GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Lord Futures More Conservative Than Chicago, Though Very Lively.

WAR TALK AND BULL INTERESTS, CAUSE

May Corn Feature of Business, but May Wheat Also Showed Considerable Activity Throughout the Day.

OMAHA, Feb. 4/1904.

The market in futures today was a repetition of the market of Wednesday. The Omaha market, however, did not advance as rapidly as the Chicago quotations, being more conservative. War talk and heavy buying by the large bull interests are the causes of the high markets. The Omaha market opened strong at or above closing quotations, and advanced without any break, the closing prices being around the top. May corn was the feature of the business, but May wheat also was active. The buying by Omaha brokers was not as heavy as Wednesday. The market has been builed up bic on May corn since Monday, and the grain men are loaded up and playing safe.

The effect of the heavy speculative buying in Chicago was seen in the opening when May wheat opened at 75%, after closing Wednesday with only 77% bid. Wheat gained to 80 and then cased off to 75% closing at 1/2 cent below the high mark, July wheat also opened up strong, one-half cent above the closing figure of Wednesday. It, however, did not advance beyond the half.

May corn began at the closing figure and OMAHA, Feb. 4/1904.

Prices on Board of Triade.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—All cereals made new high record marks today. Active buying on the apparent certainty of war was the cause. Wheat for May delivery at one time soid at $6500, a gain of $500120 over yesterday's close. May corn went up 15:00 1900, touching $6500, while May cats advanced an even cent to 6500. Closing quositions today were well in sight of the top. Provisions also were affected by the war soarce and closed strong.

Owing to the critical state of affairs in the far cast, whoat traders were keyed to a high pitch at the opening. Shorts were so energetic in their efforts to get under cover and the pit was so bare of offerings that before the initial demand was satisfied the price of May was bid up $1500 at $5000. When May reached $0500, which is a new high record mark for the crop, active profit-taking set in Large quantities of wheat were put out by commission houses and there was also some selling in July, which was credited to he leading long operator. The big buil trader, however, did no open business at any time during the day. As the session advanced the market became quieter. Prices gradually eased off under the lond of liquidation until at one time July sold under yesterday's final figure, or at 54500, a decline of 1800 from the top. May sold off to 840, with fittle demand at the decime. The market remained quiet and comparatively steady until near the close, when another sharp raily occurred. On renewed rumors of warlike moves commission houses became active buyers and shorts again started in a wild rush to cover. During the last few minutes trading was as active as the opening ones and the volume of business was exceedingly heavy. Prices at the close had practically attained the curly high altitude, final figures on May being at 5500 bu, as against an incomplete figure of 150,152 at wild of ease and shorts were seen to 100 bu, as against an incomplete figure of 150,152 at 112 at week and 3f1 a year ago.

The opening in corn was as full of excitement as was the earl to cover. Within the first few minutes of trading May sold at 55%c, but at that price the market ran into heavy offerings from holders. At the end of the first hour the excitement had almost entirely subsided and for a time the market ruled quiet. Under heavy realising sales prices gradually worked their way down until May had declined to 55c. Shortly before the close a renewed demand sprang up, which carried prices well toward the top, final figures on May heing at 55c. a net gain for the day of 160%c. Local receipts were 240 cars, none of contract grade.

Oats had the same wild experience as the other markets at the opening, prices going up sharly on general commission house buying and active covering by shorts. May opened 160%c higher at 46%445%c and within fifteen minutes had advanced to 45%c. The decided rise in the price brought out heavy liquidation, a large part of which was said to be for the account of the principal holder. Under such selling prices declined, May going back to 45%c. Another rally occurred near the end of the session. In sympathy with wheat and corn the market became active and a large part of the loss was regained. May closed %c higher at 46%,c. Local receipts were 71 cars.

Trading in provisions opened with a big buying movement similar to the conditions witnessed in the grain pits. Commission houses seemed to have pienty of orders to fill on that side of the market at first. Offerings were very light at the start, which resulted in a considerable advance in prices. Later there was heavy selling of May lard by a prominent long. With the break in grains the selling became ganeral and most of the early gain was lost. The market artified late in the day along with wheat and corn, and the close was strong. Final figures on May pork were up 75c at $15.75% after the price had ranged between $7.60 and $7.75 and closed at $7.62%.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 25 cars; corn, 125 cars; oats, 85 cars; hogs, 39.00 head.

Movement of Prices Becomes Wavering and Very Uncertain.

FAR EASTERN RUMORS DEPRESS MARKET

Highly Artificial Conditions in the Commodity Market Give Them a Feverish Tone that Challenges Caption.

NEW YOEK, Feb.—Stock market operations today were under the same constraint as for several days past and the movement of prices again became wavering and uncertain after yesterday's decided downward movement. The sharp break in the morning, while prices of cotton were sumping and the subsequent rally with cotton, pointed to a sympathy between the two movements, which leaves little doubt that the collapse in cotton is viewed with more or less apprehension in Wall street. The general apprehension that the long deferred crists in the Russo-Japanese contest was at last at hand was a factor in the stagnation in stocks here as well as in foreign stock markets. The further jump in grain and the drop in cotton are the empirical indications of a warlike outcome. But the highly artificial conditions in the commodity markets due to the excessive speculative committments give them a feverish sensibility that robs them of safety as an index of conditions.

due to the excessive speculative commitments give them a feverish sensibility that robs them of safety as an index of conditions.

The most important event of the day to the financial markets was the ten-days notice given by the secretary of the treasury of a demand for payment of 29 per cent of government deposits with national banks. This calls for about $50,00,000, payable at New York. It is highly probable, therefore, that interior government deposits at New York It is highly probable, therefore, that interior government's call. As the secretary's call says nothing of further withdrawals of deposits in contemplation, some relief was afforded from the effect caused by intimations heardyesterday that the first call was soon to be followed by another for 10 per cent more of deposits. Conjectural estimates of the effects on the money market here of the Pansama camil payments have been counted on the proportion to be drawn from the treasury as so much additional resources released to the money markets.

The realization has been growing that a larger portion than at first supposed would have to be met by withdrawal of government deposits and the quiet acceptance given by the markets to the secretary's call shows that its amount had been pretty accurately foreseen in fibancial circles. As to the effect on the money market of these withdrawals it is clearly dependent upon the skill of the bapting for the foreign stockholders of the payments. Therefine exchange already to provide for the remittance of the sums due to foreigners. War talk was responsible for the sharp recession of prices just at the close, which was therefore rather weak. Buying of United States Steel at the advance of a point, which was without explanation, was a factor in the recovery of prices in the opening depression.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,20,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—COFFEE—The market for futures opened steady at a deciline of 56715 points on the near months and of 55765 on the far futures. It took three men to engineer the call usually conducted by one and it was noon before it was completed. In the meantime the activity had continued and the market remained fairly strong at the opening figure. There was continued covering, heavy selling by importing interests, who it was said were at tempting to shake out the speculative long interests who have recently entered the market, and with cotton sensationally weak people who were long of both markets found themselves in a position where liquidation became a necessity. Shortly after midday the market steadied up about 20 points, but in the later bidding weak-ened, and on far custern advices became absolutely demoralized, with Cotton exchange interests heavy sellers. The market closed irregular, with a net decline of 806 100 points.
