Arthur J. Brown Writes of the New Era in the Philippines.

WRITTEN FROM PERSONAL OBSERVATION

"What's the Odds" is an Original and Unique Volume of Happenings on the Race Track by Joe Uliman.

"The New Era in the Philippines," by Arthur J. Brown, which is fully illustrated, is a vigorous statement of the conditions and needs of our new possessions, written from personal observation. The writer views the situation from the standpoint of the American citizen, and the thoroughness of his work is enhanced by clearness of language and lightened with true Amerlcan humor. Some of the subjects are: "The Labor Problem in the Philippines.

"The Chinese in the Philippines," "Tray eling." "Health." "Climate." "Cost of Liv-"The Catholic Church, Its Attitude ing." Toward American Citizens, and Vice Versa," "Progress of Protestantism," "Medical Mission Work," "Public Schools," "Our Duty as a Nation," "America's Prospect the Islands." Published by Fleming H. Revell & Co.

We have just received a copy of "What's the Odds," an original and unique volume of funny, clean and true happenings at the race track, edited by Joe Ullman, no doubt one of the best known men in this line. His life, thirty years of which has been spent on a race track, has naturally been full of adventures and vicissitudes in connection with bookmaking and race horses. The book is handsomely gotten up with thirty illustrations. Published by The American News company.

"Memoirs of Madame Vigee Lebrun," translated and edited by Lionel Strachey. has been published in a substantial volume by Doubleday, Page & Co., with illustrations from the author's own paintings. This book has a double interest from the fact that the author travelled all over Europe and painted the portraits of a surprising number of royalties and distinguished people. Indeed, the whole book breathes the flavor of courts and princesses. But besides this historical value and the charmingly naive manner in which the author's personality expresses itself, the volume has also a special appeal to the art lover as the autobiography of a painter whose excellence has not been generally rcognized and about whom most people low almost nothing.

Prof. Parrott's investigation shows most conclusively, moreover, the depth, soundness, and seriousness of the great humorist's whimsical philosophy. There is a full page portrait of Mark Twain by V. An exceptionally well informed article on "Corea as the Prize of War" is contributed to the Review of Reviews for February by Hon. J. Sloat Fassett of Elmira, N. Y., wirose large business interests in the "hermit kingdom" have brought him into close touch with various phases of the far eastern situation. Among the illustrations accompanying the article are portraits of the emperor and crown prince of Corea from photographs presented to Mr. Fassett by the emperor himself.

In a delightful volume entitled "Personalia" "Sigma" presents the interesting reminiscences of English life and letters of four decades. There is a succession of rarely intimate anecdotes of famous artists, lawyers, statesmen, church dignitaries, literary men and other public figures. Many of these stories throw new light on familiar personalities. In this book the reader gets a first-hand glimpse into the homes and haunts of noted people. adoption by the council. About Cliy Reports. Mr. Lobeck was asked to enlighten the club upon the whys and wherefores of the neglect of the city furnishing published reports of the several city departments for the last six years. He said the reason was that the city had not in this period money enough to spare to warrant the publication of reports, although he favored the publication of such reports ... Mr. Rosewater was also asked to speak upon the matter of publishing annual reports of the city departments, and he said: "I am and always have been in favor of such publications. Their value is incalculable, but I have been unable to understand why for the past years they have not been published. To publish the annual reports for simply the year 1903 would have but little effect in the matter of general information. The reports of all the departments since the last publication of such reports in 1895 or 1896 should also be made, and thus we would have a continued series of reports that would be of the utmost value. George Deverell, formerly city building inspector of Omaha and now a building contractor in Seattle, Wash., has written to Building Inspector Withnell concerning an exhibit of woods and trees from the Pacific coast which is to be made at the World's fair and which it is desired to exhibit in Omaha for a month or two. It was collected and arranged by Will Hepfinger. formerly a deputy United States marshal in Judge Dundy's court, who for some time has been a resident of the northwest. The building inspector is asked to suggest a suitable store building for the show.
