TROUBLE OVER WILLOW AVENUE FRONT

Architect Finally Promises to Elaborate Entrance Facing Upon the Park as Much as Possible in Complete Drawings.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Abrary trustees yesterday afternoon the plans for the Carnegie library building were finelly approved and the architects in-structed to go ahead and complete the working drawings and specifications for the

The adoption of the plans was not reached until after a somewhat stormy debate, the entrance on Willow avenue being the main bone of contention. Whether the entrance facing Bayliss park will be anywhere as ornate or imposing as that on Pearl street remains to be seen. As the matter now stands it rests entirely with the Chicago architects and the people of Council Bluffs have no assurance that there will be any change from the plans as submitted and approved by the board yester-

When Judge Scott moved that the plans as before the board be adopted subject to such changes as the architects might desire to make in minor detail, Member Galvin, seconded by Member Bender, offered an amendment to the effect that the architects be instructed to submit plans for a and ask for the removal of any municipal low avenue before the plans for the exterior of the building be finally adopted. This concession on the part of the Chicago architects was brought about by the declaration of President Rohrer that if Mr. Miller was not prepared to plan a more elaborate entrance for the Willow avenue front he would himself employ some architect to prepare such drawings.

To keep down the cost of the building Architect Miller urged a flat roof, but the board decided that it wanted a high roof, but whether it will be of tile, slate, copper or other material was not determined and will not be, probably, until bids are received on the entire structure.

The plans as adopted yesterday show but a few minor changes in the interior arrangements.

MAYOR MORGAN FILES ANSWER Questions Right of Attorney Wadsworth to Prosecute Suit to

Oust Him,

Mayor Dell G. Morgan, through his attorneys, filed yesterday in the district court a motion to dismiss the suit brought by Attorney S. B. Wadsworth in the name of the state of Iowa to remove him from office on charges alleging maladministration, etc. Four reasons are offered for the dismissal of the suit as follows:

dismissal of the suit as follows:

That no demand has been made upon the county attorney to bring the action or to prosecute the same, as required by law.

That the action is attempted to be prosecuted by a private citizen in the name of the state without having first obtained the permission of any court or judge to prosecute the same in the name of the state.

That no bond for costs has been given to protect the state from liability thereupon.

That on the statements of the petition plaintiff has shown no right or authority to bring or maintain this action.

County Attorney Killpack, when asked

County Attorney Killpack, when asked yesterday, stated that in bringing this action Attorney Wadsworth had not consulted him and in his opinion the law did not contemplate that he should. The action brought by Wadsworth to remove Mayor Morgan from office, Mr. Killpack said, was not a quo warranto proceeding, but a suit brought under section 1,252 of the code of Iowa, which gives the right to any resident of the city to make complaint in the district court in the name of the state more elaborte and ornate entrance on Wil- or other officer on charges alleging maladministration, etc. Had, however, the suit been a quo warranto proceeding, the county attorney said, it would have been neces-Members Bender, Rohrer, Tyler and Gal- sary before Mr. Wadsworth could have vin voting for it and Members Scott, Clea- brought the action himself to have made ing against it. (From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Jan. 13 .- (Special.)-The general assembly followed up its businesslike start by today transacting some very necessary preliminary business; and this without an effort. The first bill of the session was passed in an hour in both houses. Senator Garst introduced the bill to appropriate $8,000 for the use of the capitol commission in making the necessary repairs on the capitol by reason of the fire. It was passed in both houses without a division. Both houses then passed a concurrent resolution that after the inauguration on Thursday adjournment will be taken until January 26 in order to give time for the completion of repairs in the house chamber. In the senate the resolution was first to provide for adjournment to January 20, but Both houses also passed promptly a concurrent resolution providing for a joint committee of six to go to St. Louis and see what has been done by the Iowa comssion toward arranging for an Iowa exhibit and to check up the books and make report on what has been expended and what is needed. This was at the request of the commission, through Secretary Conaway. The committee is Senators Lewis, Maytag and Lambert, and Representatives Teacheut, Skinner and Frudden. This will facilitate business greatly. There is fire smouldering yet far up in one of the small domes of the state house, but it can do no damage and has attracted no attention.

May Have Late Convention.

Members of the republican state commit tee have been in the city the last week in consultation with leading politicians with regard to the date for the holding of the republican state convention, and movement has been well started to have late convention. It is generally believed that some of the inspiration for the move ment comes from those who desire to wait until some movement develops in opposition to President Roosevelt and that at least it is desired that Iowa shall not commit itself to him before other states have made his nomination reasonably certain. It is probable the convention will be field soon after adjournment of the legislature n April.
