona county flocks and run the risk of having their own sheep infected. On the other hand the Natrona county owners claim that they have winter range in Converse county and that unless they are permitted to use it there will be much suffering among their flocks.

Both sides are gathering evidence and getting ready for the legal battle that seems inevitable. In Weston county the same conditions exist as in Converse county. Weston has been declared clean and yet the flockmasters of Johnson county, which is still regarded as an infected locality, are preparing to invade the clean domain in Weston. Attorney Campin of Sheridan is representing the flockmasters of Weston county and he is preparing to make a hard fight for his clients and in support of the rulings of the State Board of Sheep Commissioners.
