do not intend to take any risk of carrying them over into another season. It's an imperative rule that each season must find every section with a new stock, and we're too wise to break that rule. There's only one way to sell-and to sell quick, and that's to put a price on garments regardless of loss or cost. If we've got to do a thing we do it, and do it quick. Don't wait until you wouldn't want these Suits and Overconts at any price.
