HILL TO BUILD A NEW LINE

JOINS BURLINGTON AND GREAT NORTHERN

Surveys for New Road, it is Said, Will Begin in Spring and Work Is to Be Pushed Rapidly.

A report has been received in Omaha to the effect that James J. Hill, to round out the Northern Securities company's properties, will build during the next year about 400 miles of railroad in Nebraska for the the Great Northern.

One line, it is said, will extend from Omaha to Yankton, S. D., and another will be built from Ericson, Neb., to Yankton. These two lines, it is figured, will furnish an easy outlet from all points on the Burlington system to the north and also will open up an extensive territory in North and South Dakota and Minnesota to Omaha

"In one way," said a railroad man, "the ception of two years, when Colonel C. S. new plans of Mr. Hill will prove a detriment to the interests of this city. The line which is planned from Ericson to Yankton will shorten the distance from a large number of Nebraska points to Minneapolis and St. Paul and will permit of Jobbers from those cities entering this state in competition with our dealers. But on the other hand, we will have an almost direct line into the heart of the Dakotas. which will open a large and rich territory, making it tributary to this city. At present it is almost impossible for our merchants to compete in this section of the ountry with Minneapolis and Sloux City jobbers. In fact, the Sloux City jobbers practically have things their own way in the southern part of South Dakota, on ac count of the poor railroad facilities from other jobbing points. This will all be changed when the Omaha-Yankton line is

> It is said the survey work will be completed as early in the spring as the weather will permit, and the construction work will follow rapidly. It is said that Mr. Hill has had the project under consideration since he gained control of the Burlington, but that work has not been begun for the reason that he has been so busily engaged in the organization of the Northern Securities company, which has met with so much opposition, that it has kept him busily engaged defending it.

The reasor given for the reduction is that stock feeding has grown so heavy in Iowa during the last few years that the supply of corn in that state is inadequate to supply the demands of the feeders, and a large number of farmers have given up their intention of feeding unless they can secure an ample supply of corn from other sources. The railroad, of course, desires to haul the fat cattle to market, but unless there is material to feed them there will be no fat cattle, so the reduction in the rates County Treasurer Fink is just now a very was decided upon in order that the supply busy and anxious man. the following to the council:

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Omaha: Gentlemen—George Francis Train, one of the first citizens of Omaha, died at the Mills hotel, New York City, Monday night, January 18, 1904.

Mr. Train was very prominently identified with the early history of our city. Many years ago, when the present Union Pacific headquarters was then the Herndon house, along in the 60s, Mr. Train made this hotel his headquarters. In 186s, in "Train Town," he erected quite a number of cottages and made other improvements which aided in giving Omaha its first start. He was an eccentric but honorable gentleman and a good citizen, and while he had not visited Omaha for a number of years, yet he always had the kindliest feelings for us teen in Second of First, eight in Second of This was a total loss of fifty-three votes, but since Bingham had sustained the loss of one vote in the First of the First, Broadwell still had the narrow margin of one vote to his credit. And then, when the Second of the Sixth was counted, Broadwell gained two more, leaving him just as a city and often expressed the same through his cousin and relative, ex-Mayor George P. Bemis.

I therefore think it but fitting and proper that your honorable body take action by appointing a committee to draft suitable resolutions to his memory and have the same placed in the records of the city council. The Real Estate exchange will send rose lutions of respect to the memory of Citizen

Train and will arrange for flowers at the funeral. A resolution to this effect was introduced by A. P. Tukoy at the meeting and the carrying out of the measure left to the president and secretary.

THE GREATEST "WOMAN'S MEDICINE"

Wine of Cardul is the only real reliable medicine for a sick woman. I tried several other medicine before I tried it wine of Cardul cured me. For four years I suffered with profuse menstruation which weakened my system and debilitated my strength until I became so weak that I was unable to work. I was in despair as I had spent a good deal of money uselessly until I tried Wine of Cardul and then I began to get better at once. My menses which had been frequent and profuse and painful soon became regular, painless and the flow natural. I therefore consider that it is all the medicine a sick woman needs it is better than all the doctors and other medicines, its cost is trifling, and it cures in a remarkably short time.

Rockel Littlesow Rachel Littleson

Wine of Cardui is a scientifically prepared medicine which does one thing and does that well. It regulates menstruation perfectly. There are no conflicting diagnoses to this treatment. The only diagnosis needed is that the menstruation is disordered and should be corrected. And following this principle Wine of Cardui has been the most successful female medicine that can be secured anywhere. In regulating the menstruction Wine of Cardul builds up and re-inforces the womanly organism. It drives out weakness and disease. With menstrual irregularities corrected, bearing down pains and quantum troubles disappear. Headaches are banished, the nerves are strengthened and the sufferer begins to feel better at once as

Miss Littleson describes. You make no mistake in advising any woman to take Wine of Cardui. It is a medicine which almost every woman needs periodically to keep her in health. You could not make a better investment than to go to your druggest today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui and take it in your home. Wine of Cardui cured Miss Littleson when every other known remedy failed. Will you try it? NINEGGARDU
